Esteemed elites of the Quantitative Winners Legion, good Wednesday!

The stock market's sage, Philip Fisher, once said: In investing, there are inevitably moments that depend on luck. But over the long run, good fortune and misfortune balance each other out. To achieve lasting success, one must rely on skill and the disciplined use of sound principles of timing.

To seize the moment, to convert time into tangible wealth, and to lock in profits — this is our shared pursuit!

Social capital refers to the relationships and resources one accumulates within a social network. It helps individuals gain access to information, influence, and opportunities. The broader and stronger one's circle, the richer one's social capital.

For instance, joining a higher-tier shareholders' circle often opens doors to greater opportunities in one's wealth journey.

This form of social capital also reflects the importance of community culture in shaping and advancing personal financial growth.

If your life unfolds among those who move in the tens of millions, your investment decisions should be worthy of that circle;

If your life revolves around the world of millionaires, you must find the membership circles that align with you;

And if your life is about fighting for a turnaround, then you must find the community that shares that same drive for transformation.

I hope that my investor education endeavor will empower every member, for in the end it is your results that will attest to all that we have done — and to the superior service experience Acumeta provides — in creating wealth appreciation for you.

Indeed, all of our rewards can only be realized when you achieve success.

Is this not the kind of investment partnership you would want?

Therefore, the best way to upgrade your profits is to advance into the Quantitative Winners Legion membership!*

The alluring choice of the Empire Architect:*

This represents a supreme trust that grants you direct access to our core. Every great enterprise shaped by shareholder culture has its founding stories of early recognition and support from its shareholders. These stories remind us that we, too, must join with you to pursue the summit of a new era in quantitative strategies, seeking out the greatest profit value for you.

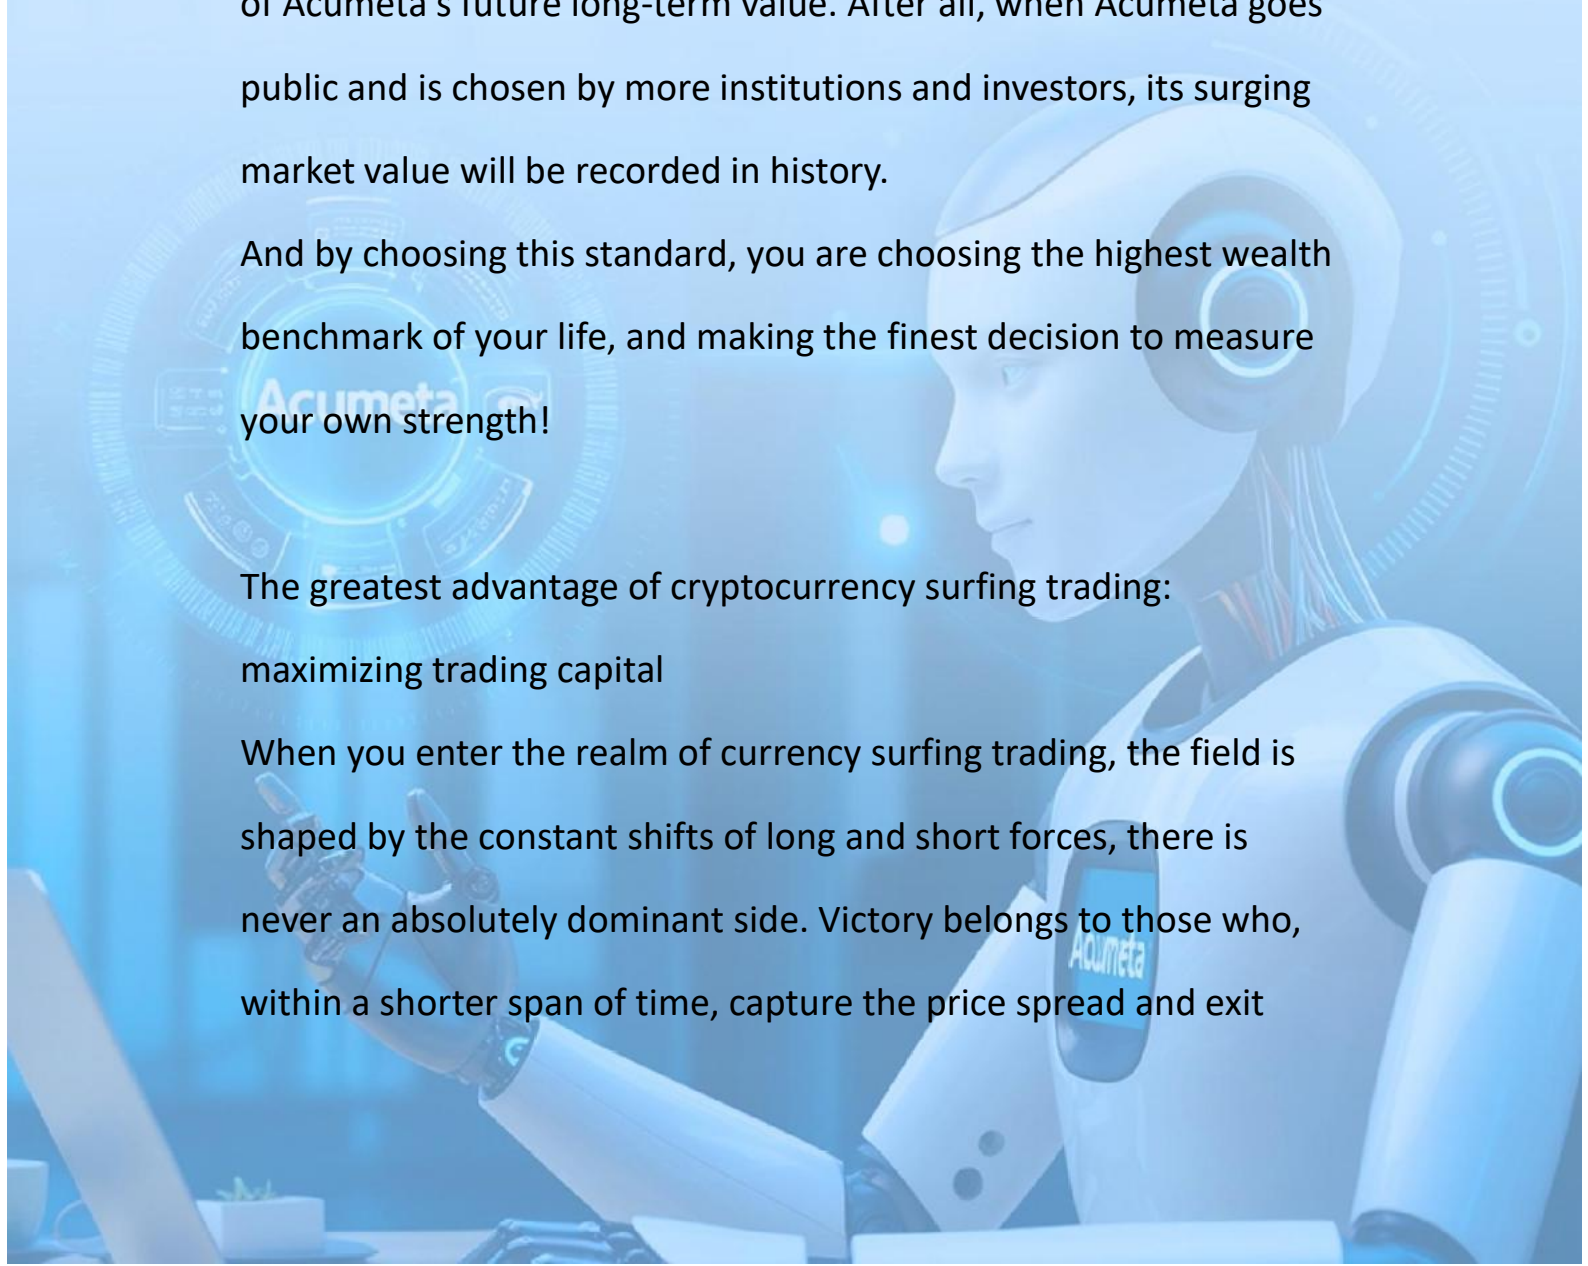

To create greater returns for shareholder members is the shared dream of every enduring brand.

You will not only possess a share of these dreams, but also a portion of Acumeta's future long-term value. After all, when Acumeta goes public and is chosen by more institutions and investors, its surging market value will be recorded in history.

And by choosing this standard, you are choosing the highest wealth benchmark of your life, and making the finest decision to measure your own strength!

The greatest advantage of cryptocurrency surfing trading:
maximizing trading capital

When you enter the realm of currency surfing trading, the field is shaped by the constant shifts of long and short forces, there is never an absolutely dominant side. Victory belongs to those who, within a shorter span of time, capture the price spread and exit successfully.

#The ultimate test, however, is who can withstand the potential volatility and protect their account over a longer horizon. That is how the true winners emerge.

Accordingly, greater account capital carries distinct advantages:

1. With the same 2% volatility, greater capital generates higher profits.
 2. When positions face adverse price swings, larger capital provides stronger risk resilience.
 3. When contracts move against you, larger capital offers better opportunities to add to positions strategically.
 4. In the face of sudden events, larger account capital enables a more effective one-click reversal, shifting from long to short positions, to turn defeat into victory.
 5. In the same upward or downward trend, larger capital makes it possible to trade multiple contracts simultaneously, maximizing gains.
 6. When a contract trade goes wrong, greater capital allows you to ride through cycles of volatility and sustain a longer holding period.
- Now do you see why large institutions are so often able to capture greater profits?

#The trading advantages of the Quantitative Winners Legion

When we engage in currency surfing trades through different tiers of capital, we can concentrate resources to strike at major market moves, thereby securing stronger profits.

When we concentrate our efforts within different tiers of capital, we can better reduce risk and maximize returns within each formation.

When we conduct currency surfing trades by capital tiers, we avoid the isolation of retail investors acting alone and achieve a far more efficient use of capital.

