

FinLogic

Thursday, Sep 11, 2025

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed winners of BOM:

Welcome back to the program! Today, we are here to celebrate, to embrace what lies ahead, and to make the wisest decisions at a historic moment!

In Thursday's pre-market session, we received the most critical data—the CPI. It told us that inflation has not worsened, serving as the perfect opening act for the Fed's "grand drama of rate cuts."

At the same time, another number entered the score: jobless claims rose sharply, an unexpected note in the symphony, signaling that the labor market is softening.

Taken alone, these figures might appear contradictory, yet together, they resolve into harmony, leaving the Fed with no excuse to delay.

It declares to us: the Fed no longer has any excuse not to cut rates!

The consensus is now firmly established: markets have fully priced in a September rate cut. The question is no longer whether it will occur, but how we should think, how we should position, and how best to harness the opportunities for wealth creation that such monetary easing is certain to bring!

A once in a century rate cut: a feast of wealth. Yet before us lie two questions of even greater consequence:

First, will September bring a cut of 25 bp, or 50bp?

Second, by year-end, will we see 2 cuts, or 3?

The answers to these questions will directly shape not only the course of global financial markets over the coming months, but perhaps over the coming years.

A 25 bp cut would be a welcome surprise, but a 50 bp move would be nothing short of a market "N-bomb." And the number of cuts by year's end will determine the scale and duration of this great wave of wealth!

I can say this with conviction: we are in the midst of a once in a century rate-cutting cycle! This is far more than a routine adjustment in monetary policy, it is a century-defining event with the power to reshape the global distribution of wealth. I am thrilled to declare that "The Great Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day" has officially begun!

Already, our "currency surfing" trading signals reflect extraordinary investment fervor! This tells us that the market's instincts are sharper, more finely tuned, than many had imagined.

The logic of rate cuts is straightforward: as the cost of capital falls and liquidity overflows, money seeks higher returns. In such an environment, crypto are poised to emerge as winners.

The difference lies in who can stand firm on the first wave.

The Fed is highly likely to cut rates at least twice this year, and if the data deteriorates further, even 3 times is possible. In this context, holding cash is no longer safety; it is risk. Your cash erodes in value every day, while assets appreciate.

Thursday's data has already sent the signal: a September cut is virtually certain; the only suspense lies in its magnitude. Market fervor is already evident in the cues from our currency surfing.

Wealth is never created by waiting, it is created by action.

The Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day has already begun. It is not a story of the future—it is unfolding now. The coming weeks will be remembered in the history of the currency surfing market.

Are you ready?

Let us, with faith and determination, embrace this wave together!

Today is destined to be no ordinary day!

We have fully launched the currency surfing action plan under the banner of The Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day!

And at the same time, we now arrive at the very climax of this epic journey—the debut listing of BOM's new token!

Each of you watching is filled with excitement and anticipation, wondering: "How much return will my allotted shares bring me?"

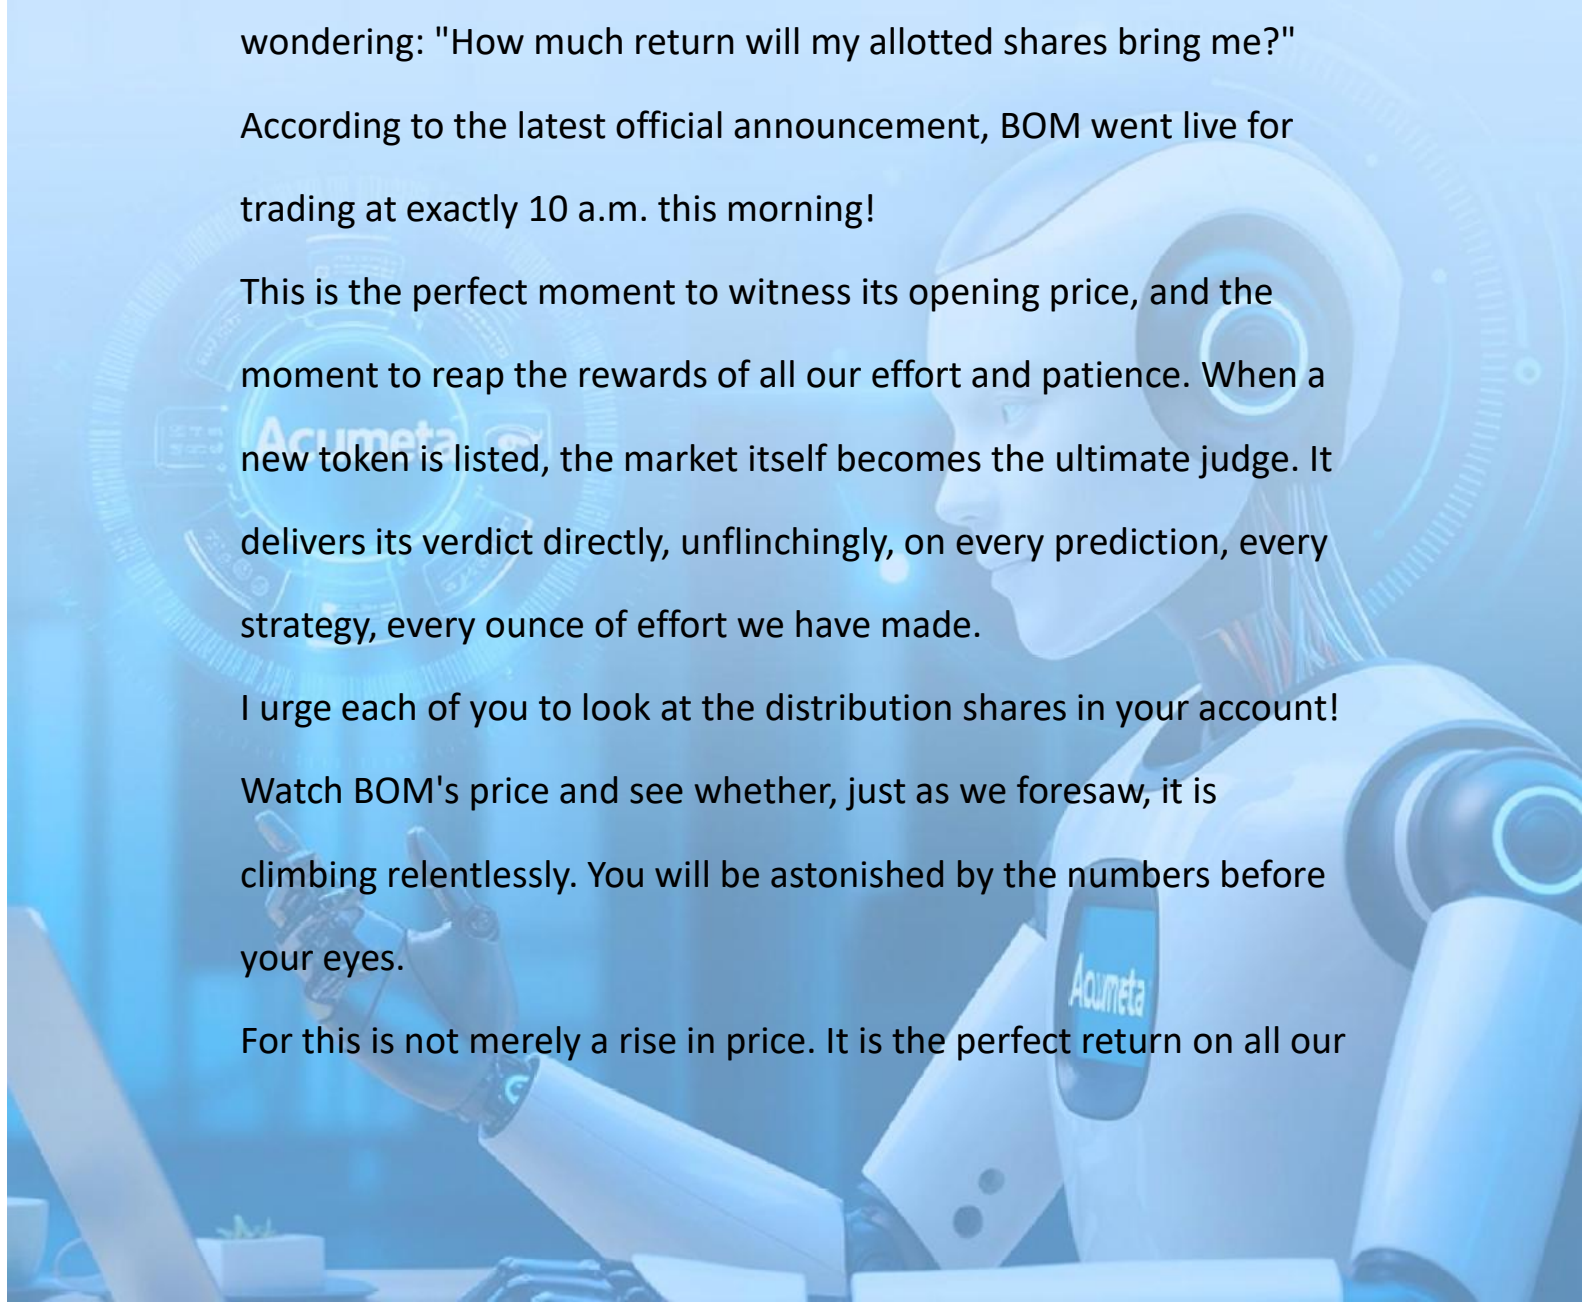

According to the latest official announcement, BOM went live for trading at exactly 10 a.m. this morning!

This is the perfect moment to witness its opening price, and the moment to reap the rewards of all our effort and patience. When a new token is listed, the market itself becomes the ultimate judge. It delivers its verdict directly, unflinchingly, on every prediction, every strategy, every ounce of effort we have made.

I urge each of you to look at the distribution shares in your account!

Watch BOM's price and see whether, just as we foresaw, it is climbing relentlessly. You will be astonished by the numbers before your eyes.

For this is not merely a rise in price. It is the perfect return on all our efforts—and on all the trust we have placed in this journey!

Now comes the more important question: with BOM, where will you lock in your profits?

We will not remain fixated on today's market moves, nor will we chase blindly. Instead, our strategy is simple, after the listing, we take profits swiftly and secure the gains we have long awaited!

Locking in profit: that is the true victory! Why do we place such emphasis on "locking in profit"? Because the core purpose of subscribing to a new token is to capture the full, safe-stage profit—from the subscription cost to the first-day listing price.

Once BOM enters the secondary market, trading volatility will become extreme, to rush back in at that stage risks not only losing momentum but eroding the profits already secured.

That is why profit-locking is the first step!

The second step is to transfer all of your gains into your currency surfing (contracts) account. Thursday will present a golden opportunity for currency surfing—a true market feast. And today, together, we can witness profit expectations surpassing 200%!

The listing of BOM is the moment of realization;

This is not retreat, but wisdom. Like hunting: a true hunter does not grow greedy when the prey appears within reach, but calmly takes aim, strikes with precision, and seizes victory in that instant.

Today's BOM reflects the fruit of our past efforts, the return on our action.

But it is not the end, it is a new beginning.

Locking in profit does not mean "it is over." It means: for the next move, you hold greater capital, stronger chips in hand.

Let us not forget, we stand against the backdrop of [The Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day]

Expectations of Fed rate cuts are driving capital to flood into the markets.

Currency surfing, STO new coin subscriptions—these are among the direct beneficiaries of this easing wave.

And at this very moment, we are once again tasting in currency surfing the unprecedented thrill of profit, an extraordinary fortune indeed!

Even though I have already shared 5 consecutive currency surfing trading signals and results publicly within the community—each of them delivering satisfying returns!

Thursday is destined to become a milestone on our map of wealth!

But how do we achieve superior results in this great wave of opportunity? This is not only about seizing chances—it is about strategy!

First, and most importantly, we must avoid the mindset of "risking a little to win a lot."

I can say with certainty, this is the mistake most easily made by beginners, and even by some seasoned investors! They imagine that with just a small stake they can chase extraordinary returns. They see the market's sharp rises and falls and convince themselves they can turn a few thousand dollars into millions in profit.