Thus, by organizing in structured tiers, executing in unison, we achieve complementary strengths, large-scale strategic advantage, and a stronger momentum of victory for currency surfing trades.

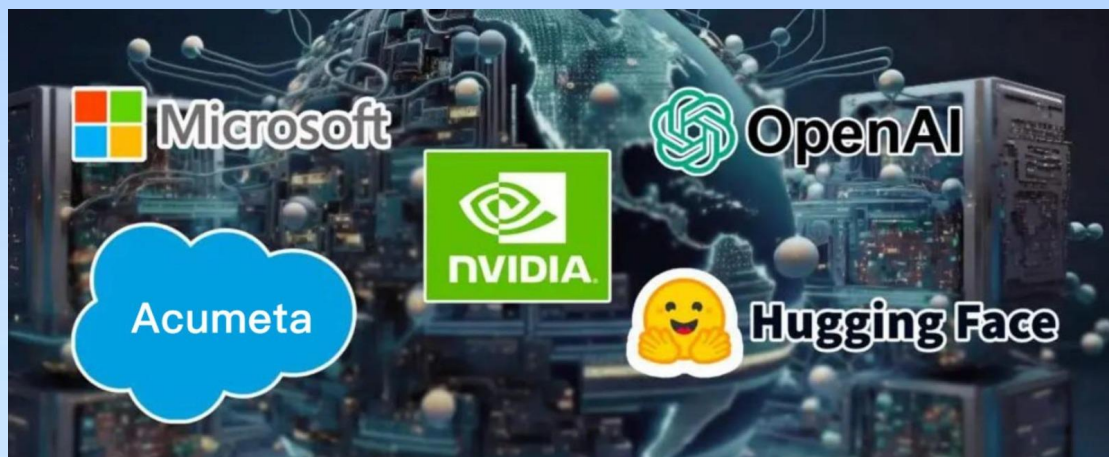

Pals! We must never allow the dial of regret to point toward us. We must never let opportunity slip away through the cracks of proven fact. We will, without doubt, create a new height of personal wealth that belongs to us alone. Pour your passion into this, and let your path of upgrading begin with that very first step of choice!

Global core AI enterprises are accelerating their cooperation with NVIDIA;

NVIDIA's GPUs hold a decisive advantage in AI training and inference, especially in large-scale data processing and deep learning applications. Its leading technology and software ecosystem make it the supplier of choice in AI computing. The rapid development of AI is fueling growing demand for high-performance computing.

Strong data center demand: The global expansion of data centers and the rising need for AI computing power are driving NVIDIA's AI chip sales. NVIDIA will continue to advance innovation in AI chips and, by optimizing its software ecosystem, further strengthen its leadership in data centers and generative AI.

At present, Acumeta has already adopted a new generation of NVIDIA's chip architecture and has carried out phased optimization and upgrades to meet the growing demand for computing power in our crypto paradise initiative, as well as to enhance inference capabilities.

Very soon, through membership in the Quantitative Winners Legion, you will be able to experience these certainties firsthand!

This marks a critical stage in the comprehensive upgrade of our quantitative system strategy services;

As a core financial instrument, Acumeta is designed to establish a foundation for supercharged profit growth. In currency surfing, especially for ultra-short-term signals, Acumeta requires a complete and rigorous inference framework. By integrating big data analytics and activating multiple optimized recognition units, it ultimately produces reliable trading signals — all with the goal of capturing short-term spread profits.

Together with my team of professional analysts, I take responsibility for conducting secondary judgments and selections on these signals. Drawing on deep experience, we perform the necessary evaluations and release timely guidance. Thus, when you join the Quantitative Winners Legion series, the Shareholder Membership series, we can provide recommendations calibrated to the appropriate service standards and trading capital positions. This not only improves efficiency, but also opens the path to greater profits.

The Industrial Revolution and standardization: a story of human progress

The Industrial Revolution was not merely about the introduction of machinery and factories; more importantly, it drove the widespread adoption of standardization.

Standardization refers to the unification of production processes, components, and product specifications in order to increase efficiency, reduce costs, and ensure consistent quality.

The Industrial Revolution was a profound social transformation. It not only delivered a massive leap in productivity but also gave rise to the early form of modern industrial society. In this process, standardization played a vital role

What is standardization?

Simply put, standardization means establishing uniform rules and requirements for things.

In industrial production, it means that products, processes, equipment, and testing methods must all comply with common standards.

In the field of quantitative strategy, standardization means that personnel, currency surfing signals, security measures, service protocols, and trading positions must all follow unified standards.

In this way, the transmission of signals is made more efficient, and profit value is enhanced.

The standardization upgrade of the Quantitative Winners Legion:

This upgrade reduces conflicts between members with differing levels of capital and trading frequencies. Larger capital naturally demands more frequent trading opportunities.

Acumeta, therefore, must establish predefined conditions for trading positions at each tier of capital. This approach helps capture more efficient profit signals, given that achieving a 100% win rate is, for now, impossible.

In other words, only by increasing and extending the run of effective successes can overall capital truly double.

Consider this, if an account with total capital of 500k seeks to double, yet follows the same service standards as one with only 50k in trading positions, the goal becomes difficult to reach.

The reason lies in trading signal frequency — smaller capital receives fewer opportunities, while larger capital engages more often. This difference is precisely what allows larger accounts to pursue profit targets more quickly within the agreed period.

The standardization upgrade of Quantitative Winners Legion membership:*

By way of example: allocating 30k in trading capital should come with trading frequencies and service standards appropriate to that level — rather than being forced to match the currency surfing activity of a 1,000,000 advantage position.

After all, Acumeta's prerequisites differ at each tier of capital, the trading signals generated vary accordingly, and thus the proportions of profit realized are not the same.

Our goal is to ensure that 30k in trading capital operates under the standards of 30k, sustaining long-term cooperation and achieving the intended target profits.

Our goal is to ensure that 300k in trading capital operates under the standards of 300k, sustaining long-term cooperation and achieving the intended target profits.