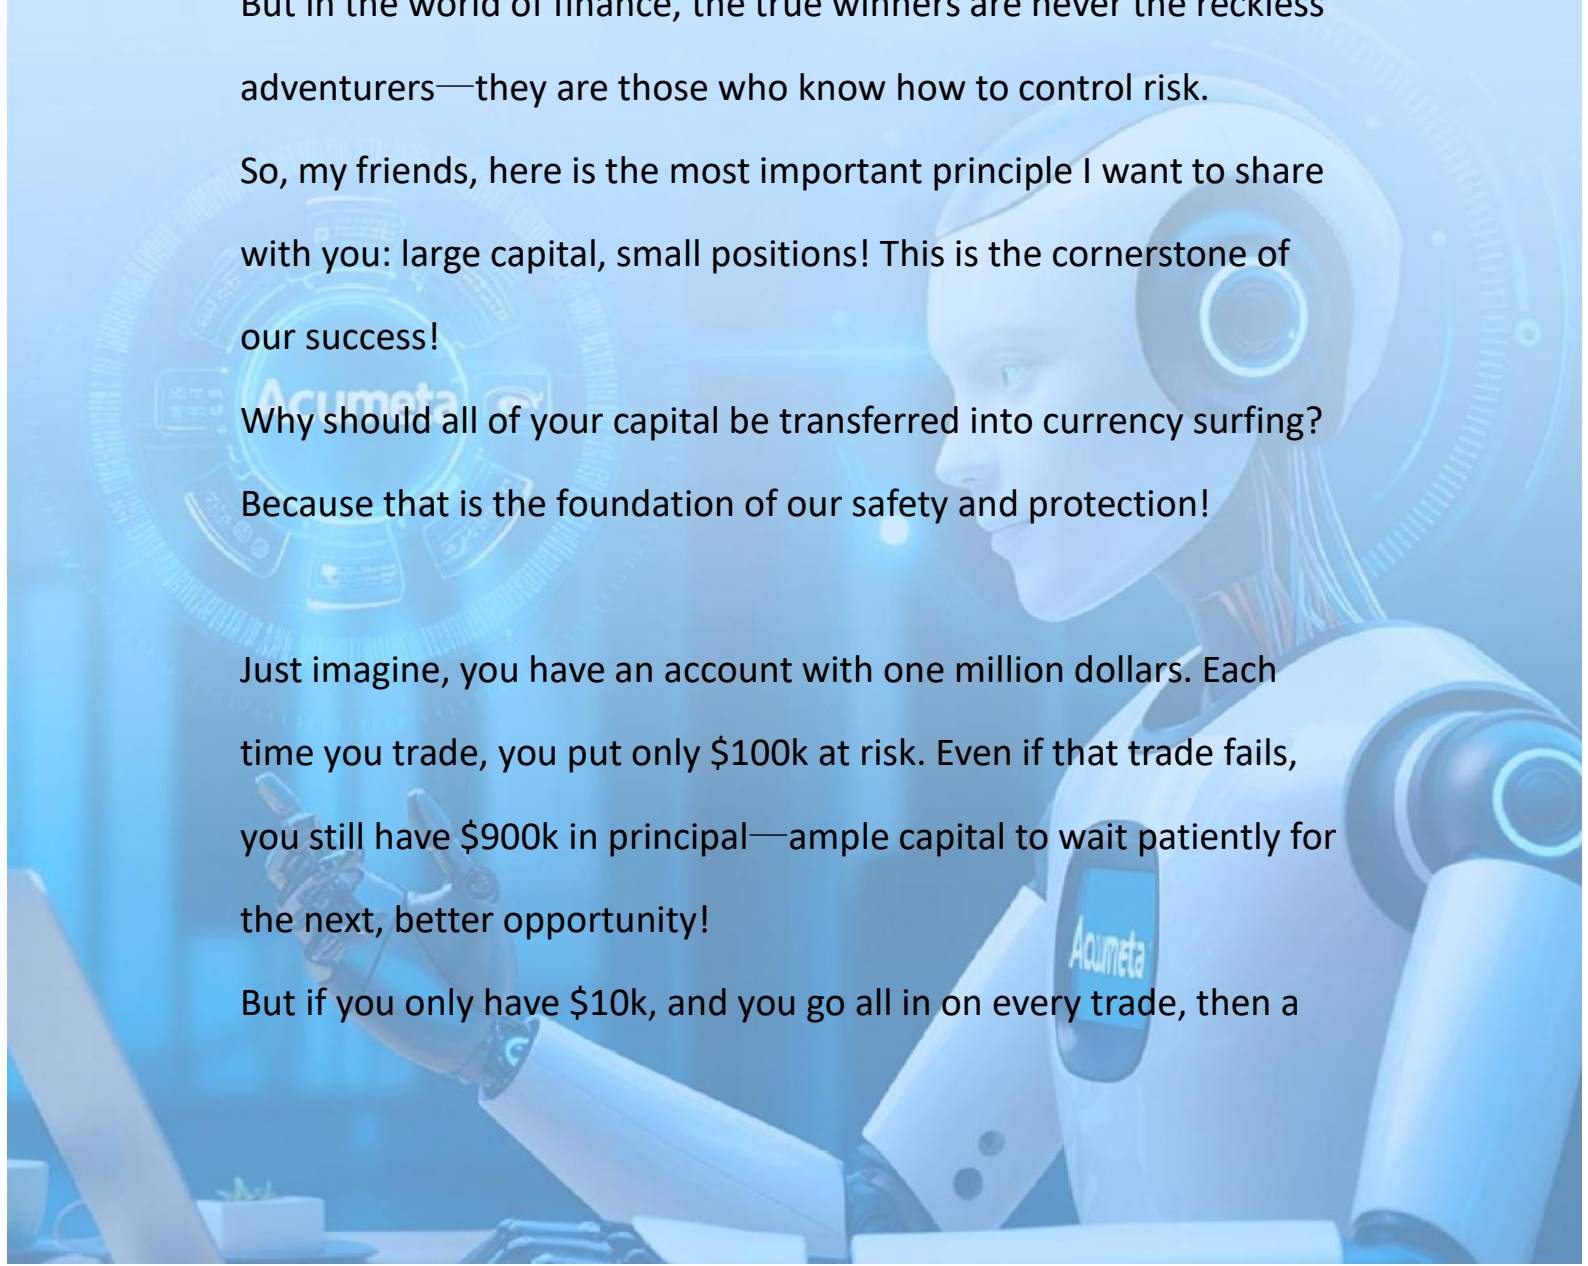

But in the world of finance, the true winners are never the reckless adventurers—they are those who know how to control risk.

So, my friends, here is the most important principle I want to share with you: large capital, small positions! This is the cornerstone of our success!

Why should all of your capital be transferred into currency surfing? Because that is the foundation of our safety and protection!

Just imagine, you have an account with one million dollars. Each time you trade, you put only $100k at risk. Even if that trade fails, you still have $900k in principal—ample capital to wait patiently for the next, better opportunity!

But if you only have $10k, and you go all in on every trade, then a single failure means game over.

That is the essence of large capital, small positions. It gives you a buffer, a solid fortress that allows you to withstand major market swings. Your capital is your moat!

When the market fluctuates sharply, our emotions are greatly affected. We become greedy, and we become fearful.

We make irrational choices, and sometimes mistakes we cannot undo.

And large capital, small positions is the best weapon we have against human nature itself!

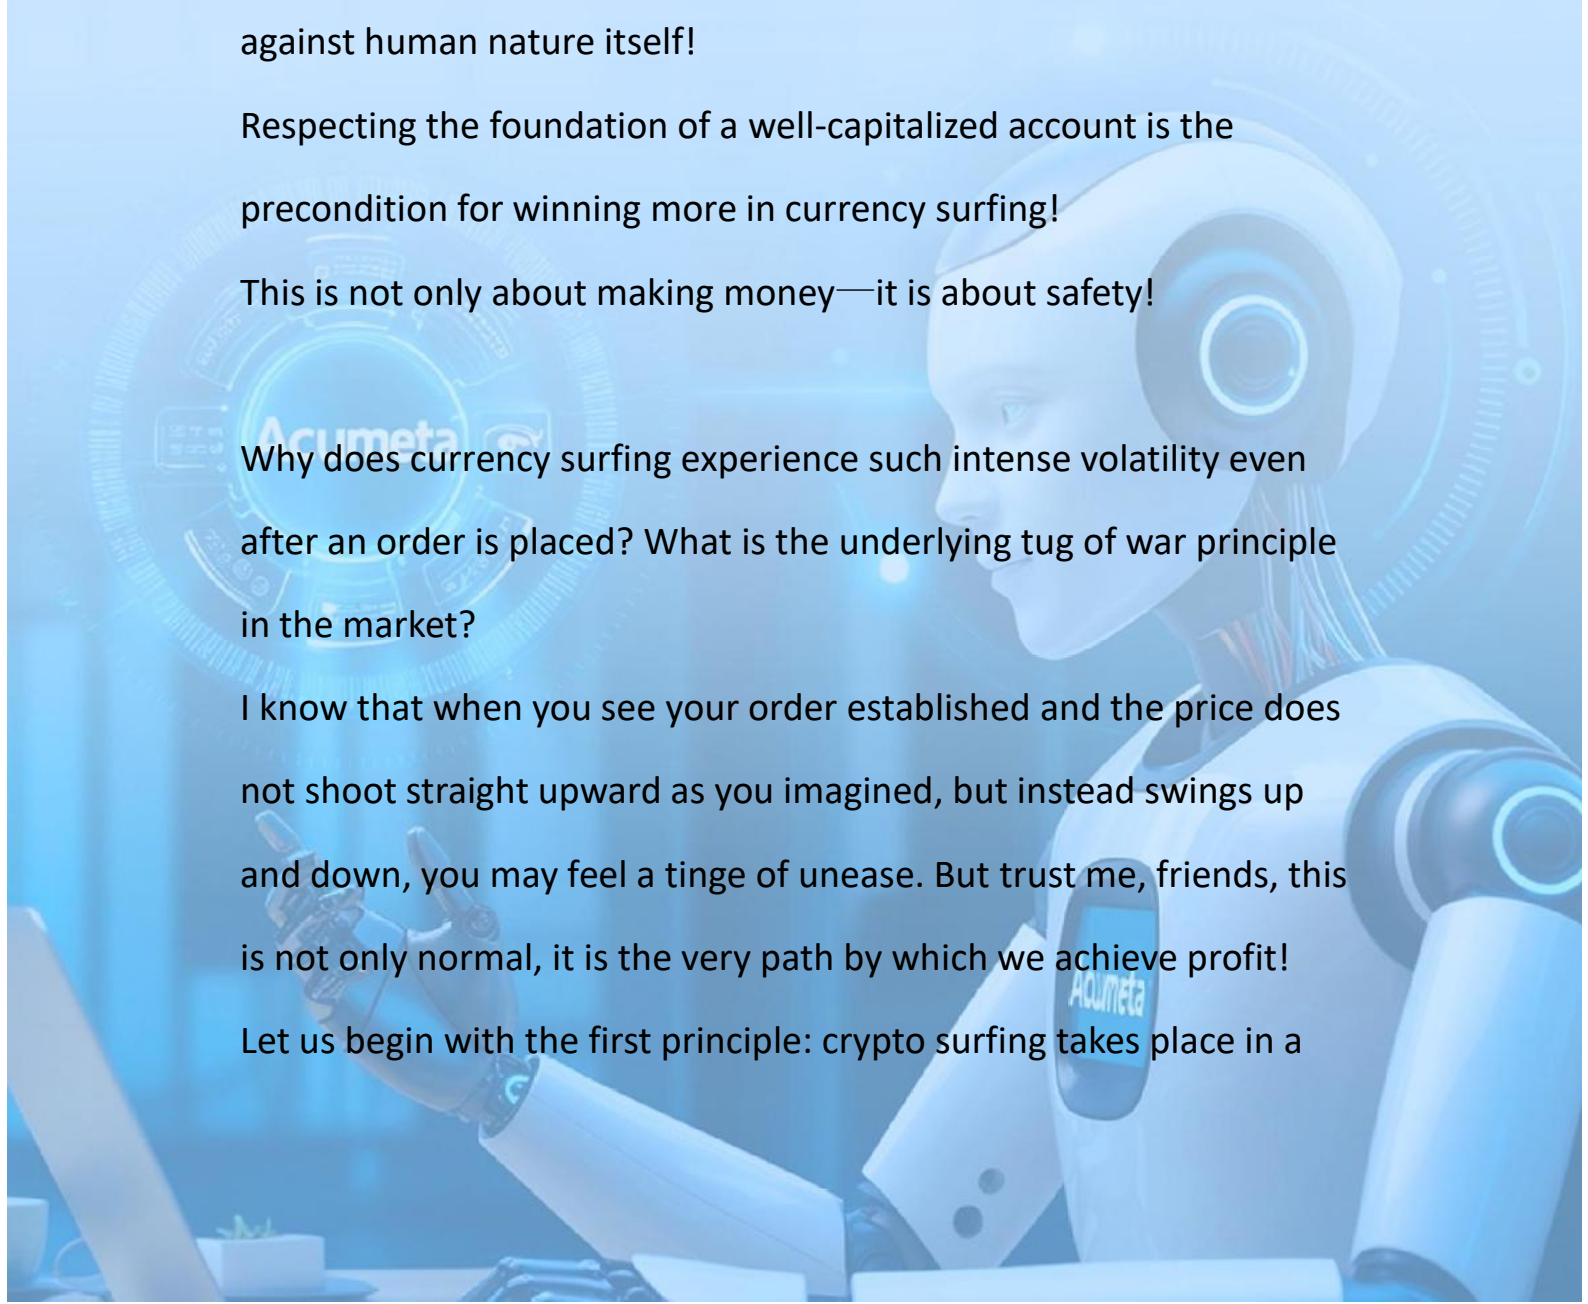

Respecting the foundation of a well-capitalized account is the precondition for winning more in currency surfing!

This is not only about making money—it is about safety!

Why does currency surfing experience such intense volatility even after an order is placed? What is the underlying tug of war principle in the market?

I know that when you see your order established and the price does not shoot straight upward as you imagined, but instead swings up and down, you may feel a tinge of unease. But trust me, friends, this is not only normal, it is the very path by which we achieve profit!

Let us begin with the first principle: crypto surfing takes place in a market open to participants worldwide.

What does this mean? It means that when you trade, you are not only facing your community peers, you are facing players from every corner of the globe. They come from different backgrounds, with different cultures, investment philosophies, and trading strategies.

When you open a long position, you might encounter a player in Japan opening a short. When you hope for prices to rise, you may be up against a European institutional investor betting on the market's decline.

It is, in effect, a global "battle royal"—each player acting from their own convictions, emotions, and strategies.

We must understand that currency surfing is not only about technical charts, it is about the randomness of millions of players around the world.