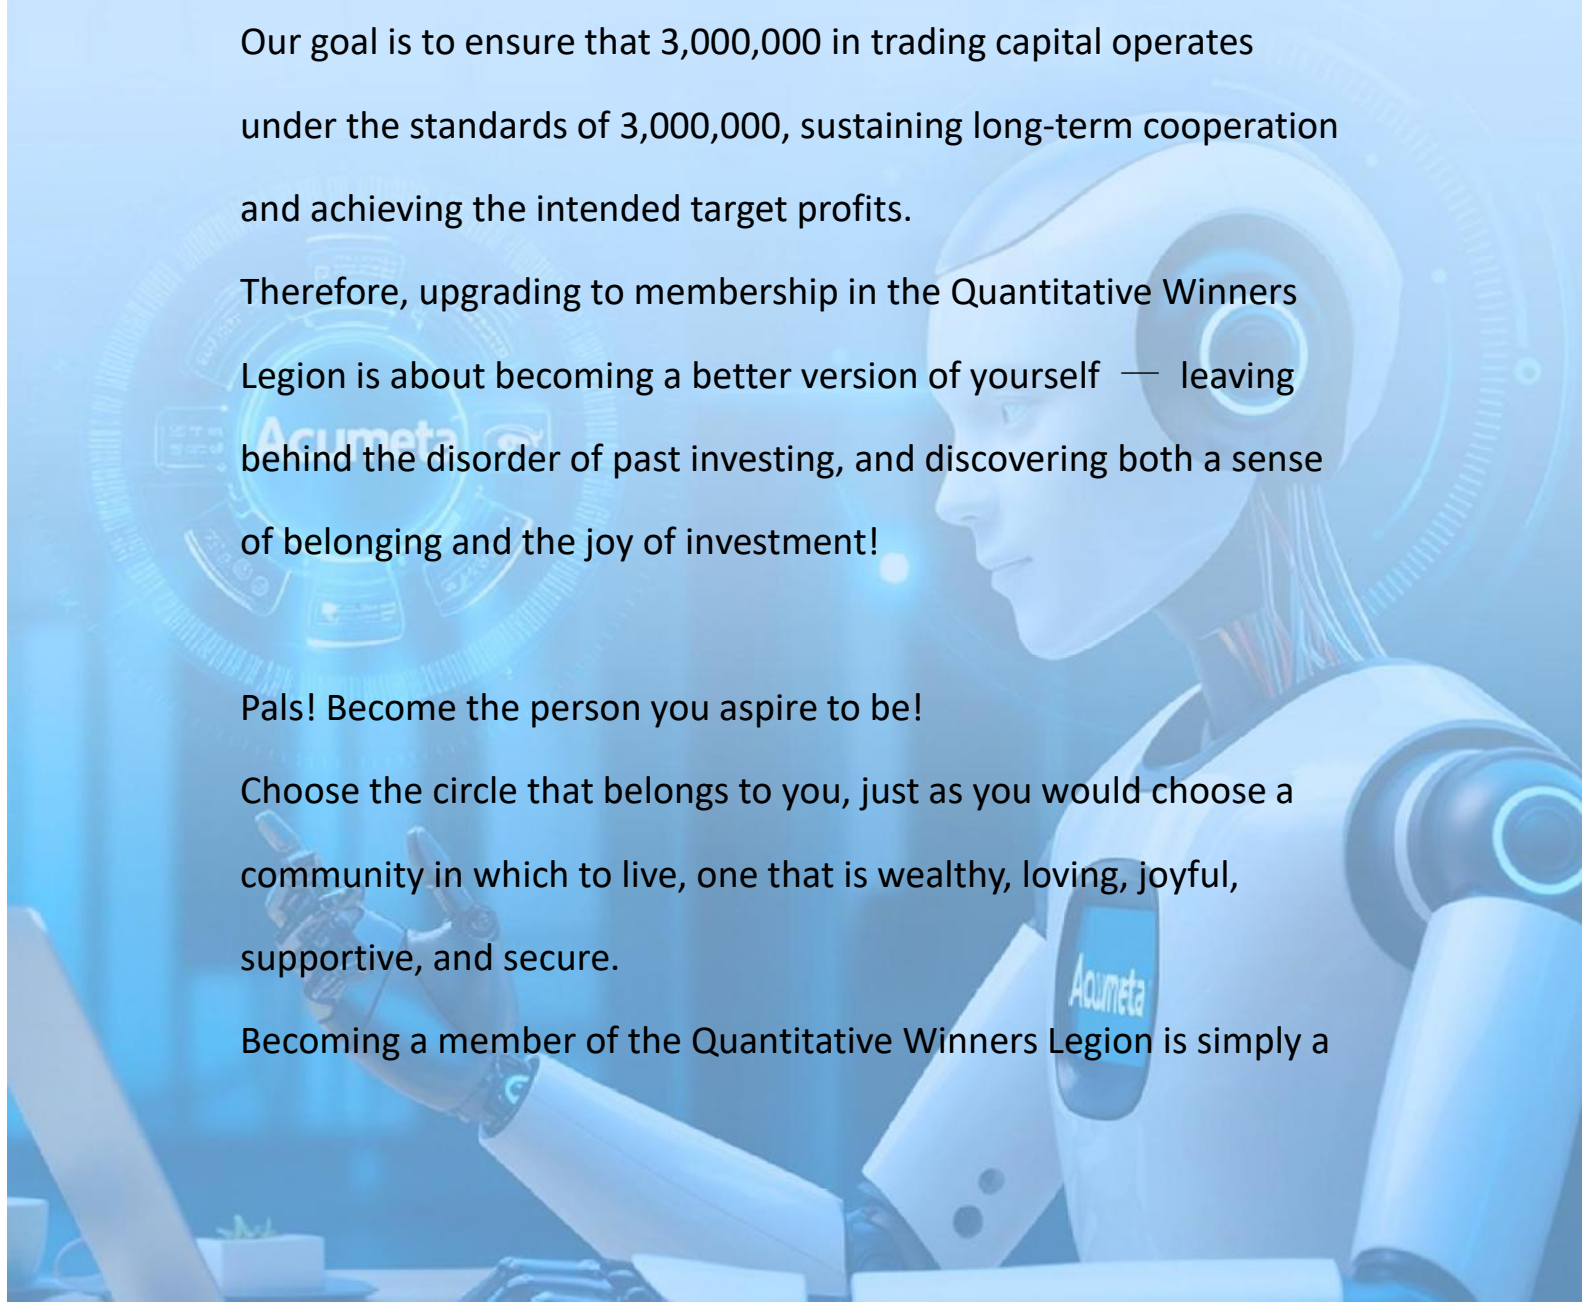

Our goal is to ensure that 3,000,000 in trading capital operates under the standards of 3,000,000, sustaining long-term cooperation and achieving the intended target profits.

Therefore, upgrading to membership in the Quantitative Winners Legion is about becoming a better version of yourself — leaving behind the disorder of past investing, and discovering both a sense of belonging and the joy of investment!

Pals! Become the person you aspire to be!

Choose the circle that belongs to you, just as you would choose a community in which to live, one that is wealthy, loving, joyful, supportive, and secure.

Becoming a member of the Quantitative Winners Legion is simply a declaration of the kind of person you wish to become.

But to start becoming one of them is a choice you must make today, not tomorrow.

Just as life ascends step by step toward higher peaks, so too must you begin progress with the very first step.

*When you complete your top-up, it means that your decision has made meaningful progress. When you sign the upgrade guarantee agreement, it shows that you have embraced a long-term plan.

From that point, we move forward hand in hand — and you will not be left alone.*

A warm community must be founded in the name of love. Love means unity; it means finding companions who resonate on the same frequency — in life partners, friends, colleagues, comrades, and investment partners. In short, we must secure progress step by step, for that is the decisive step toward becoming a true winner.

Have you taken that step today?

P2P trusted merchant exchange protection: the margin supervision mechanism of the ETHERMAC crypto trading center

The trading center manages all P2P merchants under a certification system, implementing the standards set by MSB regulatory authorities. The P2P merchants' margin deposits are reported quarterly to MSB for review, thereby ensuring that P2P trusted merchants provide the highest level of protection when exchanging digital currency USDC with users.

When you exchange with a P2P trusted merchant, you need not worry about payment being made without receiving the corresponding exchange. As long as you follow the instructions of the official customer service staff, every transaction record will be securely preserved and regulated by the trading center as valid evidence.

If, in the unlikely event, a P2P trusted merchant receives funds but fails to complete the exchange, please contact the official customer service of the trading center, and the issue will be resolved quickly and securely. After all, each P2P trusted merchant holds margin certification - the most effective safeguard ensuring honest and reliable exchange.

The words of the financial killer, George Soros: As a market participant, I am concerned with market value — that is, the maximization of profit;

As a citizen, I am concerned with social value — namely, human peace, freedom of thought, and social justice.

This statement feels especially profound in 2025, for my quantitative strategy enterprise now seeks not only to ensure that every member achieves meaningful wealth appreciation, but also that each enjoys the respect and honor that come with thoughtful investment guidance.

Thus, I have made the pursuit of market value and profit maximization my core objective, while at the same time offering unprecedented safeguards to secure the long-term cooperation of every member of the Quantitative Winners Legion.

So what is the relationship between the crypto exchange where your currency surfing accounts are held and membership in the Quantitative Winners Legion?

As a Quantitative Think Tank Center rich in innovation and driven by progress, we take responsibility for screening and overseeing the safety of the trading center where you conduct currency surfing; When selecting a crypto exchange, I am painstaking in my standards.

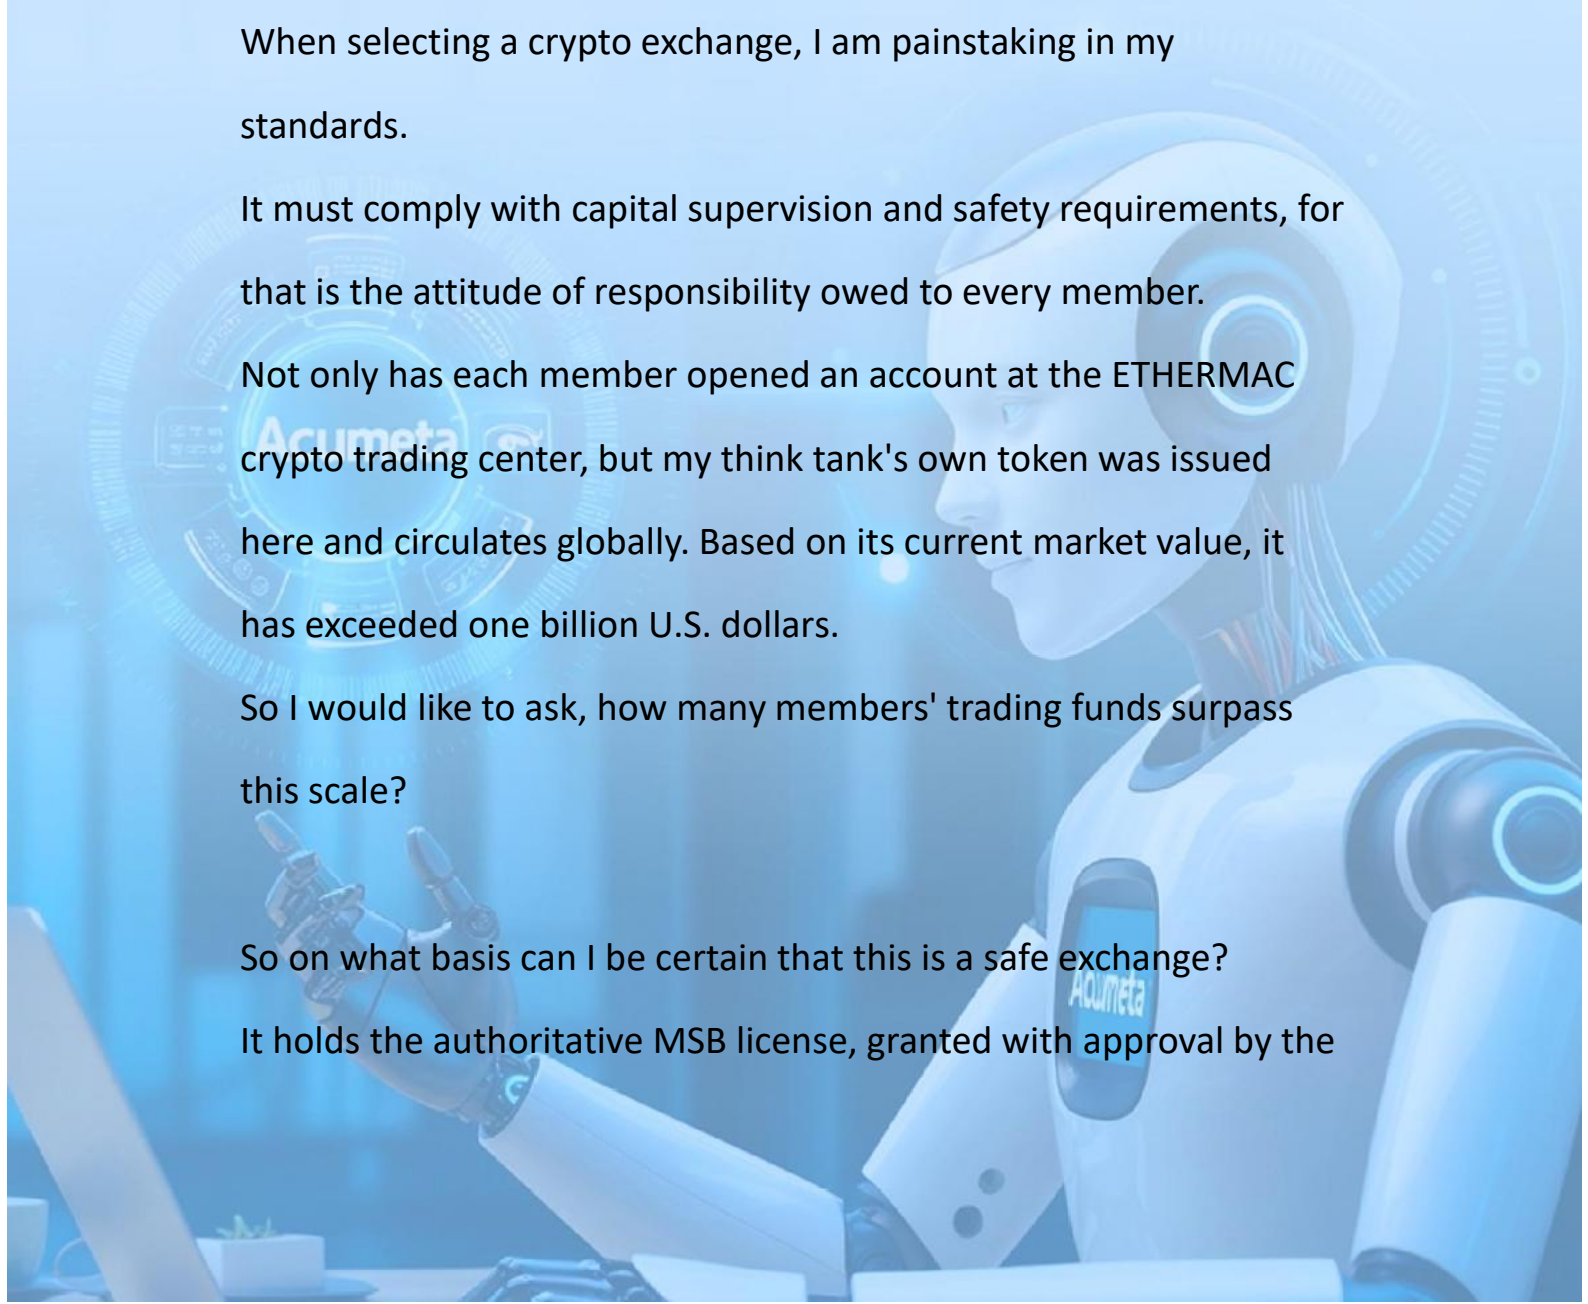

It must comply with capital supervision and safety requirements, for that is the attitude of responsibility owed to every member.

Not only has each member opened an account at the ETHERMAC crypto trading center, but my think tank's own token was issued here and circulates globally. Based on its current market value, it has exceeded one billion U.S. dollars.

So I would like to ask, how many members' trading funds surpass this scale?

So on what basis can I be certain that this is a safe exchange?

It holds the authoritative MSB license, granted with approval by the U.S. FinCEN — a license that has become the standard requirement for all global digital currency trading institutions.

MSB (Money Services Business) plays a critical role in the U.S. crypto industry.

It covers a broad range of financial services, including virtual currency exchange, trading, and transfers.

The MSB regulatory license is issued by FinCEN, an agency under the U.S. Department of the Treasury — a government authority.

Every crypto exchange, including platform-certified P2P "Golden Shield" merchants, must obtain an MSB license and remain under supervision in order to operate in full compliance!

Moreover, with the SEC sending positive regulatory signals through its "innovation exemptions" for crypto enterprises, this exchange continues to maintain public disclosure of its asset registry and proofs. This practice provides users with a dynamic safeguard for the security of their funds;

I believe in government, I believe in regulation and the rule of law, and it is this belief that I now pass on to you!

My warriors of the Quantitative Winners Legion:

As September fades, look outside, how enchanting the American autumn is. Golden leaves, crisp breezes, and the very air filled with the scent of harvest. In this moment, I hope you can feel deeply that each and every one of you — yes, every single one — holds the right to become wealthy.

But remember, having the right is not enough. What determines the course of life is never rights alone, but courage, conviction, and the steady persistence of action.

Today, I hope each of you has earned new profits. Prepare a gift for yourself this September — the gift you have long awaited, the one you have dreamed of. This is not wastefulness, but a gift to yourself, an acknowledgment of your courage. It proves that you are not merely speaking of ambition, but acting upon it and reaping results. This afternoon, our exploration will move to a deeper level; how to establish advantageous positions so that every single order in currency surfing not only makes money, but surpasses a doubling of

Pals,

The afternoon autumn sunlight is so radiant, and yet the landscape of the financial markets once again confirms my judgment.

By Wednesday afternoon, at the stock market's close, we saw the outcome of the past two days of decline from recent highs. Does this not once again prove that today's stock market offers fewer opportunities and greater risks? Is this not strong evidence in support of the "locking in profits at market highs" decision I have emphasized over the past two weeks?

Let me speak plainly, the traditional stock market is no longer that golden land of opportunity. It now resembles a high wire, where every step is fraught with uncertainty. You might earn some meager gains, but at any moment a sudden headline from the Federal Reserve, or a single ambiguous remark, could send you crashing down.

But we, the [Quantitative Winners Legion], we are not walking a tightrope. We stand firmly on solid ground, relying on our system and our wisdom to reap profits with security.

In sharp contrast to the sluggishness of the stock market, Bitcoin today displayed a powerful upward rebound.

This is not merely a simple bounce, it is the perfect window into the "super cycle" of the crypto market.

The so-called super cycle is like the great wheel of history, which at certain moments accelerates forward. We are now at the very start of that momentum.

Global central banks' expectations of rate cuts are injecting fresh liquidity into the crypto market. It is reminiscent of the early stages of the Internet boom 20 years ago. Many dismissed it as a bubble, yet only a few saw the future. And now history is repeating itself, except this time, the protagonist is crypto.

This is where the mission of our [Quantitative Winners Legion] lies.

Our founding, our vision, is the beginning of a new journey. We are not waiting passively, we are creating actively.

We use quantitative system to capture every market fluctuation.

We use scientific decision-making to avoid every market risk.

We use professional perspective to discern every emerging opportunity.

Target plans for members of the Quantitative Winners Legion:

If you are still uncertain about which membership standard of the Quantitative Winners Legion best suits you, then ask yourself: In the course of long-term cooperation, how much profit do I truly want to achieve?

For example: if your goal is to earn 1000%, you cannot expect to accomplish this with only a $10k position. Why?

Because once you choose a $10k trading position, both the service level and Acumeta's trading frequency limit your access to more opportunities for signal recognition and prerequisite matching.

At the same time, your profits will inevitably be accompanied by certain trading risks. With smaller capital, your risk ratio is higher.

Acumeta, in accordance with the scale of your funds, provides suitable safeguards, which means your trading frequency will be lower, perhaps only once a week or just a few times.

Therefore, to achieve a 10x return under such conditions is exceedingly difficult.

Of course, if your investment position is $1,000,000, then the likelihood of achieving this goal increases significantly. You gain more trading opportunities, broader service benefits, and greater potential for compounding profit growth. At the same time, your profits can appreciate further through secondary allocation into financial funds .

This comes down to whether you have the ambition, and the initial capital, to match your wealth.

Do you now know how to choose your profit target? Align your target profit plan with the level of winning capital investment that best suits you.

We may notice a phenomenon: on the back of every U.S. dollar bill are the words "In God We Trust." Every single note carries this phrase — our faith in God.

"In God We Trust," together with the signature of the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, highlights a single concept: trust. And this, in essence, reveals the very nature of money.

This is a national creed, a motto that stirs both national sentiment and collective belief.

Therefore, Acumeta has proven the value of trust through results. It now embodies an emerging faith in the dollar, a faith in wealth itself, and we are riding the wave of its benefits. Of course, every successful act draws envy, and it invites doubt. Yet I believe that as long as the members of my Quantitative Think Tank Center stand united and support one another, we will surely leave a shining chapter in the history of currency surfing investment!

Come on! Pals! The time left to us this week for passion is running short, have you achieved your target for the week?

The [Doubling every trade] opportunity will always belong to those players, who hold an [advantageous position], I hope you are among them!

A pastor once spoke of the time of Moses. He said: "Moses served so well. If not for his age, how wonderful it would have been for him to continue; but each generation has its appointed time and its service. He completed his work, and he finished his course."