In the crypto market, there is no absolute right or wrong, only probabilities. Our success does not come from defeating everyone, but from having Acumeta as a powerful tool. It helps us find the most favorable signals in the most chaotic markets, thereby increasing our probability of success.

Because currency surfing contract trading has no restrictions, players can choose to close positions and re-open them at any time —whether on a 1 minute, 15 minute, or 1 hour horizon.

One player may decide to close a position after earning enough.

Another may open a short if they believe the price is too high. A third may go long if they believe the price is too low.

All of these trading actions are like waves, one after another, together forming the volatility we see!

Volatility is the norm, each by their own skill, each by their own results. In currency surfing, volatility is normal—intense volatility simply means trading activity is high, and with it comes immense opportunities for arbitrage and profit.

Do not fear volatility, and do not complain about it. Embrace it, master it, and enjoy it!

Will there be a unified standard for the currency surfing instruments on XXX/USDC that Acumeta identifies in its signals?

The core principle is clear: activity is the only true standard!

Because in a rapidly changing financial market, a single uniform standard is synonymous with mediocrity.

If Acumeta were to focus solely on one fixed contract instrument, it would miss every other opportunity. It would become rigid, lifeless! Regardless of the contract instrument, Acumeta leverages big data to evaluate and pinpoint the market's most active asset.

It is like a master hunter, he does not hunt in one place alone. He follows the weather, the migration of prey, and seeks the regions where game is most abundant and active. He knows that only there can he achieve the greatest harvest!

And Acumeta is our finest "hunter." It continuously scans the entire market, locking onto the most active instrument by analyzing trading volume, volatility, liquidity, and a host of other data indicators.

The purpose of this approach is simple, yet crucial! It enables us to participate swiftly in trades and to lock in profits efficiently!

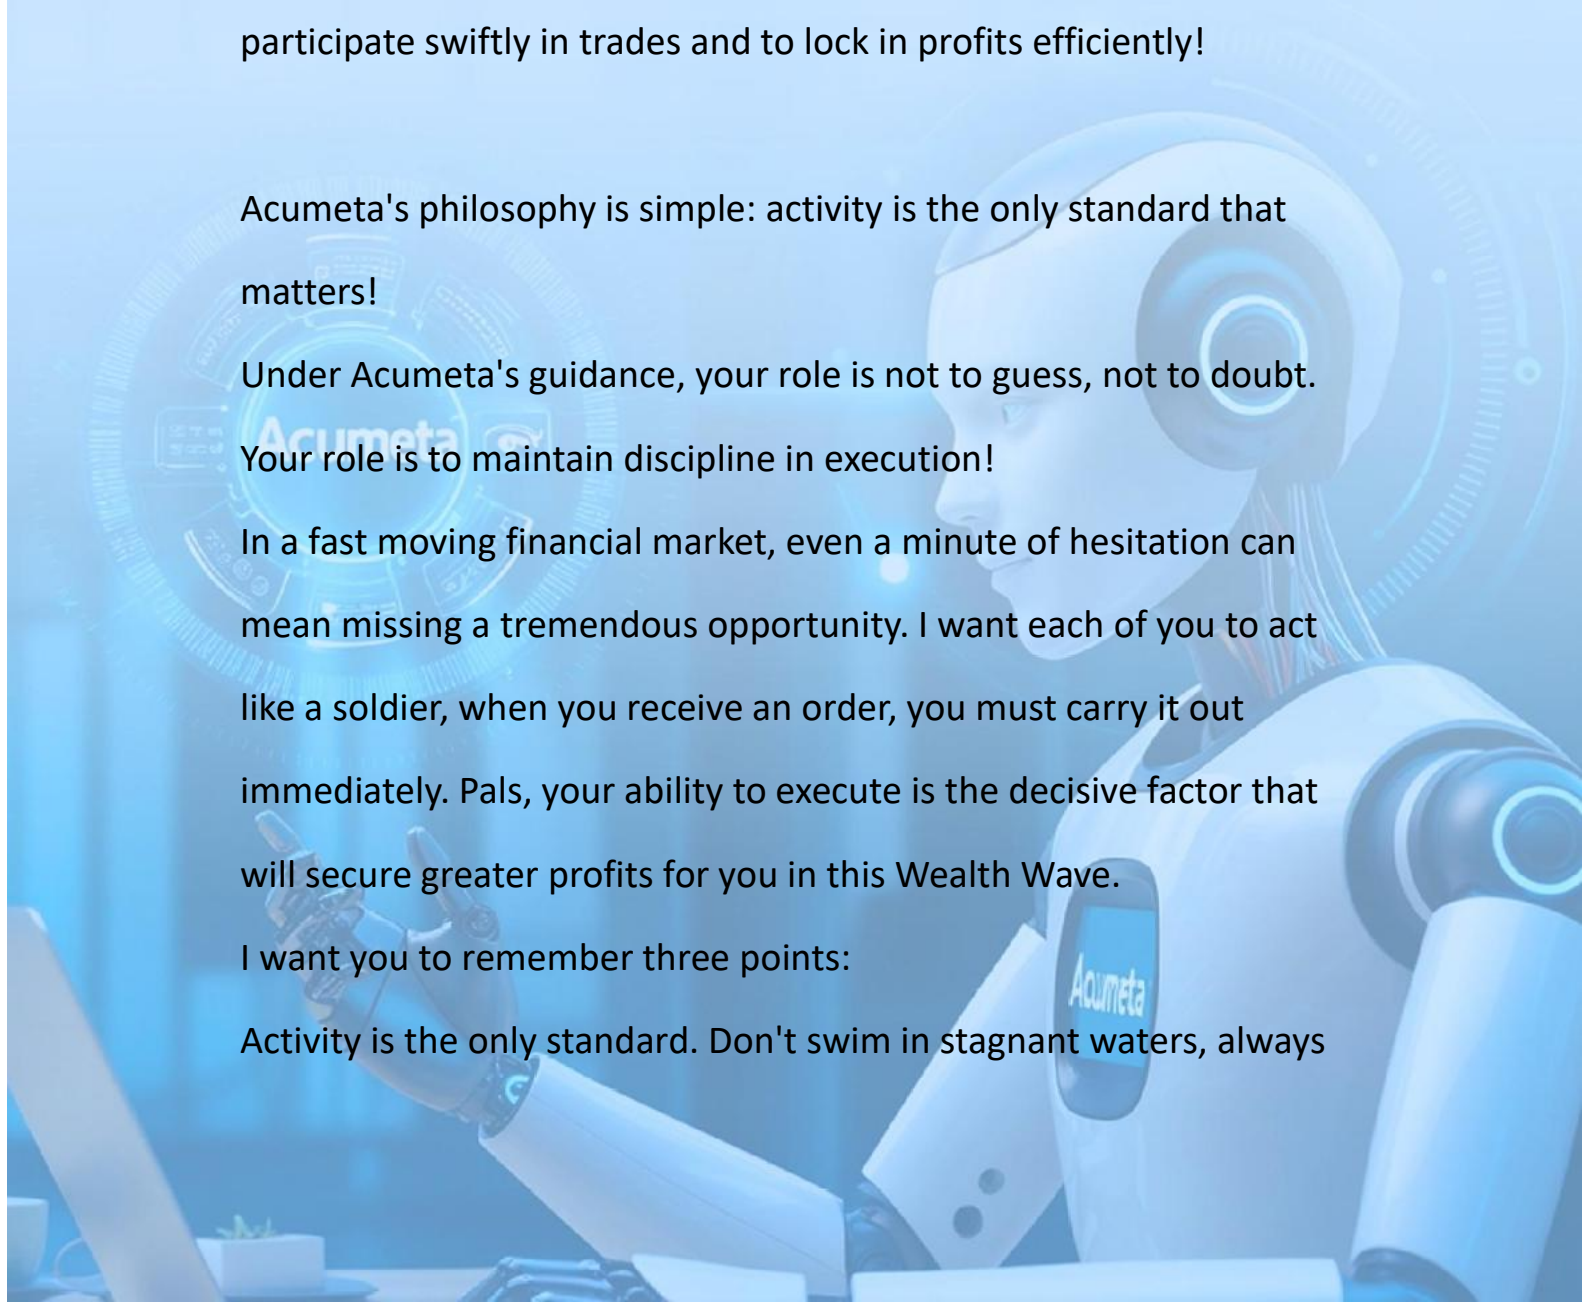

Acumeta's philosophy is simple: activity is the only standard that matters!

Under Acumeta's guidance, your role is not to guess, not to doubt. Your role is to maintain discipline in execution!

In a fast moving financial market, even a minute of hesitation can mean missing a tremendous opportunity. I want each of you to act like a soldier, when you receive an order, you must carry it out immediately. Pals, your ability to execute is the decisive factor that will secure greater profits for you in this Wealth Wave.

I want you to remember three points:

Activity is the only standard. Don't swim in stagnant waters, always surf where the action is strongest.

Big data is smarter than the human brain. Don't idolize experience, don't cling to intuition; every signal reflects tens of thousands of data calculations.

Execution is your only trump card. Don't hesitate, don't doubt—the key to standing undefeated in the Wealth Wave is to act the moment the signal comes.

Today, your task is not to wait for the market to decide your fate.

Your task is to become the one who executes the fastest

Today, we do not dwell on past glories, we speak only of the journey ahead!