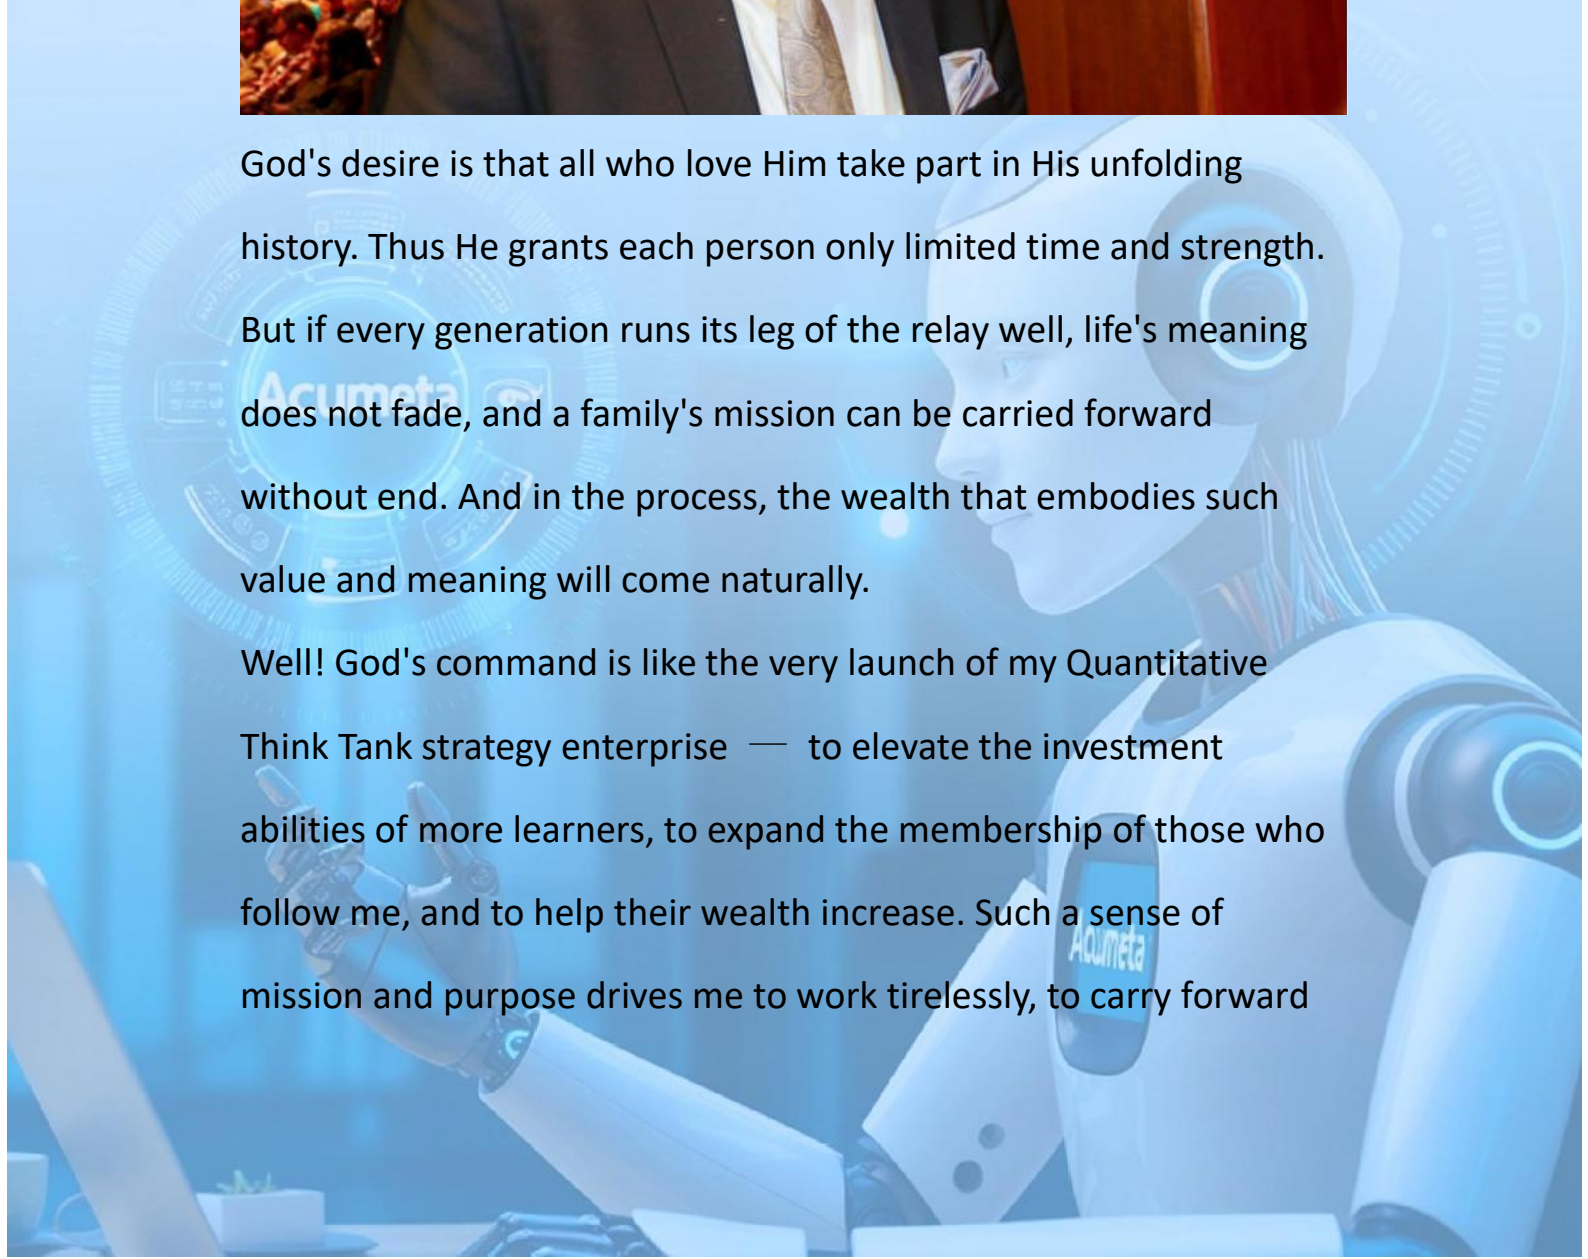

Indeed, God's will is not that a single person, no matter how well they serve, should go on forever.

God's desire is that all who love Him take part in His unfolding history. Thus He grants each person only limited time and strength. But if every generation runs its leg of the relay well, life's meaning does not fade, and a family's mission can be carried forward without end. And in the process, the wealth that embodies such value and meaning will come naturally.

Well! God's command is like the very launch of my Quantitative Think Tank strategy enterprise — to elevate the investment abilities of more learners, to expand the membership of those who follow me, and to help their wealth increase. Such a sense of mission and purpose drives me to work tirelessly, to carry forward and share this very gospel!

Looking back on life's journey, whether in our later years or still in mid-life, we each carry our own reflections and unfinished goals.

For me, what moves me most is surely the family mission that continues, the creation of enduring wealth, and the struggle at the forefront of currency surfing — all for the sake of elevating the family's standing and building an inheritance of lasting wealth.