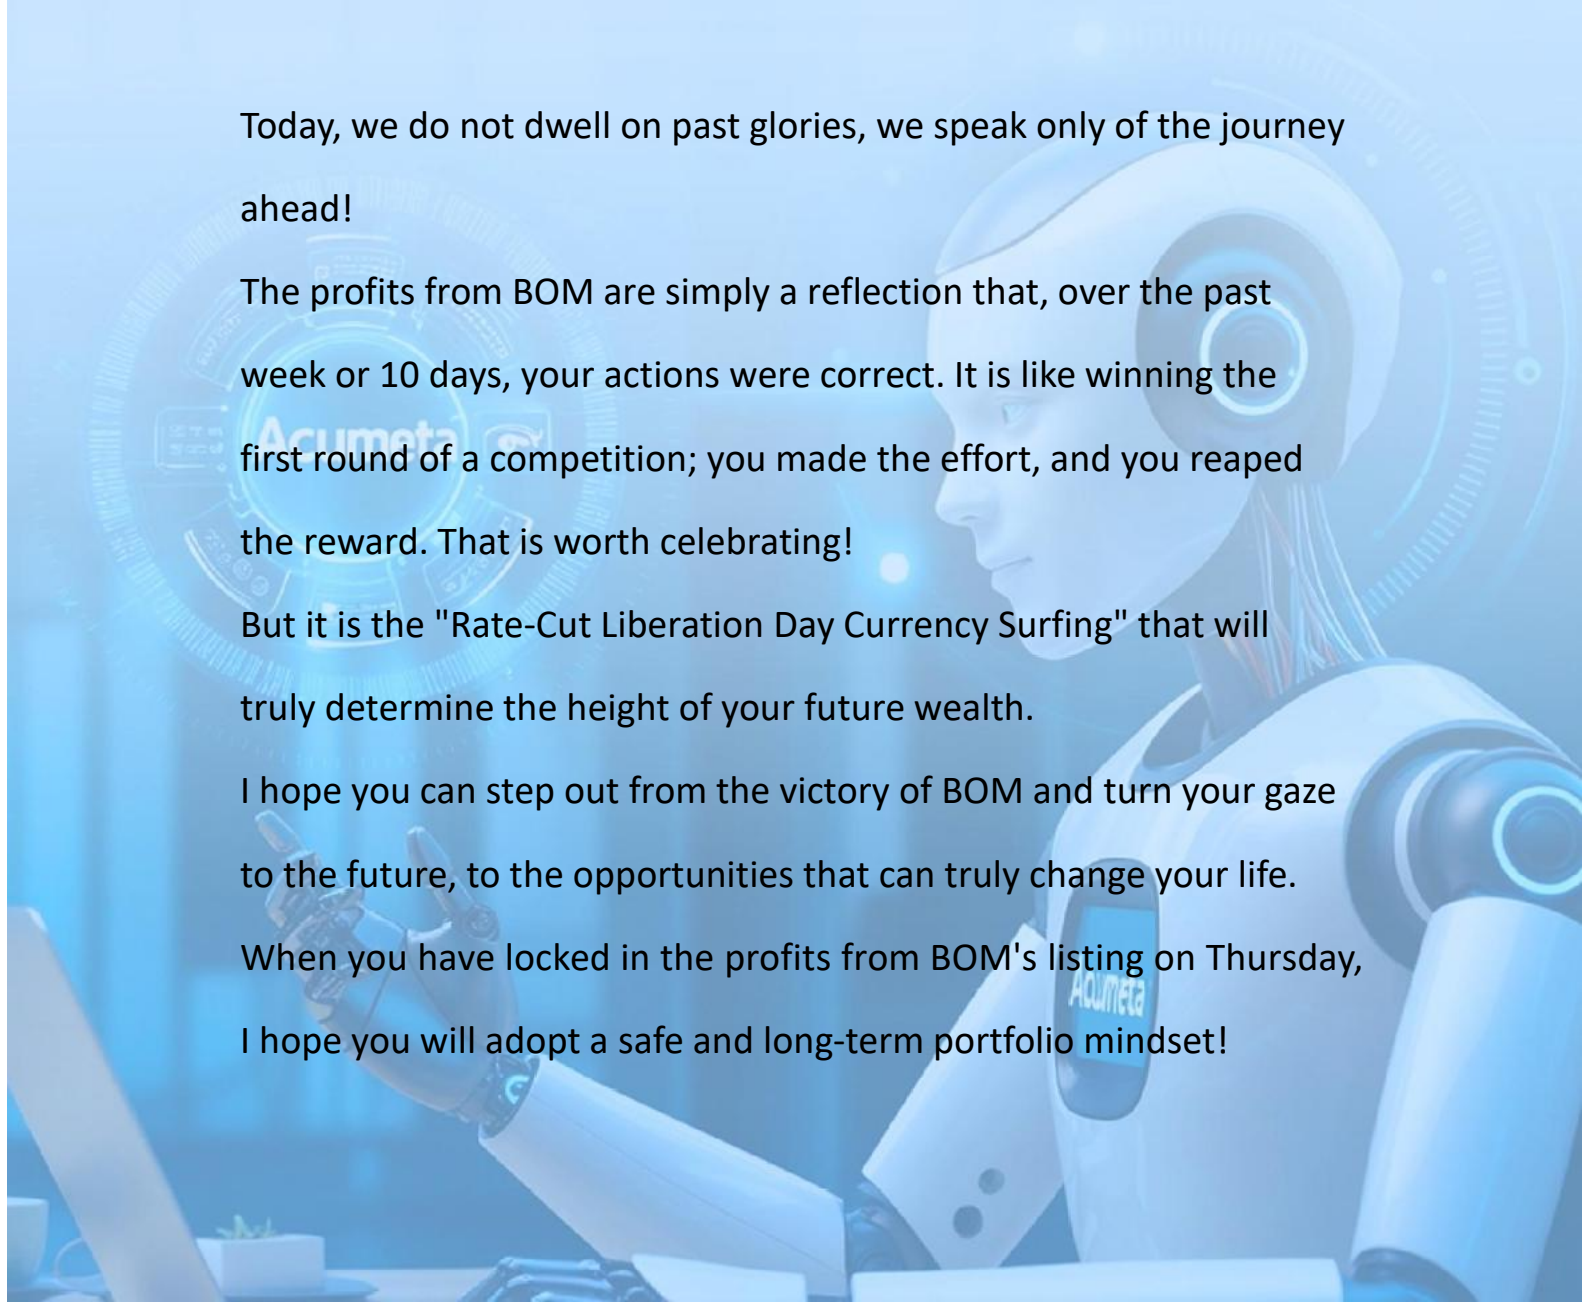

The profits from BOM are simply a reflection that, over the past week or 10 days, your actions were correct. It is like winning the first round of a competition; you made the effort, and you reaped the reward. That is worth celebrating!

But it is the "Rate-Cut Liberation Day Currency Surfing" that will truly determine the height of your future wealth.

I hope you can step out from the victory of BOM and turn your gaze to the future, to the opportunities that can truly change your life.

When you have locked in the profits from BOM's listing on Thursday,

I hope you will adopt a safe and long-term portfolio mindset!

Allocate a small portion of your funds to financial products, because there you will find secure, guaranteed returns! Think of it as your "wealth insurance"—a safeguard that ensures your capital continues to grow and remains protected in any market environment!

As for the greater part of your funds, you should channel them into currency surfing, where you can continue to sustain steady profit growth!

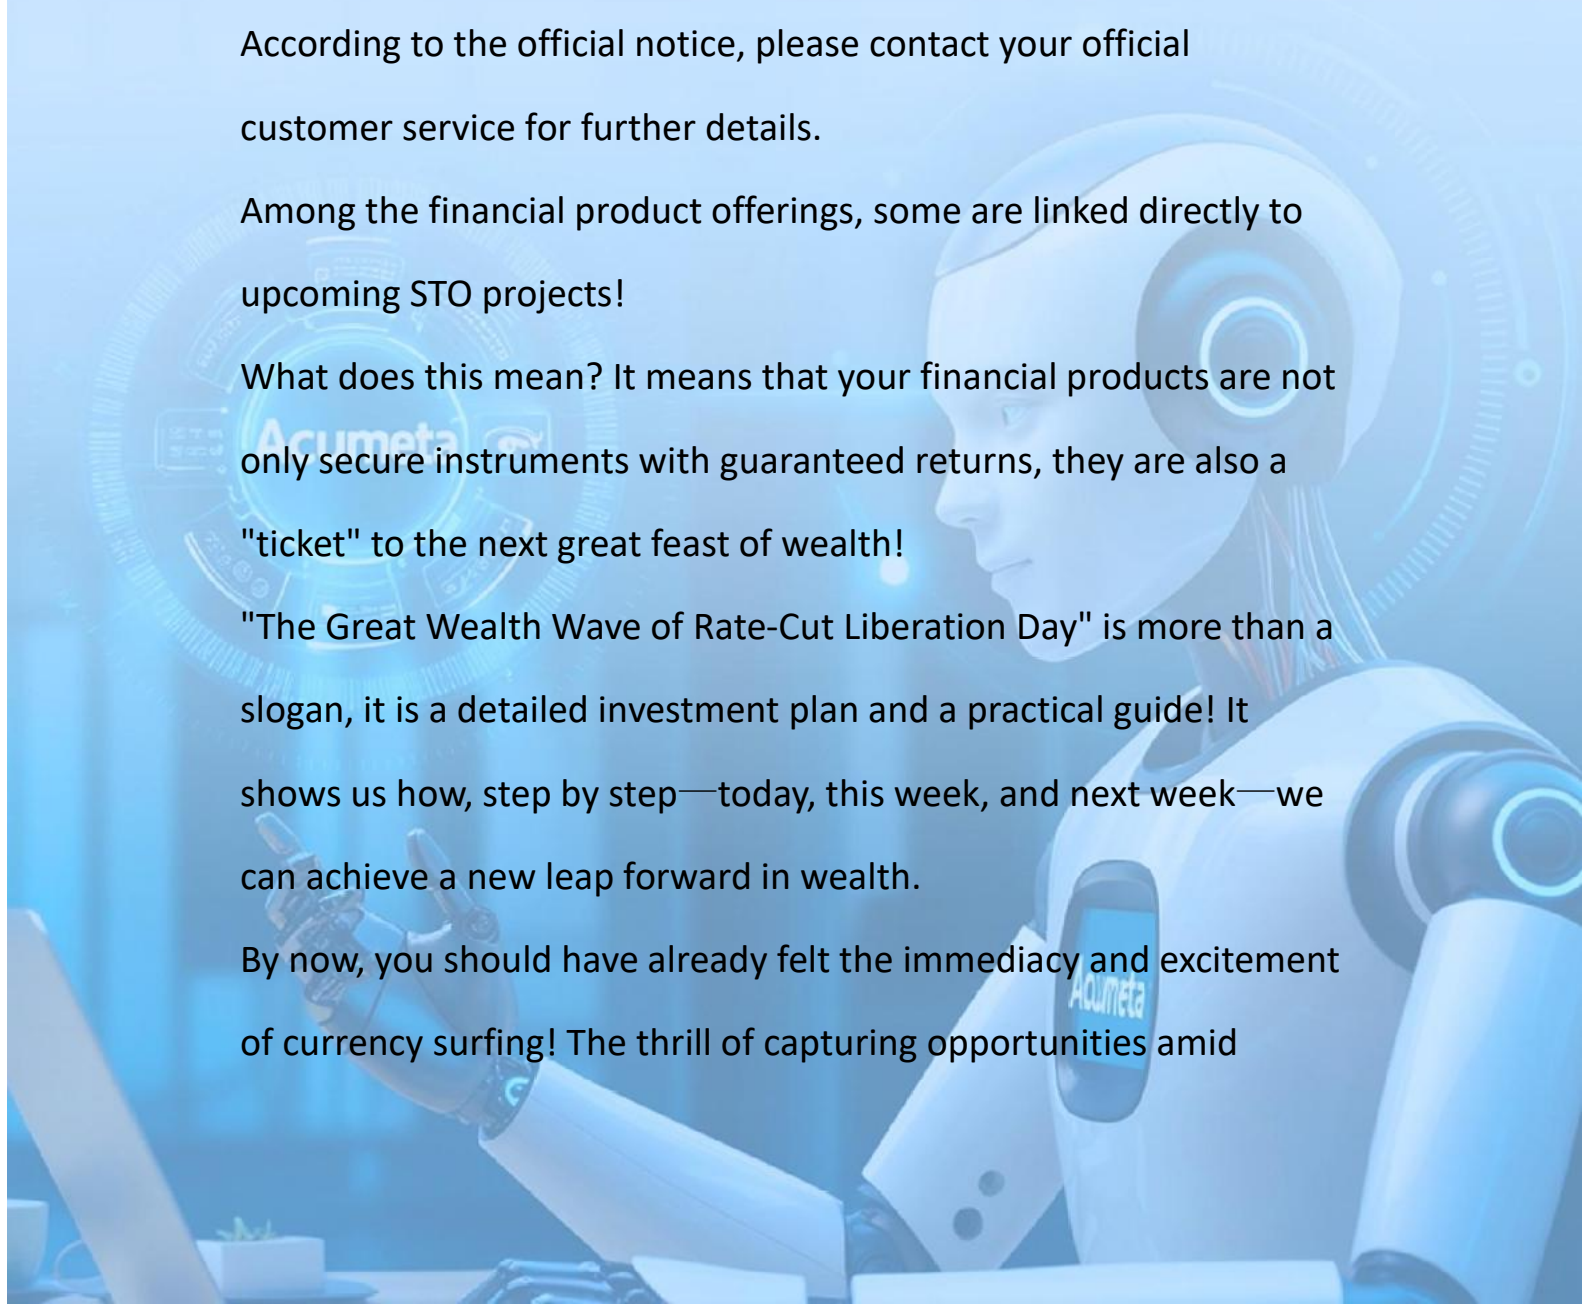

According to the official notice, please contact your official customer service for further details.

Among the financial product offerings, some are linked directly to upcoming STO projects!

What does this mean? It means that your financial products are not only secure instruments with guaranteed returns, they are also a "ticket" to the next great feast of wealth!

"The Great Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day" is more than a slogan, it is a detailed investment plan and a practical guide! It shows us how, step by step—today, this week, and next week—we can achieve a new leap forward in wealth.

By now, you should have already felt the immediacy and excitement of currency surfing! The thrill of capturing opportunities amid market swings and locking in profits—something no other investment can compare with. This week, our exhilarating trading journey of currency surfing has only just begun. As expectations of Fed rate cuts continue to intensify, the market will become even more active, offering richer possibilities for trading and execution! Acumeta will continue monitoring market volatility, and the moment a perfect trading opportunity arises, I will notify you immediately to participate! All you need to do is keep your capital ready and maintain your discipline in execution!

I send each of you my most sincere wishes. Through our collective effort, we will ultimately accomplish this new leap in wealth! See you this afternoon!

Good afternoon, pals:

We will take a deep dive into how the Wealth Wave is carrying us toward a new leap in prosperity! We will discuss how to make use of every Acumeta signal, how to adjust our strategies in response to market shifts, and we will share more success stories so you can see for yourselves just how effective our approach is!

This is not merely a lecture, it is a baptism of wealth!

I hope you will bring your passion and your curiosity to join us for today's session!

Believe in Acumeta, believe in yourself! Our journey has only just begun!

The excitement of currency surfing has only just started!

The true power of Acumeta is only beginning to reveal itself. Wealth will not wait, it will flow only to those who are prepared, knowledgeable, and courageous.

And I hope that in your trading, you will not only see the numbers in your account grow, but also feel that quickened heartbeat of excitement, and the pride that comes from seizing opportunity.

What does the Great Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day truly mean?

It is not merely a policy adjustment, it is a signal. It is like a lighthouse, showing us where capital will flow, how the market will move, and where the opportunities for wealth will emerge.

Do you remember 2020? That year, the Fed's rate cuts ignited the fire of Bitcoin, sending it from just a few thousand dollars to tens of thousands.

That is the power of a Great Wealth Wave. And today, we once again stand at such a turning point.

You don't need to execute your entire plan all at once, nor do you need to go blindly "all in". What you must do is react quickly and execute decisively. This week, what we are practicing is not "thinking," but "doing." Every small act of execution is a step toward your leap in wealth.

Pals, we cannot rest on our past achievements. The next new coin subscription will only appear in the more distant month ahead.

This means we now have a precious "window period"—a time that allows us to prepare more fully for the next great feast of wealth.

During this time, we must dive deeply into the "Great Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day" action plan. We must examine the key points we need to keep in mind, and how we can achieve superior results in future rounds of currency surfing!

Every great victory depends on 3 elements: timing, tools, and execution.

Timing: The Fed's rate-cut cycle is the opportunity we have long awaited. It is like the ebb of the sea before a tsunami, giving us time to prepare for the arrival of the Great Wealth Wave.

Tool: Our Acumeta quantitative system is our most powerful tool. It enables us to identify the most advantageous signals even in the most chaotic of markets, thereby improving our odds of success.

Execution: You are our execution. Without your participation and decisiveness, even the best timing and the strongest tools would remain idle.

This is a shared plan to participate in the Great Wealth Wave—a path to mutual prosperity!