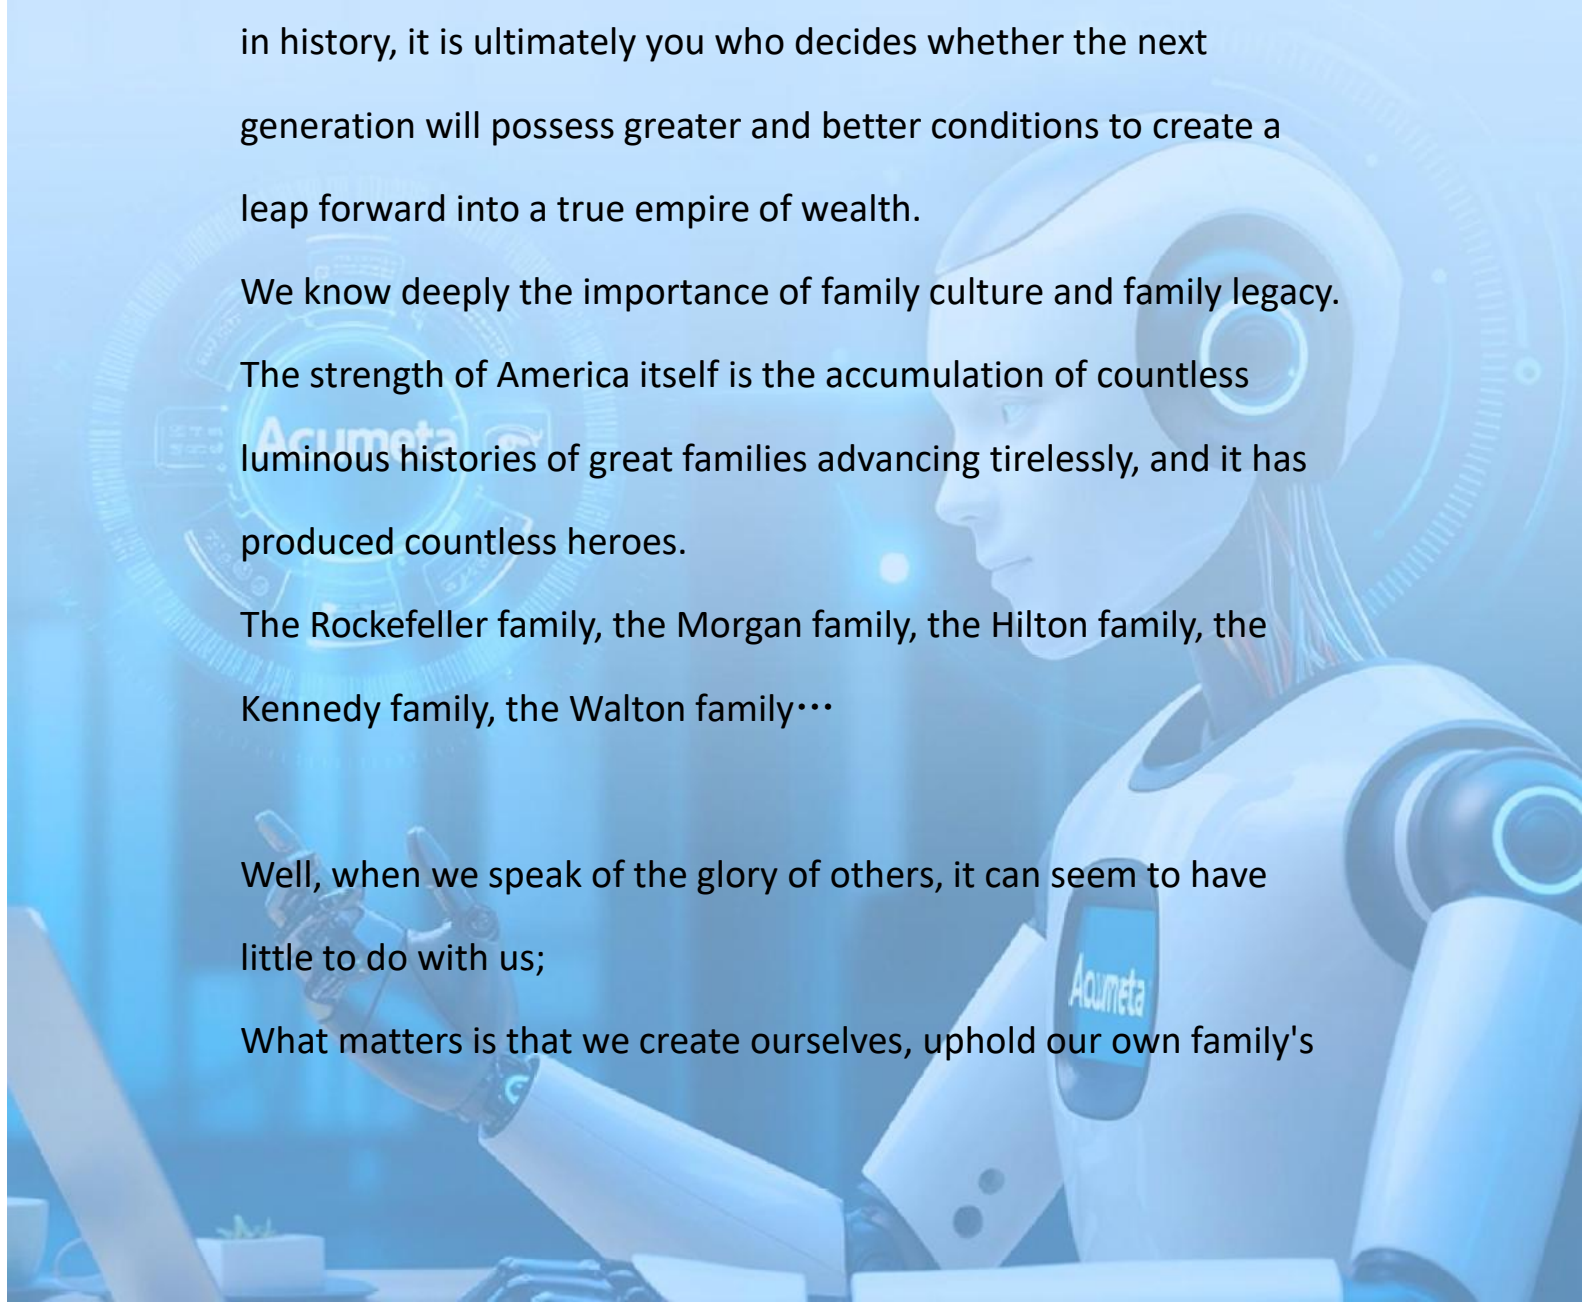

As the present generation, regardless of your family's current place in history, it is ultimately you who decides whether the next generation will possess greater and better conditions to create a leap forward into a true empire of wealth.

We know deeply the importance of family culture and family legacy. The strength of America itself is the accumulation of countless luminous histories of great families advancing tirelessly, and it has produced countless heroes.

The Rockefeller family, the Morgan family, the Hilton family, the Kennedy family, the Walton family...

Well, when we speak of the glory of others, it can seem to have little to do with us;

What matters is that we create ourselves, uphold our own family's reputation, and elevate our family's standing. Perhaps we are the very first generation of wealth creators in our lineage, and that, in itself, is proof of the importance of our value and position.

We regard the family as a sanctuary of wealth. The support and trust among family members help one another overcome challenges in difficult times and ensure the continuity of wealth.

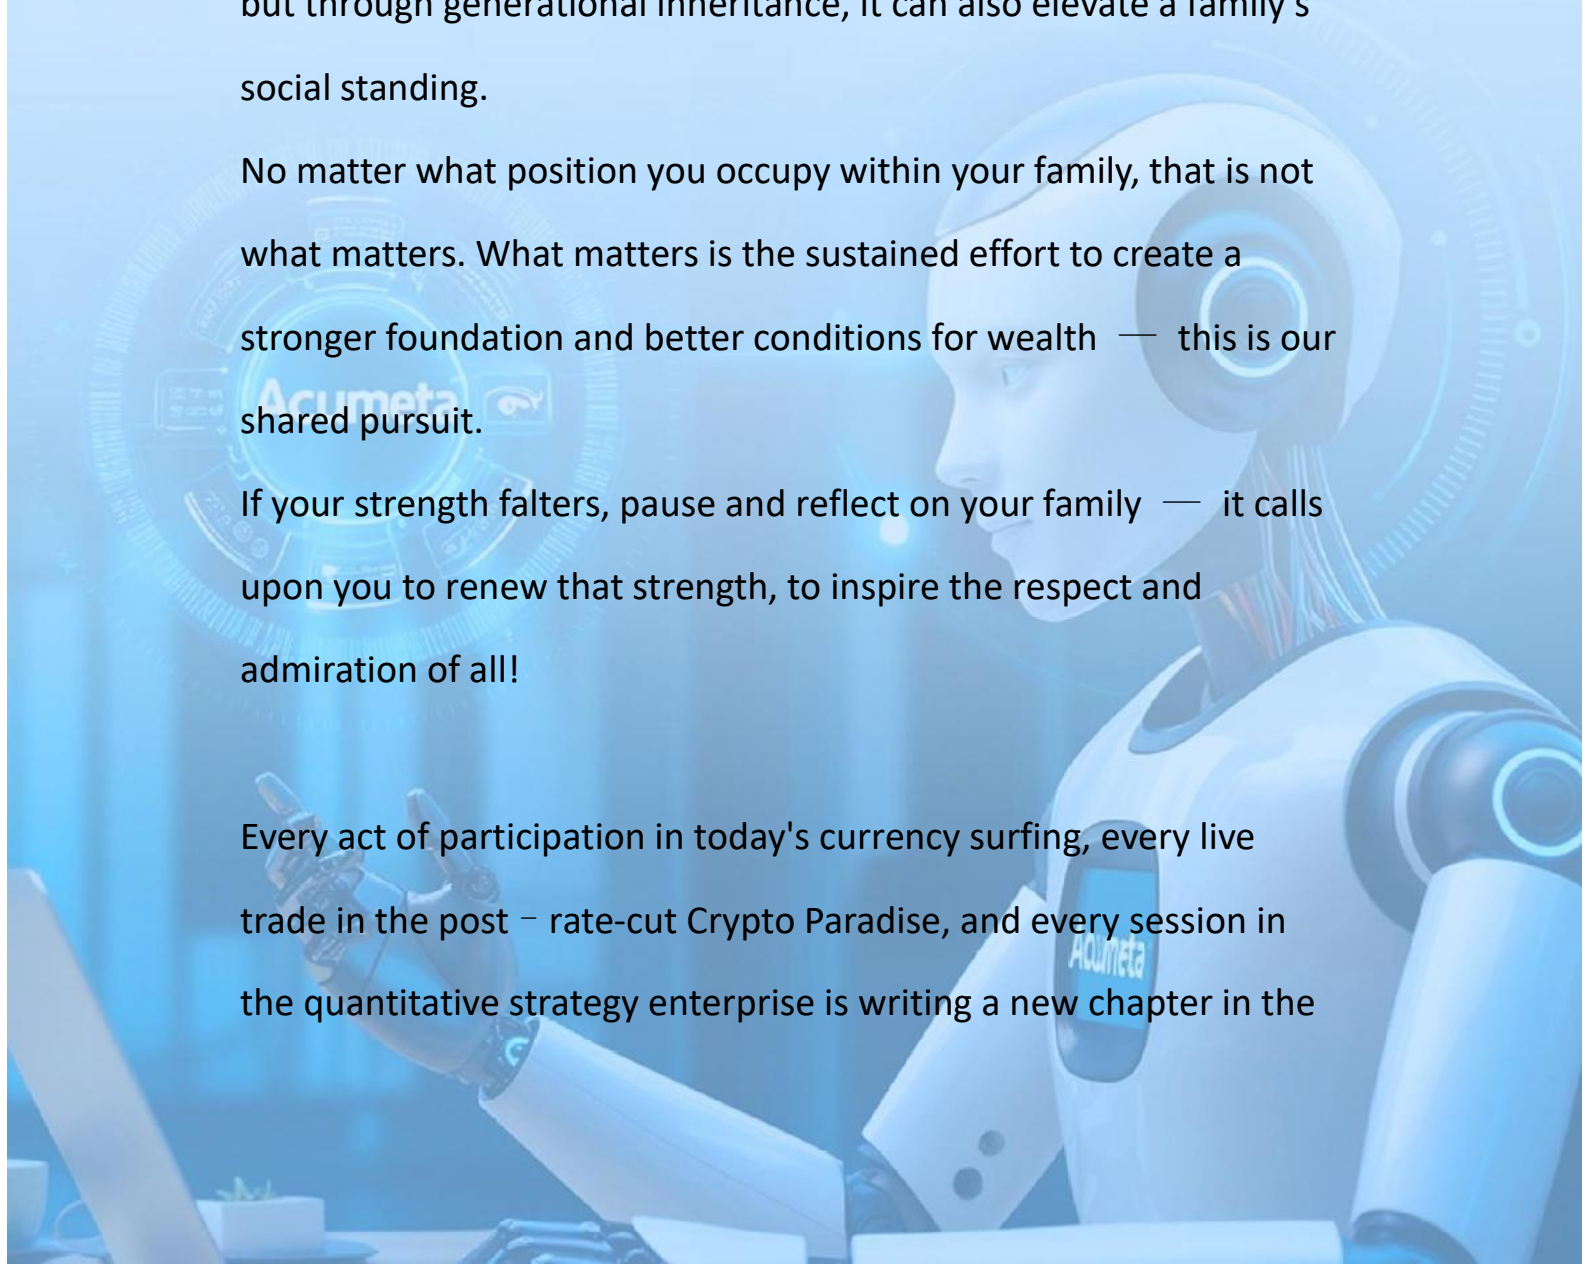

This culture encourages family members to protect and enhance the family's wealth together;

The accumulation of wealth not only brings material abundance, but through generational inheritance, it can also elevate a family's social standing.

No matter what position you occupy within your family, that is not what matters. What matters is the sustained effort to create a stronger foundation and better conditions for wealth — this is our shared pursuit.

If your strength falters, pause and reflect on your family — it calls upon you to renew that strength, to inspire the respect and admiration of all!

Every act of participation in today's currency surfing, every live trade in the post – rate-cut Crypto Paradise, and every session in the quantitative strategy enterprise is writing a new chapter in the story of your family's legacy;

By Wednesday's stock market close, we have once again entered the trading period dominated by crypto. Whether you are just returning home or preparing to head out to an evening party, your time and space are filled with the determination to extend the appreciation of your wealth. You long to turn more of your time into a log of money being generated. You hope to receive this share of God's favor — and so you prepare diligently, seeking to bring greater capital into your currency surfing account, transforming small, fragile funds into an [advantageous position], like a towering tree.