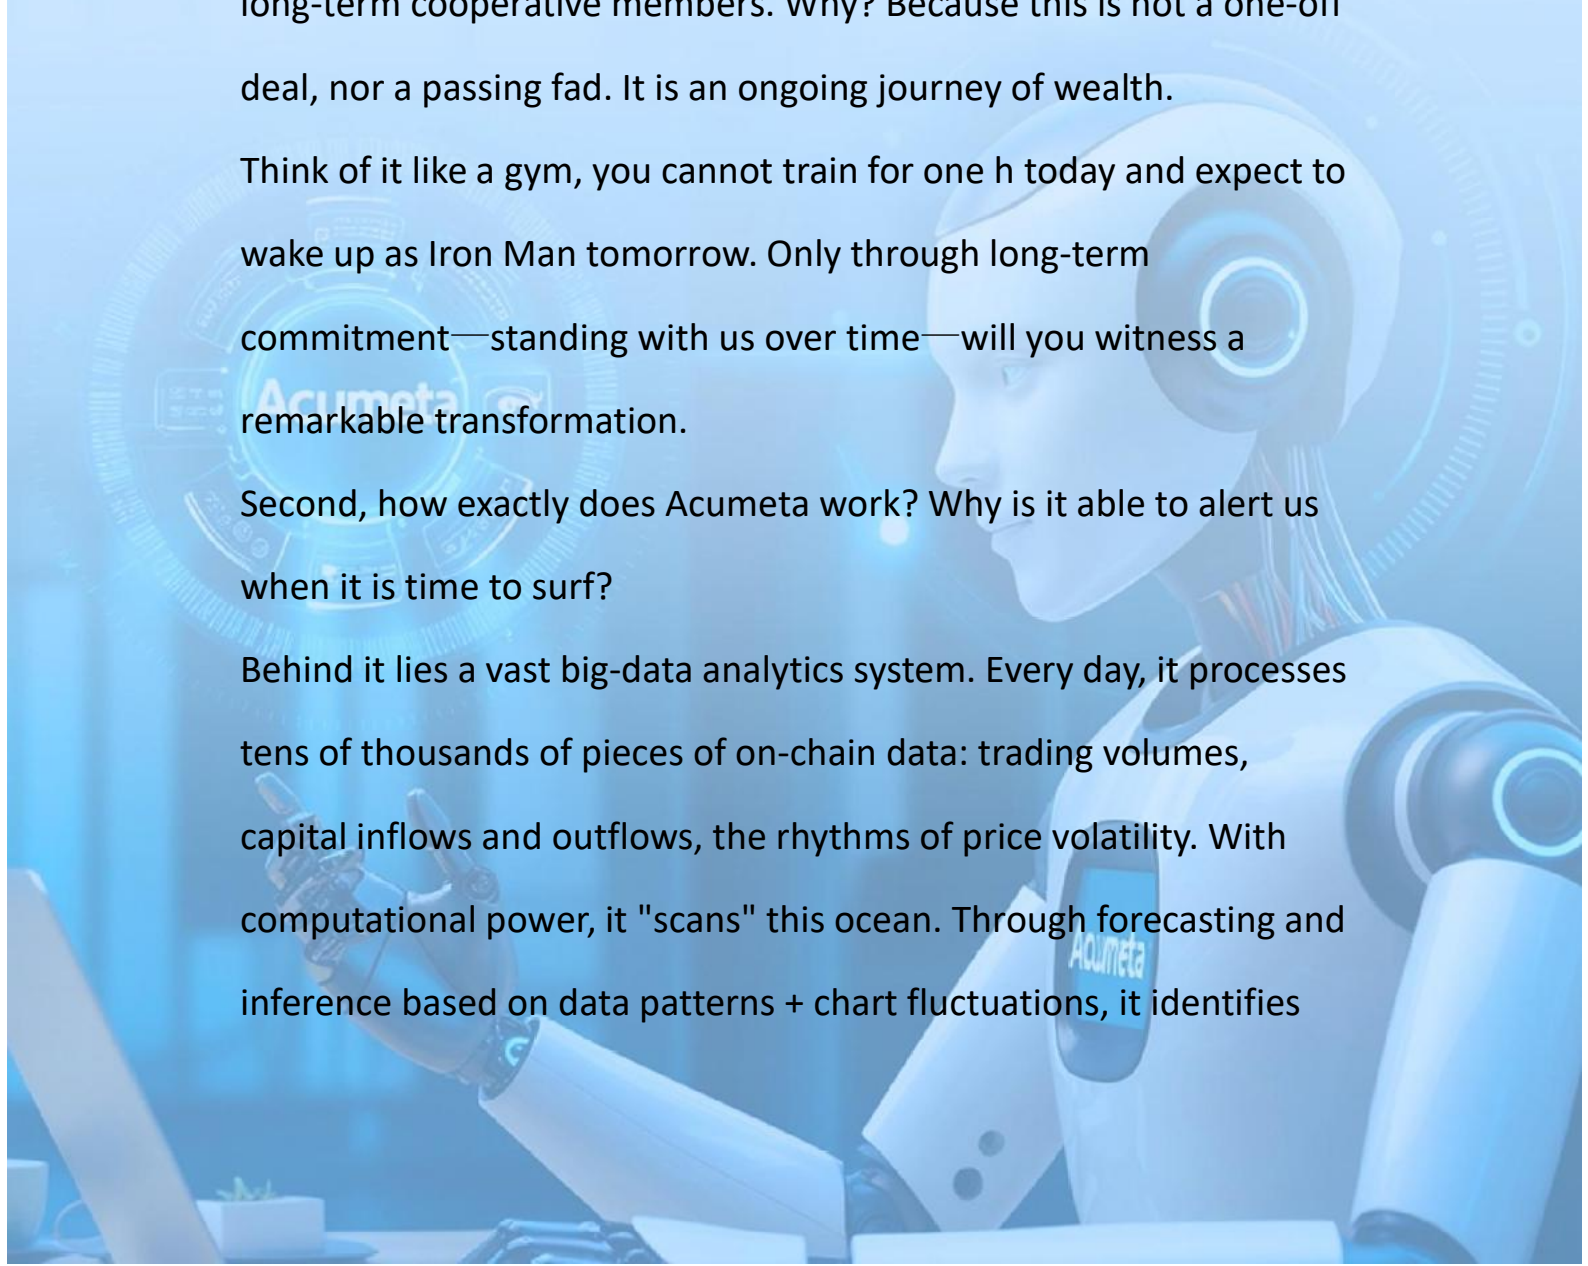

To all the new members who just joined us today in Acumeta currency surfing, let me start by welcoming you to what is, in every sense, the Great Wealth Wave of the 21st century!

First, I hope you do not see yourselves as mere "tourists"—joining today for a quick ride and leaving tomorrow. No. I hope you become long-term cooperative members. Why? Because this is not a one-off deal, nor a passing fad. It is an ongoing journey of wealth.

Think of it like a gym, you cannot train for one h today and expect to wake up as Iron Man tomorrow. Only through long-term commitment—standing with us over time—will you witness a remarkable transformation.

Second, how exactly does Acumeta work? Why is it able to alert us when it is time to surf?

Behind it lies a vast big-data analytics system. Every day, it processes tens of thousands of pieces of on-chain data: trading volumes, capital inflows and outflows, the rhythms of price volatility. With computational power, it "scans" this ocean. Through forecasting and inference based on data patterns + chart fluctuations, it identifies the most reliable wave phase—generating the signals for currency surfing.

Acumeta is like an tireless, all-weather scout. It continuously scans thousands of crypto exchanges worldwide, capturing every subtle price movement, every shift in trading volume, every change in market sentiment. It gathers this vast sea of data and consolidates it within our cloud servers.

It is also like a top-tier mathematician and physicist, applying advanced algorithms to conduct deep analysis on this massive dataset. It searches for the underlying patterns in the data, the inner logic of price fluctuations, and the hidden opportunities in the market. It calculates the volatility of each contract instrument, the correlations among every trading pair, and the likely trajectory of each trend.

Based on its analysis, it generates the most precise currency-surfing signal prompts.

That is why the signal prompt you see always includes: the direction of the trade + the name of the currency-surfing instrument+ a recommended position size. Since Acumeta is currently used internally, I rely on my assistant to help relay these daily signals to you. Do you understand?

We are living under the century-defining backdrop of the "Rate-Cut Liberation Day." When the Fed's rate-cut rhetoric begins to take hold, it is like a "storm" breaking out—providing the strongest possible momentum for market rallies. Acumeta continuously monitors global macroeconomic data such as CPI, PPI, and unemployment rates.

When these indicators show signals favorable to rate cuts, Acumeta knows the "wind" has shifted!

Acumeta also employs cutting-edge natural language processing to analyze, in real time, social media, news reports, and forum discussions. When it detects market sentiment turning euphoric, it recognizes that the "temperature" has risen.

Acumeta uses its most powerful big-data algorithms for the final confirmation!

It analyzes trading volume, volatility, capital flows, and every micro-indicator. When all of these point in the same direction, Acumeta issues its definitive "signal"!

This is how currency-surfing signals are generated! They do not appear out of thin air, they are the product of a complex, scientific, and rigorous analytical process!

I must emphasize once again, every signal prompt issued by Acumeta carries Acumeta's built-in safety protections.

This is not just a feature, it is a commitment! It is like the life jacket you wear when heading out to sea, protecting you when storms arise. It is like the safety rope you tie on when climbing, pulling you back if you slip!