With that tree comes shelter, currency surfing becomes calm and assured, profits climb steadily upward. This "tree of assets" shields you from the scorching sun and the mist of rain, allowing your life to unfold as if in leisurely moments. You step into a new world, ascending to a new height of existence, this is the allure of money!

Just as when I first founded the Quantitative Think Tank Center, my only wish was that the sharing of quantitative strategies might reach a level sufficient to support the family. As the enterprise developed, I came to realize that making money was merely incidental. The true value of life's struggle is often shaped by one's users. When my users told me that the investment knowledge I shared had reshaped their portfolios, improved their profits, and provided practical methods for wealth appreciation, I felt an endless surge of strength within me. That was trust, affirmation, the voice of life's value being recognized.

And so I created the Acumeta fintech tool project, hoping to expand my value and influence through it.

Looking back at that first decision, here and now, I cannot say I have already succeeded completely. But at the very least, every profit we earn from currency surfing stands as a record of Acumeta's contribution. Its progress, its improved inference capabilities, its foundational models — all began with me.

Of course, none of this would be possible without each and every Acumeta player, and yes, I mean you, pals!

The currency surfing trading signals driven by Acumeta draw their continuous strength and ongoing optimization from the capital source of my Quantitative Think Tank Center's token, FGT.

Well, you may have overlooked its presence. Recently, thanks to Acumeta's outstanding performance, from the Nonfarm Wealth Week to the [doubling every trade] successes of the Quantitative Winners Legion — it has attracted the attention of institutional funds as well as global digital asset players. This influx of capital has fueled its price increase, which has now risen above 2 USDC.

The continued expansion of the token's financing scale means we will have more resources to support Acumeta's long-term optimization and upgrades. Whether it be hardware renewal, software refinement, or the enhancement of error-correction capabilities, each step strengthens our confidence as never before.

Naturally, members holding the token are now embracing this historic wave of gains. In the midst of this momentum, it is the holders — especially the long-term holders — who will become the new winners of the future. You have witnessed it firsthand; you understand Acumeta's value, both for individual investors and for institutions. Once Acumeta goes public this December, a further surge of the token's price beyond 6 USDC is inevitable.

So, how many FGT tokens do you still hold? And have you secured the benefits of upgraded membership?

In this wave of highly volatile currency surfing wealth, we undoubtedly hold the opportunity to amplify profits.

Of course, this refers to members with [advantageous position] trading accounts. If your capital is too small, then when opportunities arise, you can only taste a little profit, like a small sweet morsel.

But imagine, is your life meant to be limited to just a small plate of sweets?

Absolutely not!

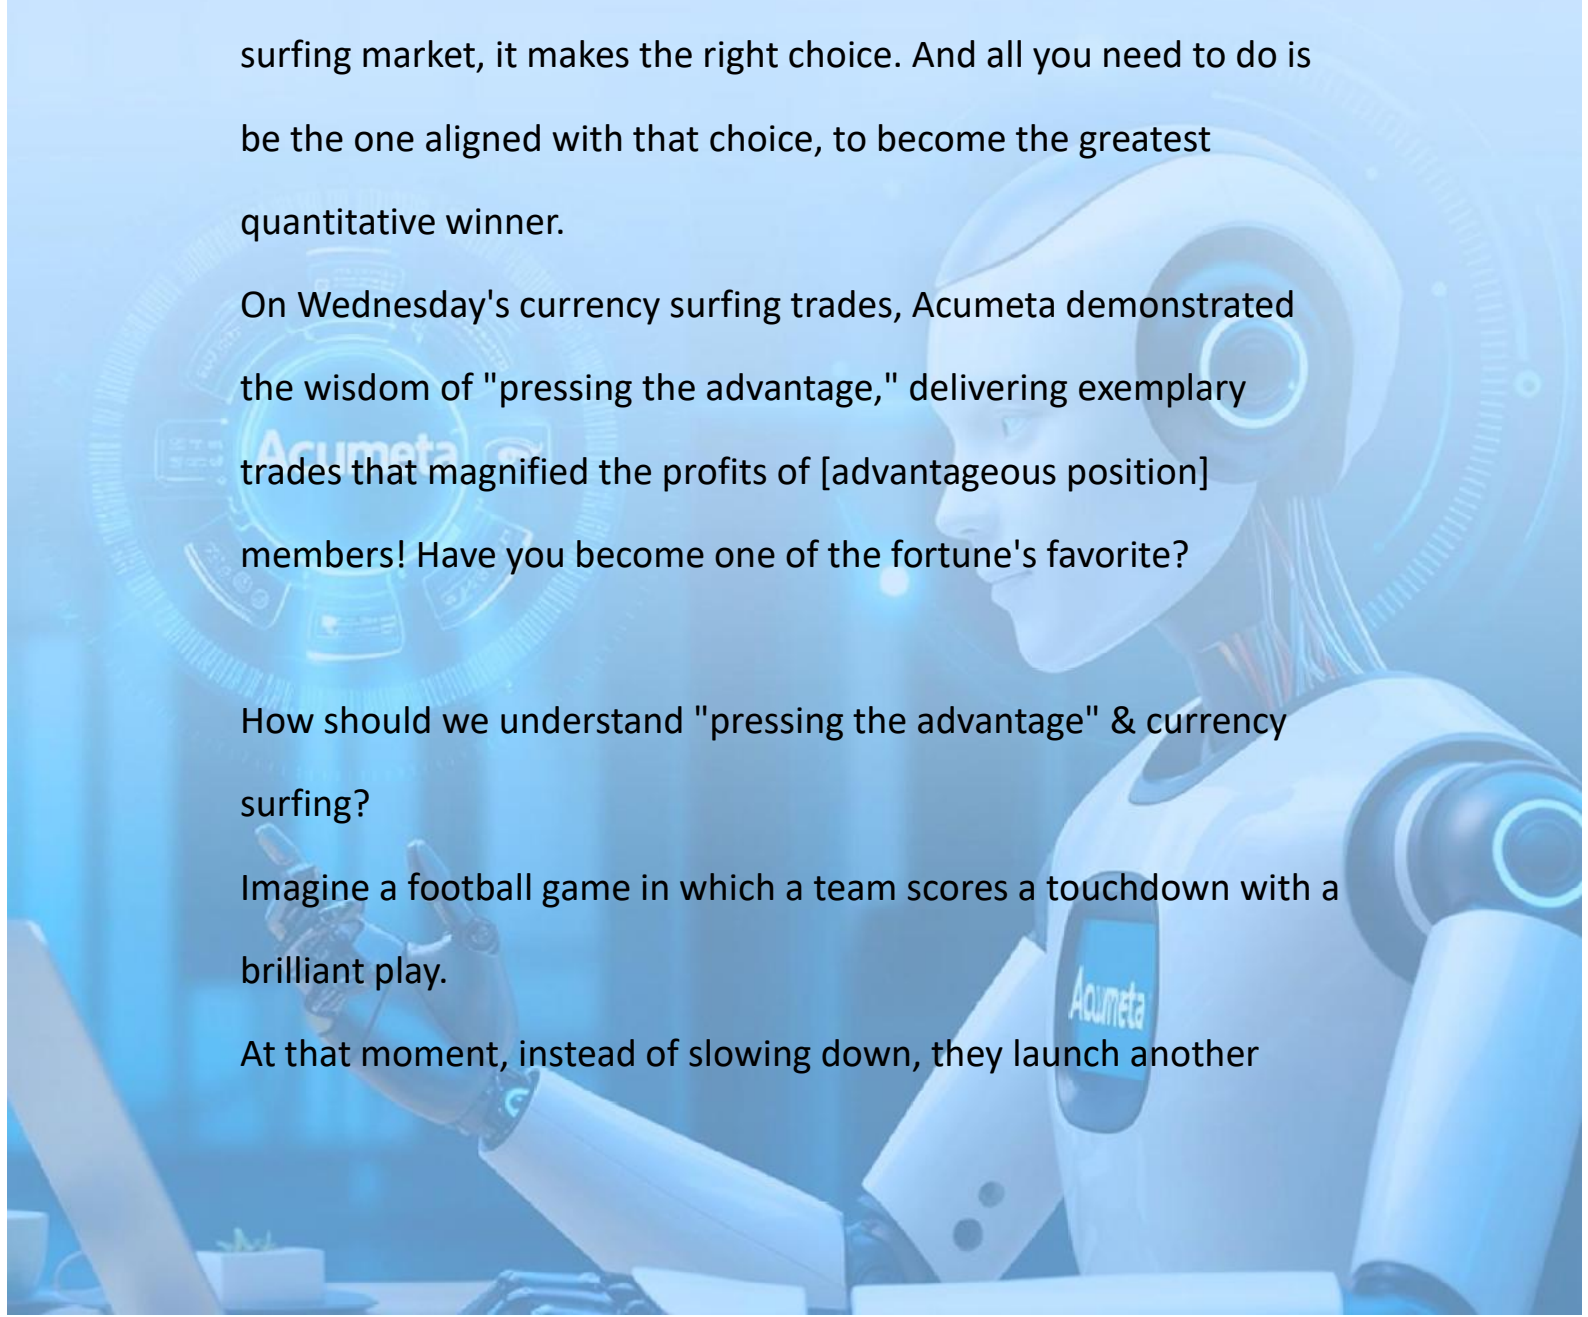

When Acumeta encounters a dynamic and compelling currency surfing market, it makes the right choice. And all you need to do is be the one aligned with that choice, to become the greatest quantitative winner.

On Wednesday's currency surfing trades, Acumeta demonstrated the wisdom of "pressing the advantage," delivering exemplary trades that magnified the profits of [advantageous position] members! Have you become one of the fortune's favorite?

How should we understand "pressing the advantage" & currency surfing?

Imagine a football game in which a team scores a touchdown with a brilliant play.