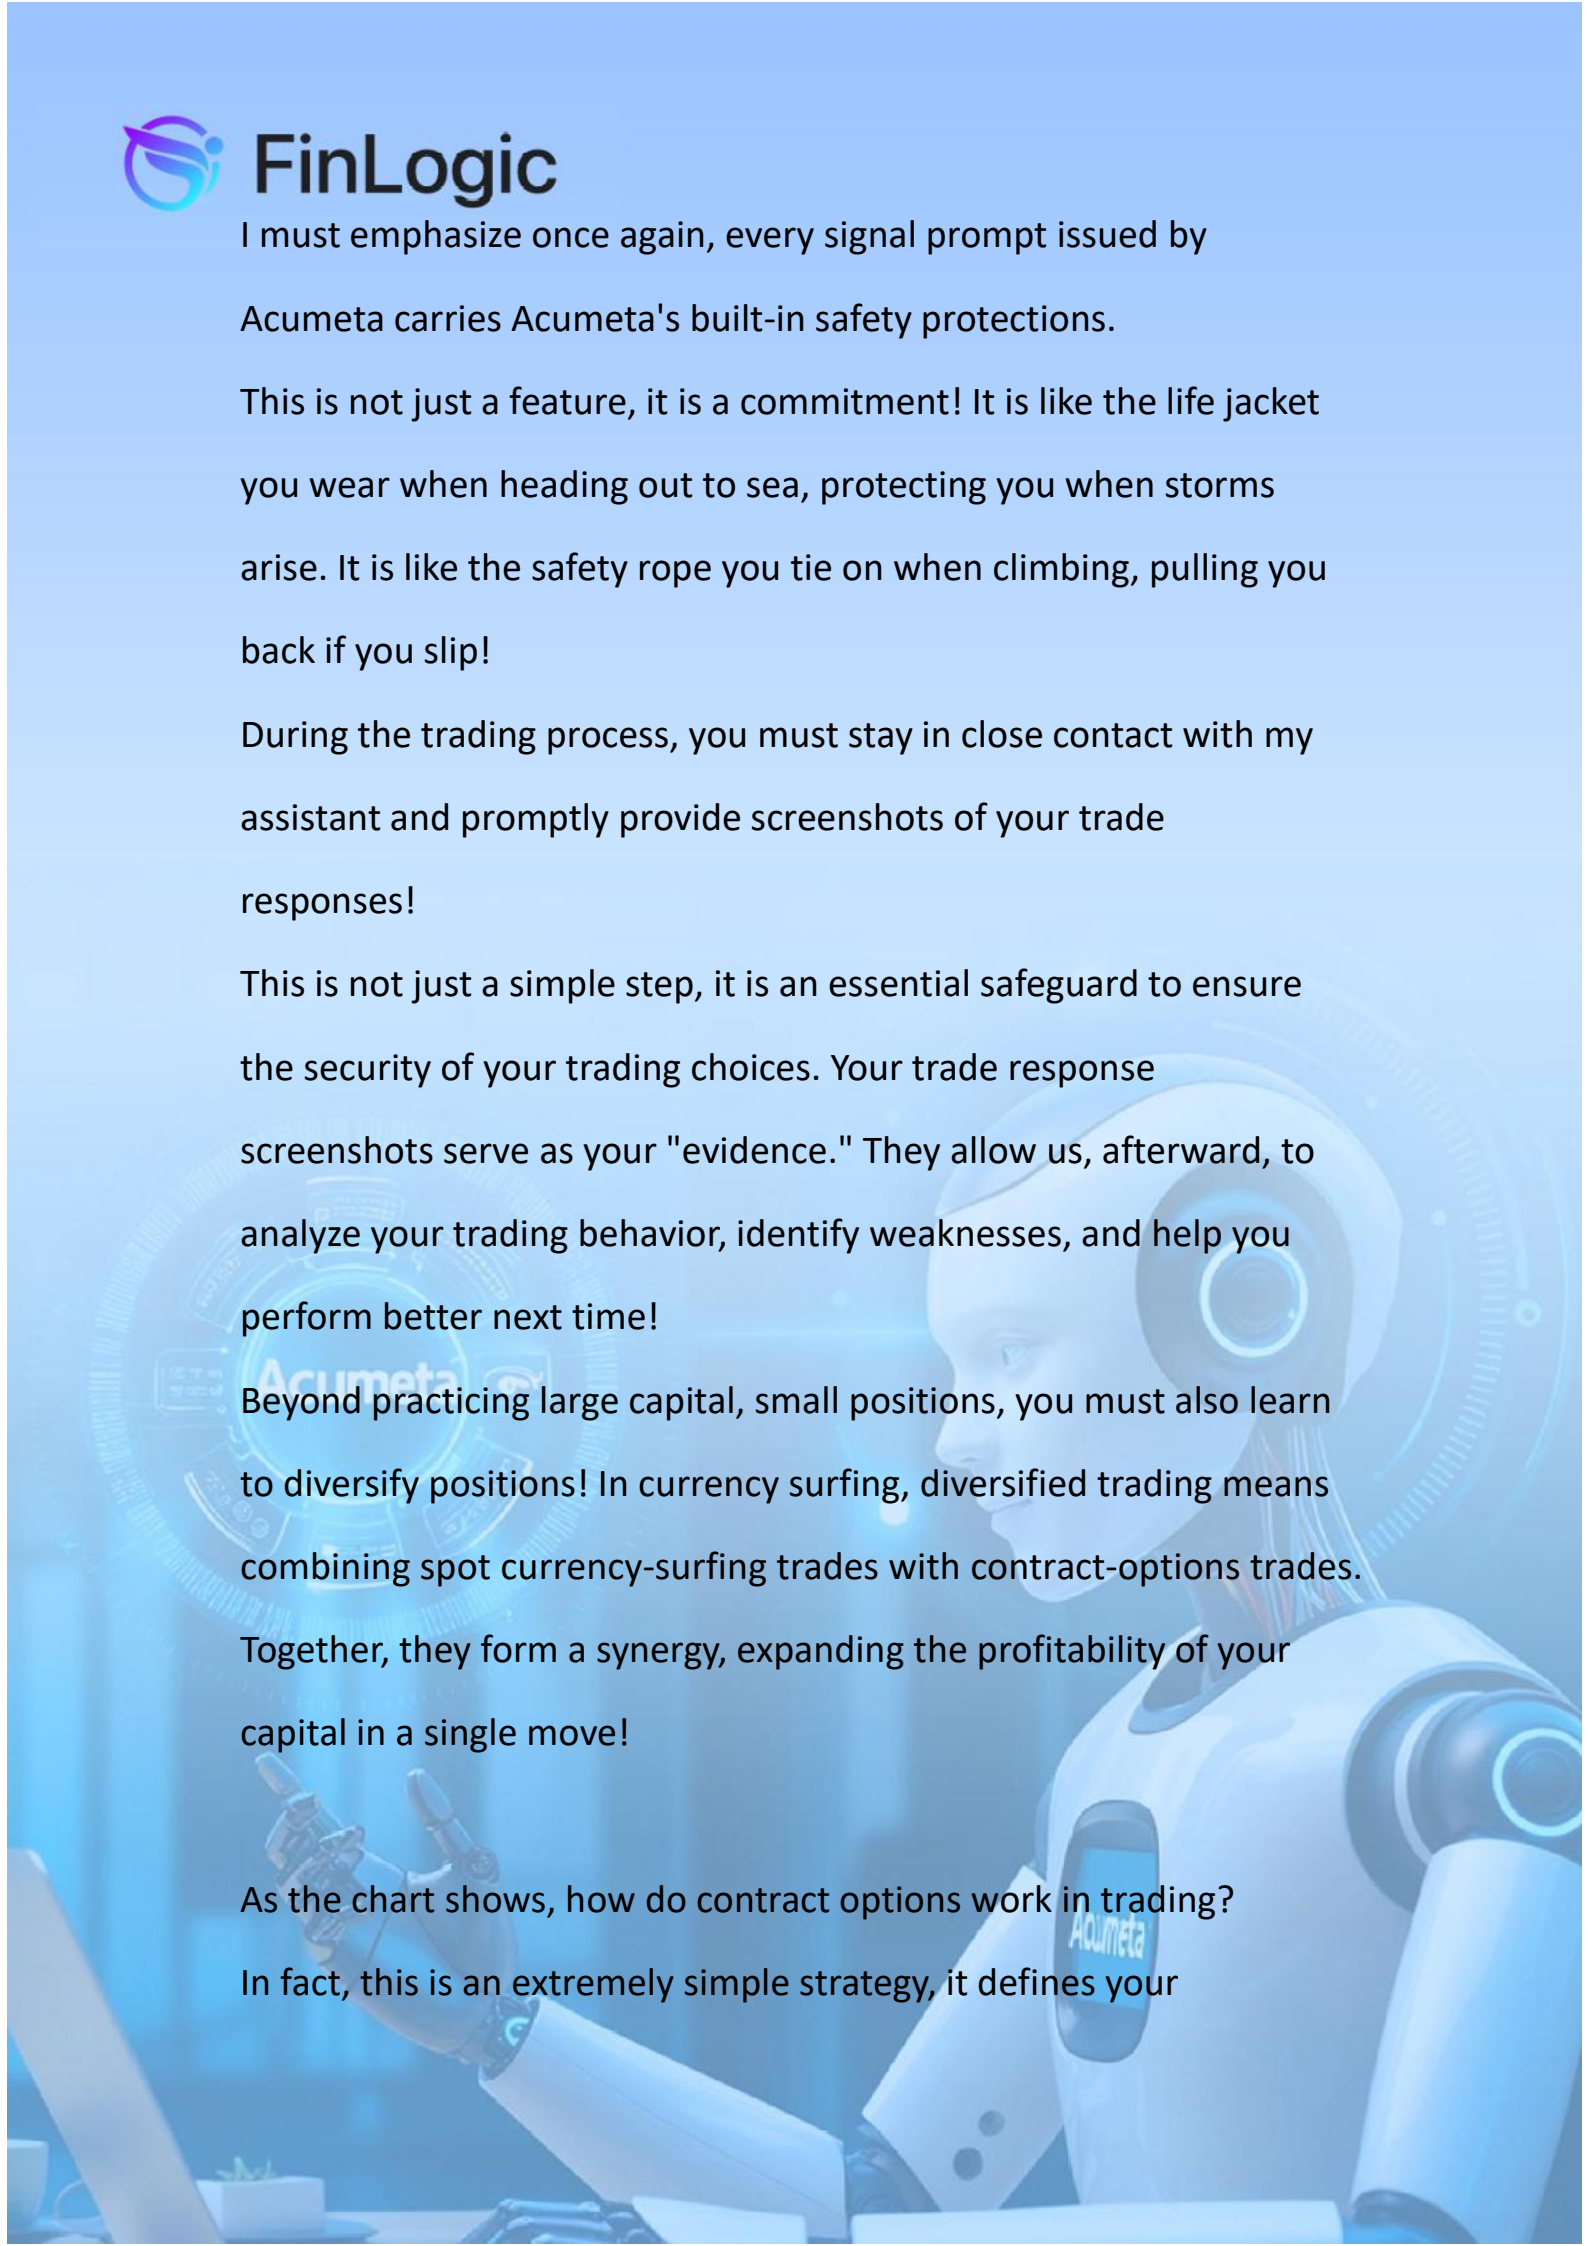

During the trading process, you must stay in close contact with my assistant and promptly provide screenshots of your trade responses!

This is not just a simple step, it is an essential safeguard to ensure the security of your trading choices. Your trade response screenshots serve as your "evidence." They allow us, afterward, to analyze your trading behavior, identify weaknesses, and help you perform better next time!

Beyond practicing large capital, small positions, you must also learn to diversify positions! In currency surfing, diversified trading means combining spot currency-surfing trades with contract-options trades. Together, they form a synergy, expanding the profitability of your capital in a single move!

As the chart shows, how do contract options work in trading?

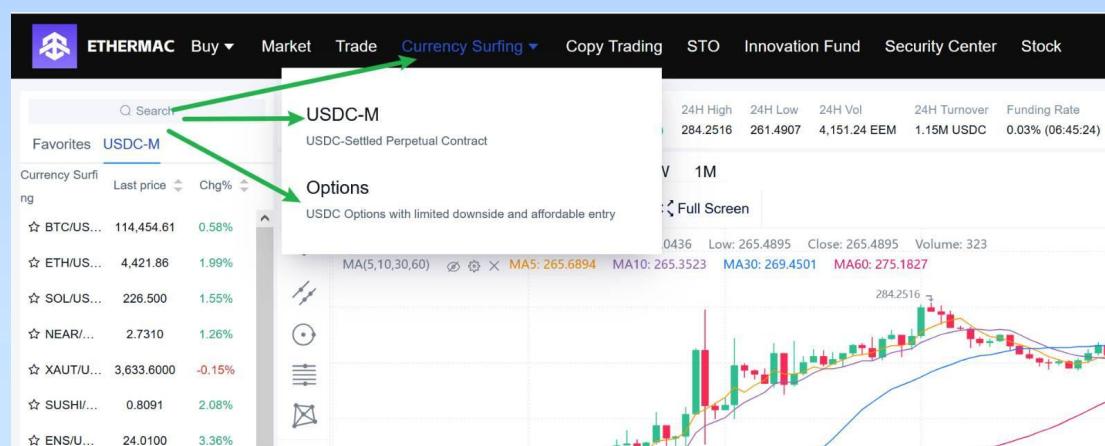

In fact, this is an extremely simple strategy, it defines your directional choice within a set time interval;

When you receive an Acumeta signal prompt, all you need to focus on is the direction of that signal;

Suppose the signal indicates a short position.

At that point, you can choose to participate in a short-term, diversified options trade while also executing the currency surfing trade.

For example: if the XXX/USDC signal indicates short, it means that this round of volatility analysis points downward—toward a decline. In addition to the currency surfing trade, you can select an options trade with a 15 minute or 30 minute duration.

So long as, before that time expires, XXX/USDC shows a downward move, you will earn a profit on the option.

Conversely, if at expiry the price has not fallen below your entry level, then the short-term option will not yield a profit.

Therefore, once you have mastered currency surfing, you can extend into contract options, participating through a combined approach.

The core of contract options comes down to 2 factors: time + direction.

Within a limited short time, if the direction is correct, you earn a profit.

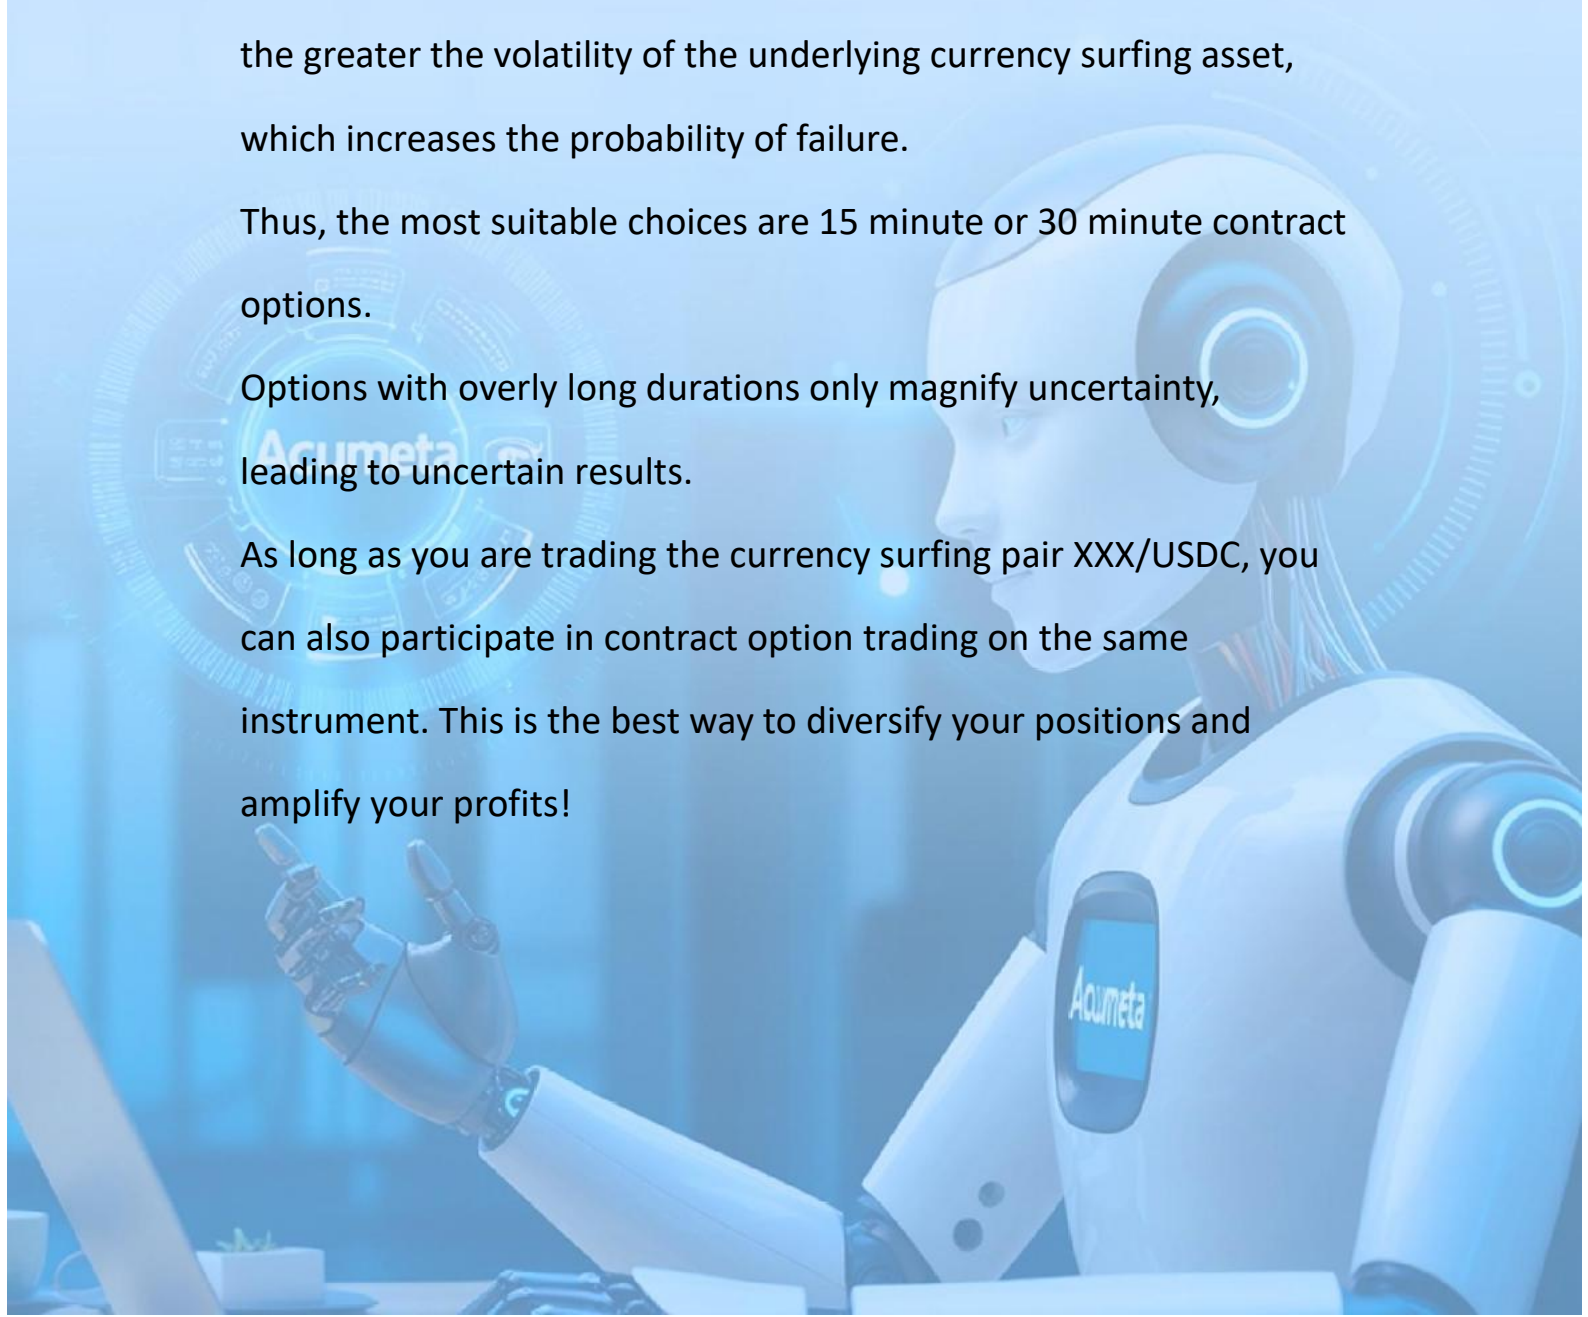

Within a limited short time, if the direction is wrong, it results in a loss.

The longer the time frame, the higher the potential return, but also the greater the volatility of the underlying currency surfing asset, which increases the probability of failure.

Thus, the most suitable choices are 15 minute or 30 minute contract options.

Options with overly long durations only magnify uncertainty, leading to uncertain results.

As long as you are trading the currency surfing pair XXX/USDC, you can also participate in contract option trading on the same instrument. This is the best way to diversify your positions and amplify your profits!

Today, we will not rush to celebrate victory, instead, let us do something more important—review and reflect on the profits from each of our currency surfing trades!

It is like a coach leading the team to watch the replay after a game. The purpose is not to boast of the win, but to analyze every tactic, every movement, every mistake. Because only through review can we improve!

When your account shows substantial gains from currency surfing, I hope you pause and ask yourself 2 questions:

1. Did we participate with large capital and small positions?
2. Did we strictly follow the signal instructions, rather than hesitating and missing the best entry point?

If you can answer "yes" to both, then congratulations—you have already grasped the essence of currency surfing!

Why does hesitation and doubt in a signal so often lead to mistakes?

I dare say this is the most common error among investors! At critical moments, they allow fear to sway them, or outside skepticism to confuse them. They keep asking themselves: "Is this signal really accurate? Should I truly trust it?"

It is precisely this hesitation and doubt that give birth to mistakes!

It is like playing a game, you hold the strongest hand, and your teammates have already cleared the way. Yet at the decisive moment, you fold. And what happens? You watch others take your cards and win the entire game!

When Acumeta gives you a signal, it is as if a door to wealth has been opened before you. Resolutely executing each signal is the key to securing long-term gains in the future!

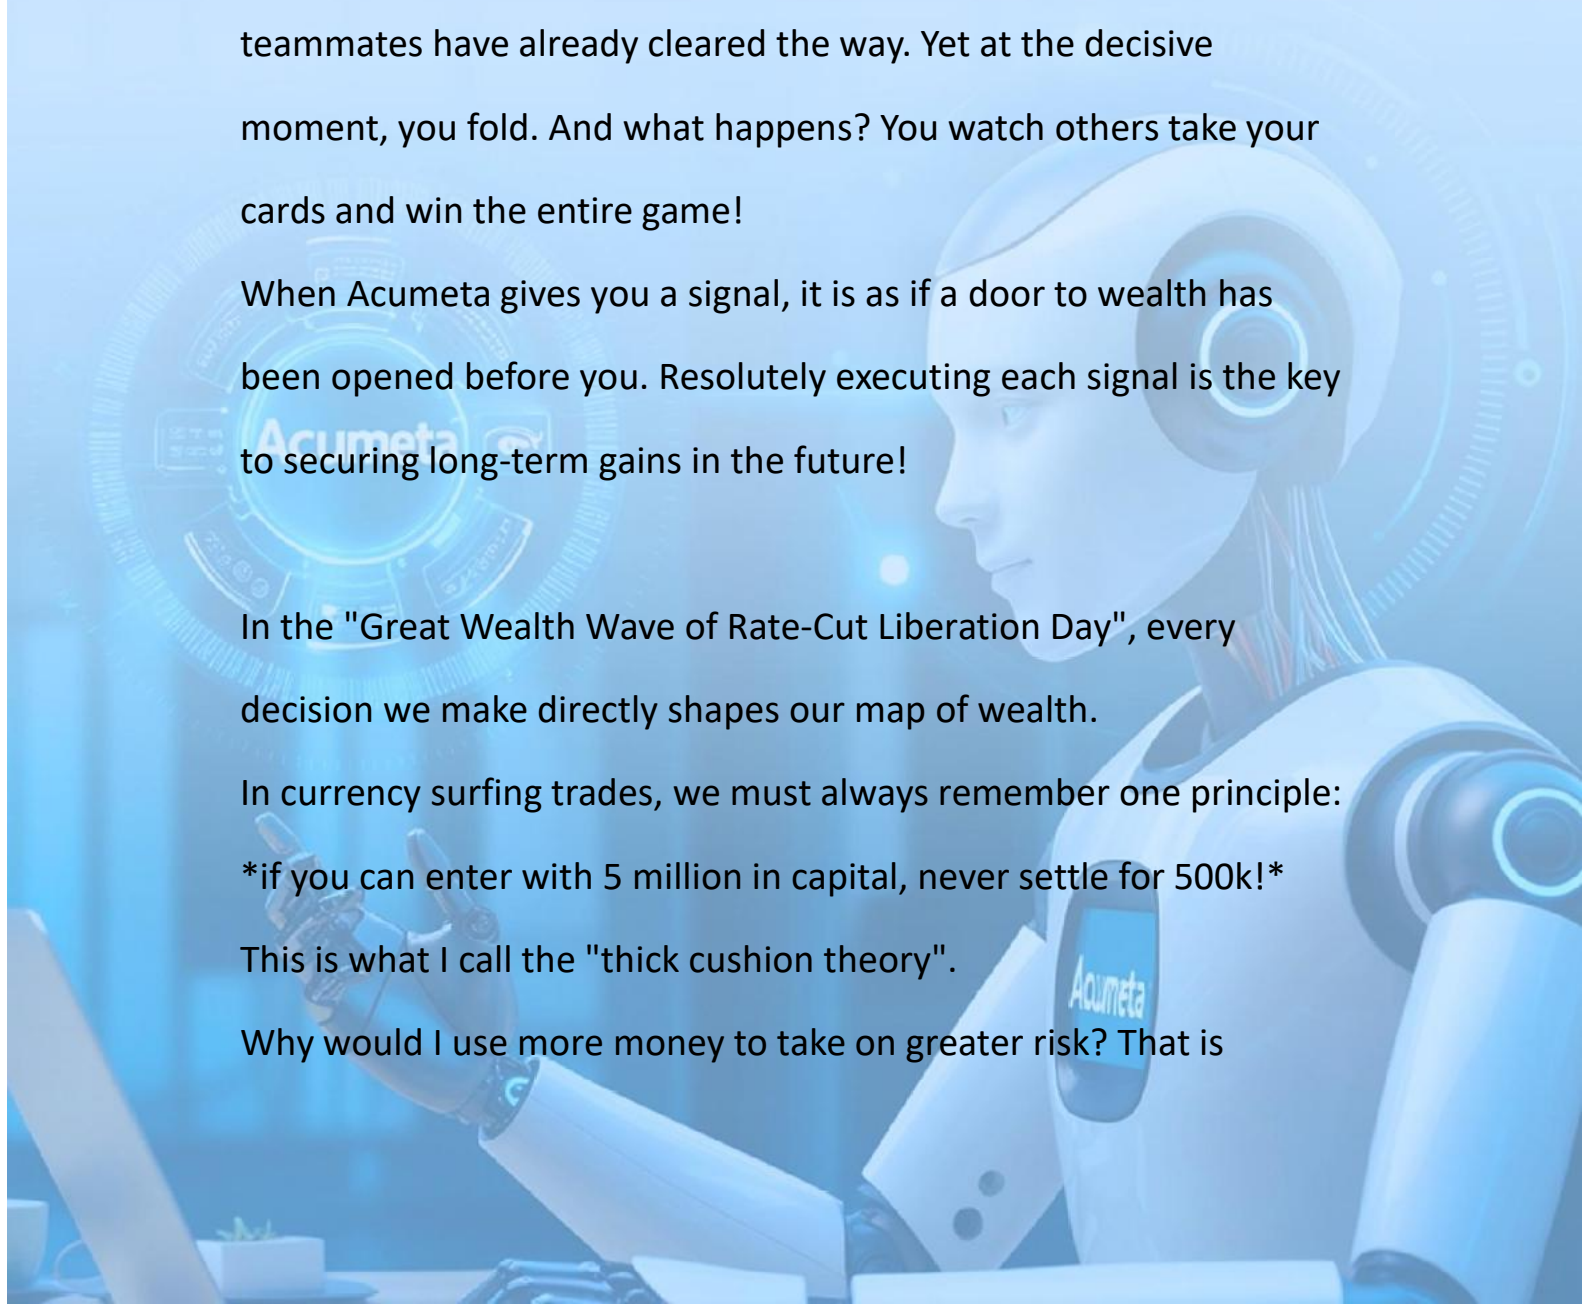

In the "Great Wealth Wave of Rate-Cut Liberation Day", every decision we make directly shapes our map of wealth.

In currency surfing trades, we must always remember one principle:

if you can enter with 5 million in capital, never settle for 500k!

This is what I call the "thick cushion theory".

Why would I use more money to take on greater risk? That is precisely the wrong way of thinking!

It is like going out to sea to fish. With only a small boat, you are limited to catching shrimp and small fish in the shallows. But with an aircraft carrier, you can venture into the deep sea to pursue tuna worth a fortune.