At that moment, instead of slowing down, they launch another quick attack while their opponent's morale is low, scoring again. This is the classic example of "pressing the advantage" The team does not give the opponent a chance to regroup, rather, it expands its lead through continuous offense.

In business, pressing the advantage is equally important.

For instance, when a startup launches a highly successful product and gains strong market recognition, if the company seizes the moment to quickly release an upgraded version or expand into new markets, it can solidify its lead and defeat competitors.

Conversely, if the company chooses to wait or hesitate, it risks losing that market opportunity.

In currency surfing, pressing the advantage means seizing the fast-moving opportunities that emerge in rapidly shifting volatility, and then amplifying your trading positions to capture greater profits;

Such opportunities in currency surfing are rare, and once they appear, they must be seized! In this way, you fortify your tower of profit!

So what kind of currency surfing trading member can truly become the "favored child of profit" by "pressing the advantage"?

You must first place your account capital at the [maximum advantage] scale. Only then, when opportunities appear unexpectedly and Acumeta issues a strong, effective signal, can you be the first to seize it.

If your account capital is too limited, Acumeta may advise you to focus on risk, causing you to miss the chance to increase your position. In the end, you can only settle for smaller profits, while members with [advantageous position] capital secure far greater returns. By comparison, this contrast can indeed leave you feeling uneasy, even unfairly treated!

But that is the reality, pressing the advantage means: precious timing, psychological edge, amplified profits.

You must be the one who adapts quickly to currency surfing, prepares your capital in advance, and seizes the profits of pressing the advantage — a true pioneer in the quest for treasure. Don't let yourself down, pal!

Seize the opportunity to upgrade into the Quantitative Winners Legion, and join the formal ranks of the [advantageous position] currency surfing team... contact my assistant now to help you complete your upgrade!

Charlie Munger: "Whatever you want in life, simply work hard to become worthy of it."

If today you want to see your total capital double, then you must commit sufficient capital with sincerity, ensuring that you are truly worthy of such returns from currency surfing trades.

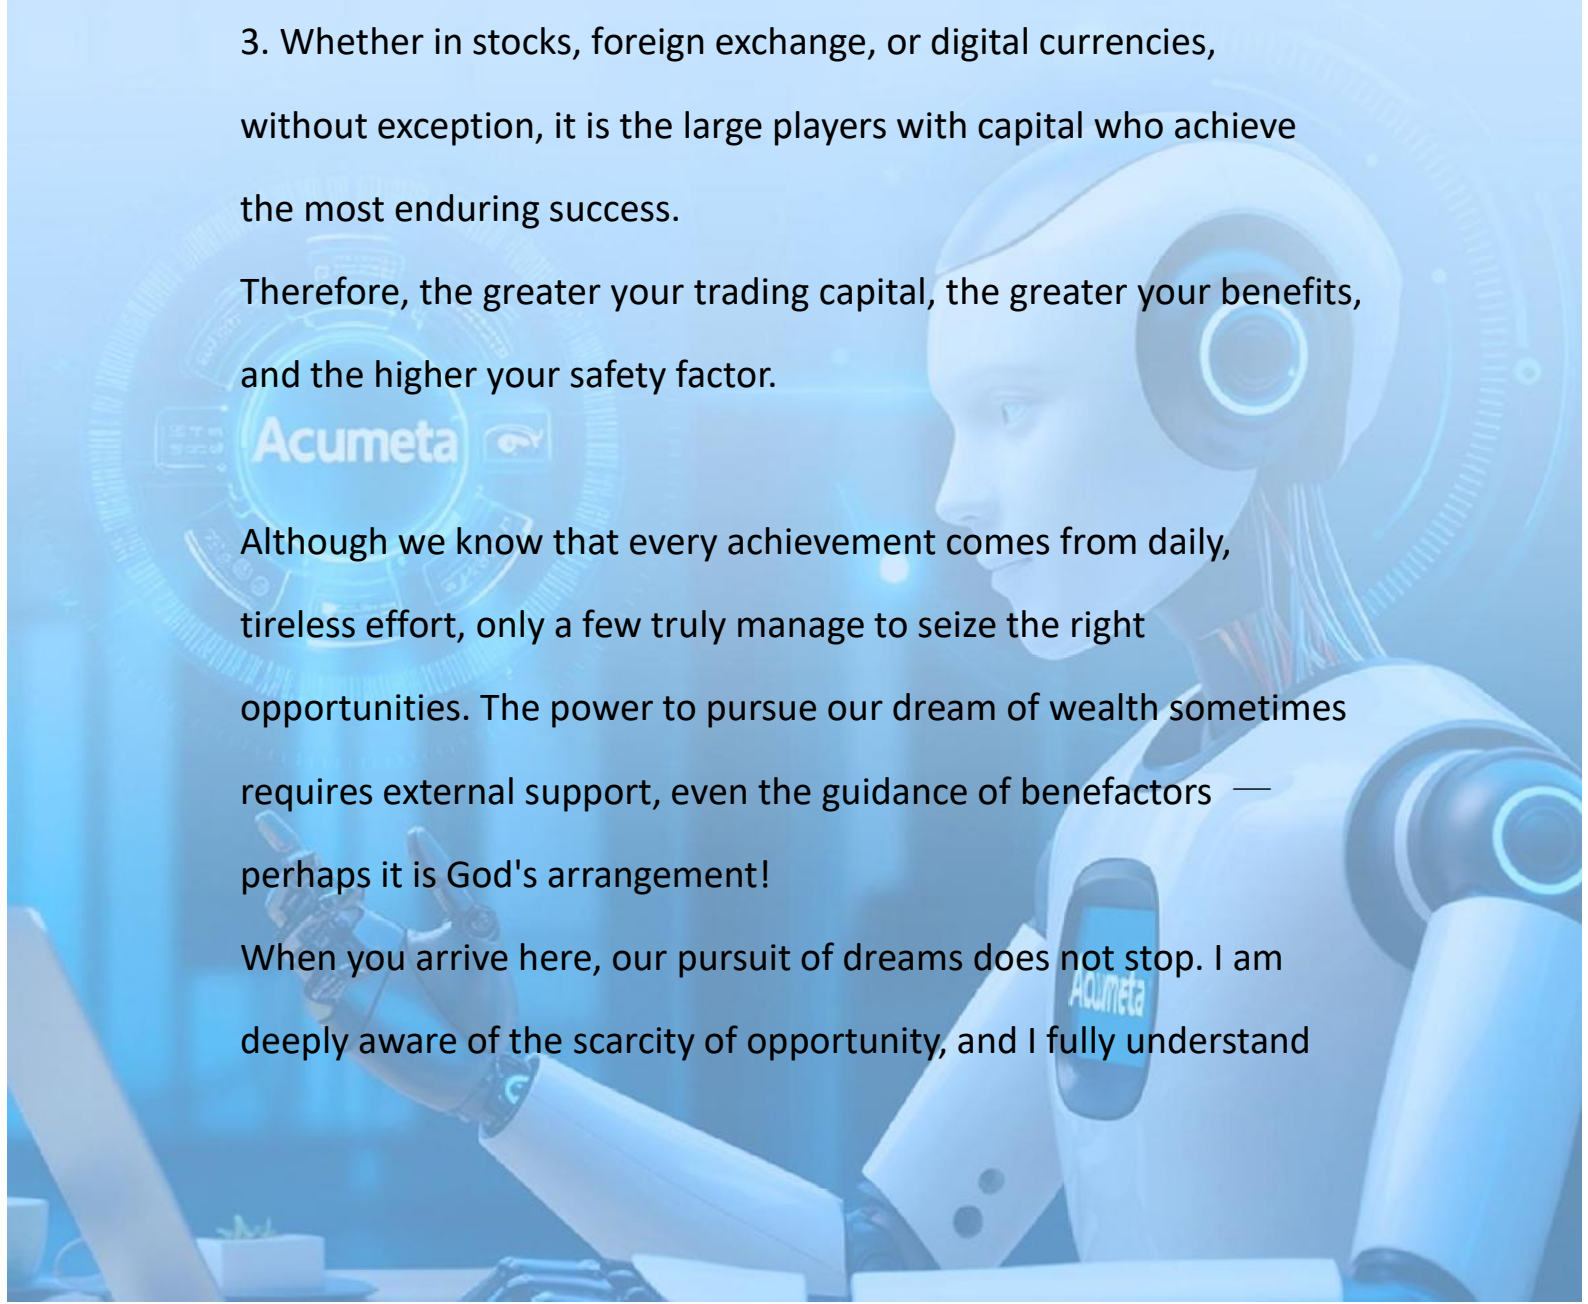

The benefits of an [advantageous position]:

1. It allows you to withstand larger market volatility without losses caused by fluctuations. This is what we call a higher safety factor.
2. It enables maximized returns, when the same market movements occur, it is always the larger capital that secures the greatest victories.
3. Whether in stocks, foreign exchange, or digital currencies, without exception, it is the large players with capital who achieve the most enduring success.

Therefore, the greater your trading capital, the greater your benefits, and the higher your safety factor.

Although we know that every achievement comes from daily, tireless effort, only a few truly manage to seize the right opportunities. The power to pursue our dream of wealth sometimes requires external support, even the guidance of benefactors — perhaps it is God's arrangement!

When you arrive here, our pursuit of dreams does not stop. I am deeply aware of the scarcity of opportunity, and I fully understand that market movements come with timing — marked by both chance and rarity.

Just as God did not always favor Soros: back in 1987, Soros suffered his own "Waterloo."

Speculation is like the law of the jungle in the animal world — it preys upon the weak, and this approach often proves unerringly effective.

Such was Soros's reflection when he rose again to glory.

Well, we must regard the [advantageous position] as the very embodiment of the lion in currency surfing. We focus on striking at the weaker players of the market, those without Acumeta's support, who are being eliminated by the forces of currency surfing, no matter if they come from across the globe, not just North America! Pal, may we, beneath the beautiful night of Wednesday, meet again tomorrow in a renewed position of strength. And may the glorious chapters of your family be filled with the story of our shared struggle!