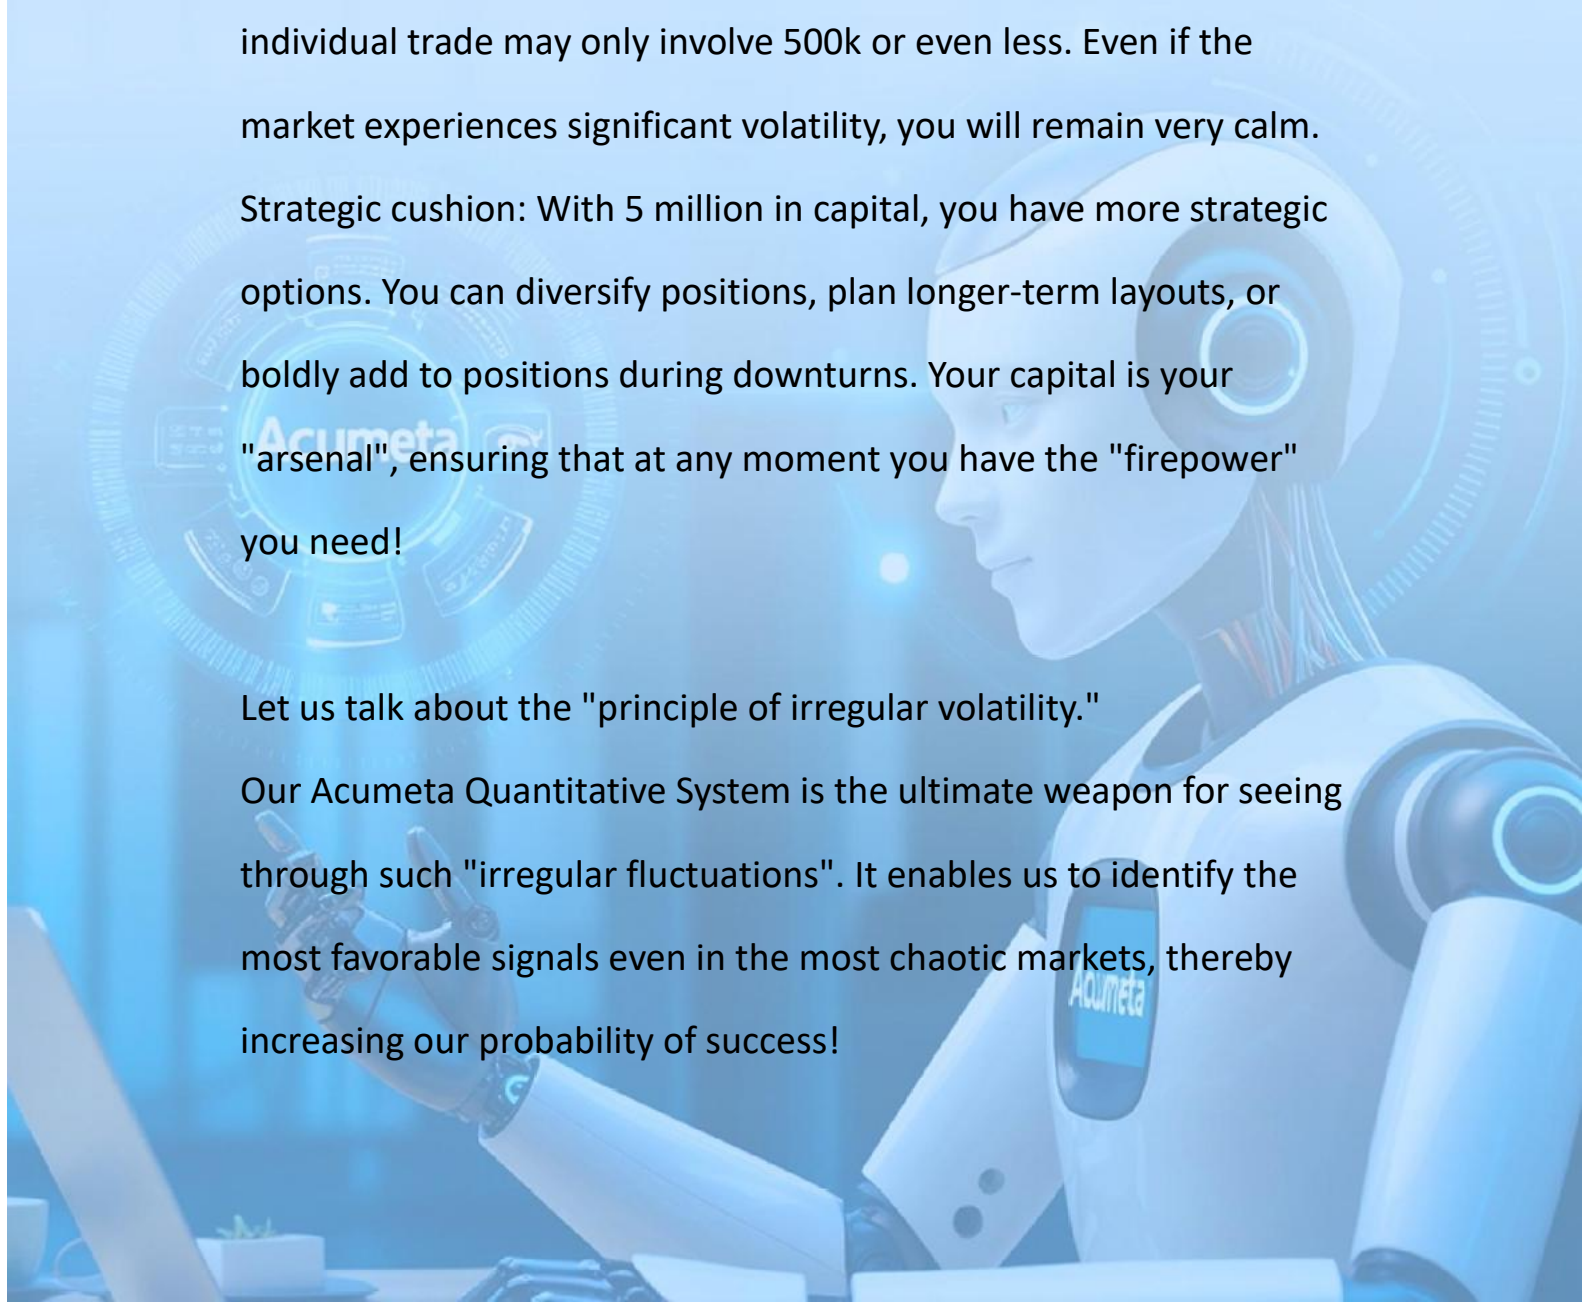

Your 5 million in capital is your "aircraft carrier"! It provides you with a thick cushion, allowing you to navigate the stormy seas of the market with stability!

Psychological cushion: When you trade with 5 million, each individual trade may only involve 500k or even less. Even if the market experiences significant volatility, you will remain very calm.

Strategic cushion: With 5 million in capital, you have more strategic options. You can diversify positions, plan longer-term layouts, or boldly add to positions during downturns. Your capital is your "arsenal", ensuring that at any moment you have the "firepower" you need!

Let us talk about the "principle of irregular volatility."

Our Acumeta Quantitative System is the ultimate weapon for seeing through such "irregular fluctuations". It enables us to identify the most favorable signals even in the most chaotic markets, thereby increasing our probability of success!

We must thoroughly understand and master the essence of "diversified position trading"

In our campaign "The Great Wave of Wealth on the Day of Rate-Cut Liberation," diversified position trading means combining currency surfing with options trading to create a powerful synergy!

Currency surfing is your "rifle" — it delivers steady, consistent, and considerable profits!

Options contracts are your "cannon" — they provide explosive opportunities that can instantly change the course of your life!

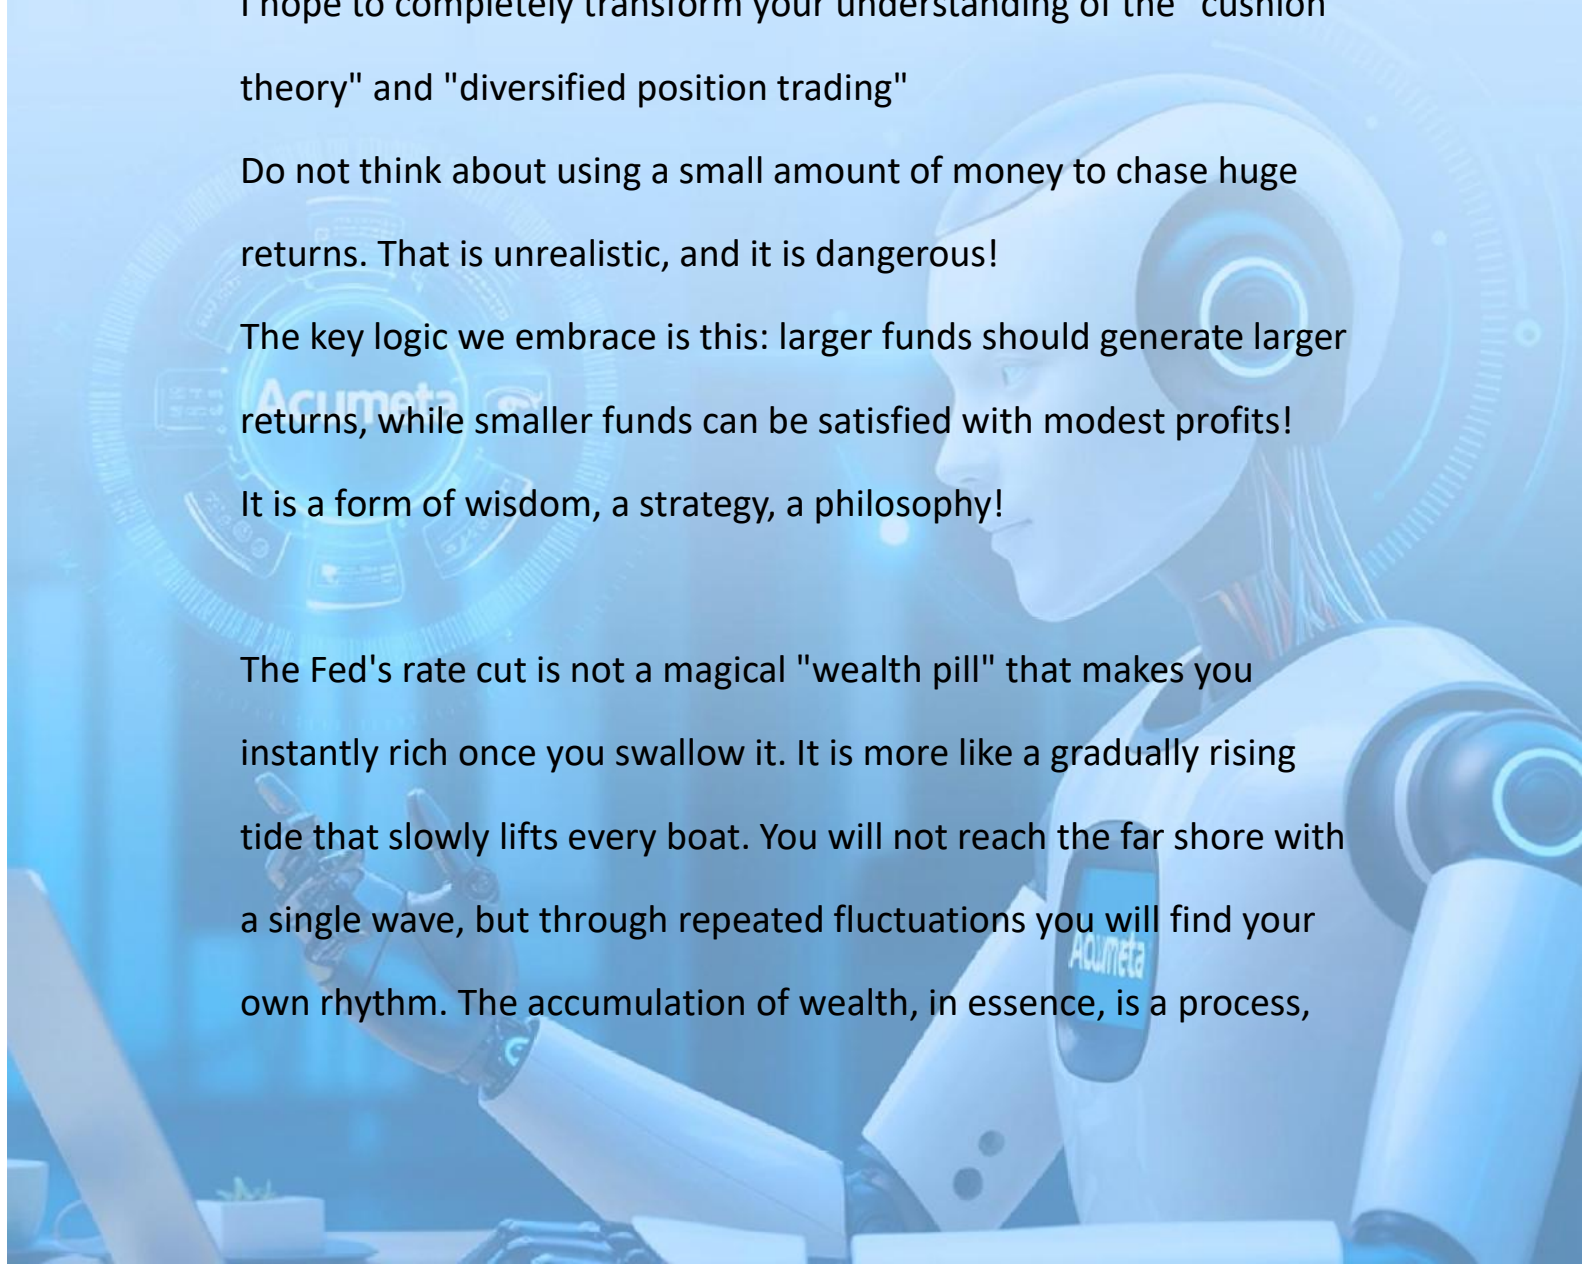

I hope to completely transform your understanding of the "cushion theory" and "diversified position trading"

Do not think about using a small amount of money to chase huge returns. That is unrealistic, and it is dangerous!

The key logic we embrace is this: larger funds should generate larger returns, while smaller funds can be satisfied with modest profits!

It is a form of wisdom, a strategy, a philosophy!

The Fed's rate cut is not a magical "wealth pill" that makes you instantly rich once you swallow it. It is more like a gradually rising tide that slowly lifts every boat. You will not reach the far shore with a single wave, but through repeated fluctuations you will find your own rhythm. The accumulation of wealth, in essence, is a process, not a one-time windfall.

We are now standing on the eve of the Fed's rate cut! This marks the 1st golden period of wealth opportunities! The market will usher in greater volatility, and from this volatility countless trading opportunities will be born!

With Acumeta, we now have an unparalleled tool!

Its role is not to keep you glued to the screen, but to serve as your tireless "wealth steward," working around the clock on your behalf!

It monitors market fluctuations in real time, identifies every optimal trading opportunity, and decisively executes your currency surfing and options trades!

This integration of strategy and quantitative intelligence is a testament to the camaraderie we have built over a long journey of investing together!

As Friday's dawn breaks again, we will usher in a new chapter of "currency surfing" and "on-chain wealth appreciation"

Best of luck to you all! Farewell!

