Ladies and gentlemen, joyful currency surfers:

Today marks an important moment in October— Thursday, as BTC quickly rebounds, we now stand at the very edge of a "Super Signal" being born.

Do you know something?

The market never announces, "I'm about to skyrocket."

It only gathers strength quietly, in the calm before the storm.

And today, you can almost feel that tension humming in the air.

So, what is a "super signal"?

It's not just another trading signal.

It is a force, one powerful enough to generate 300% to 500% returns in a single round of currency surfing.

But the condition is clear:

you must complete your membership upgrade this week.

Only when your strategic system, position structure, and execution level are fully elevated, will you gain access to these signals.

In other words—opportunity always favors those who are prepared, not those who hesitate.

Over the past few months, we've seen the same story play out again and again.

Some people panic and exit during a market downturn, while the members of the Winners Legion quietly add to their positions at the bottom, diversify steadily, and then become the first to seize opportunity when the market reverses.

That's not luck, that's the power of strategy.

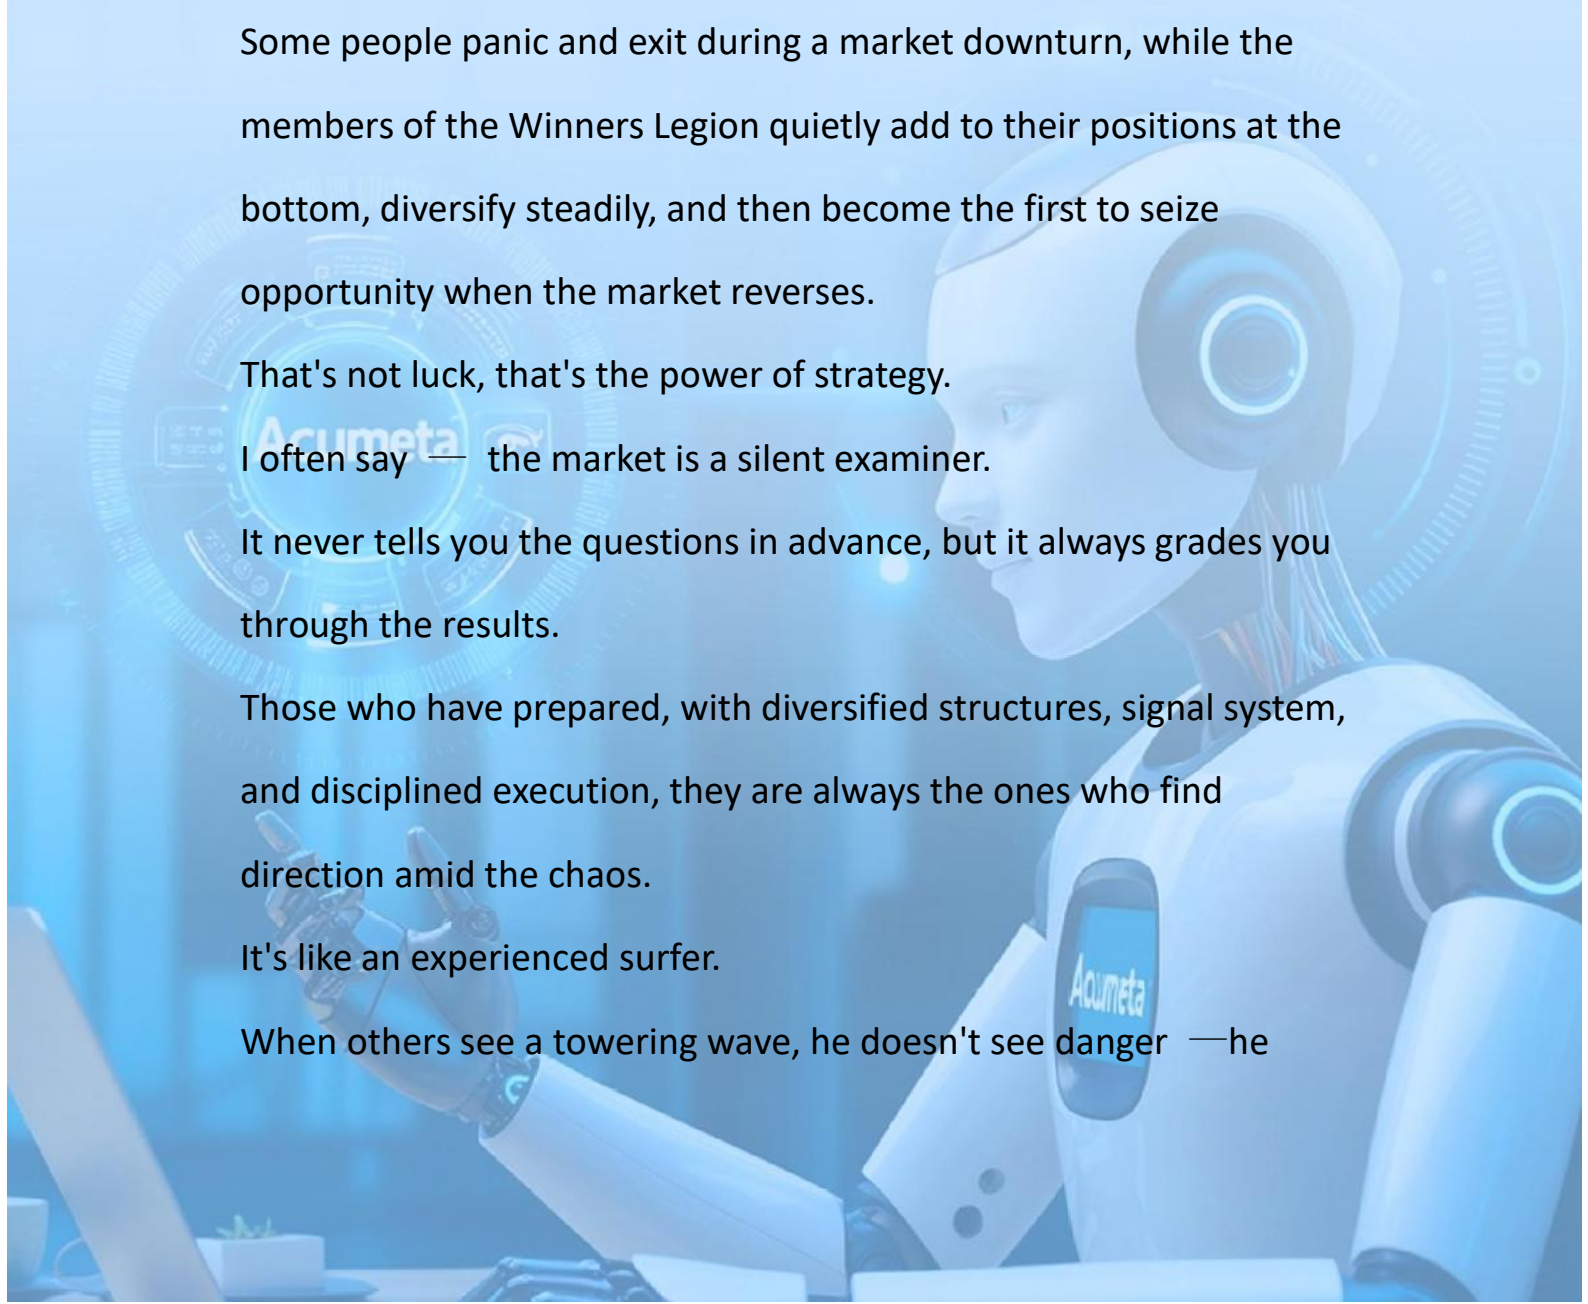

I often say — the market is a silent examiner.

It never tells you the questions in advance, but it always grades you through the results.

Those who have prepared, with diversified structures, signal system, and disciplined execution, they are always the ones who find direction amid the chaos.

It's like an experienced surfer.

When others see a towering wave, he doesn't see danger —he sees rhythm.

Because he knows that as long as his stance is right, no matter how big the wave is, it becomes the force that carries him forward.

And that, is the spirit of currency surfing:

Don't fear the wave, fear being unprepared.

The Fed's policy path is becoming increasingly clear — the trend toward monetary easing is irreversible.

And the direction of capital flow is the direction of wealth redistribution.

You'll notice the sharp ones are already shifting positions —from observers to actors;

from retail traders to strategic executors; from "being moved by the market" to "setting its rhythm"

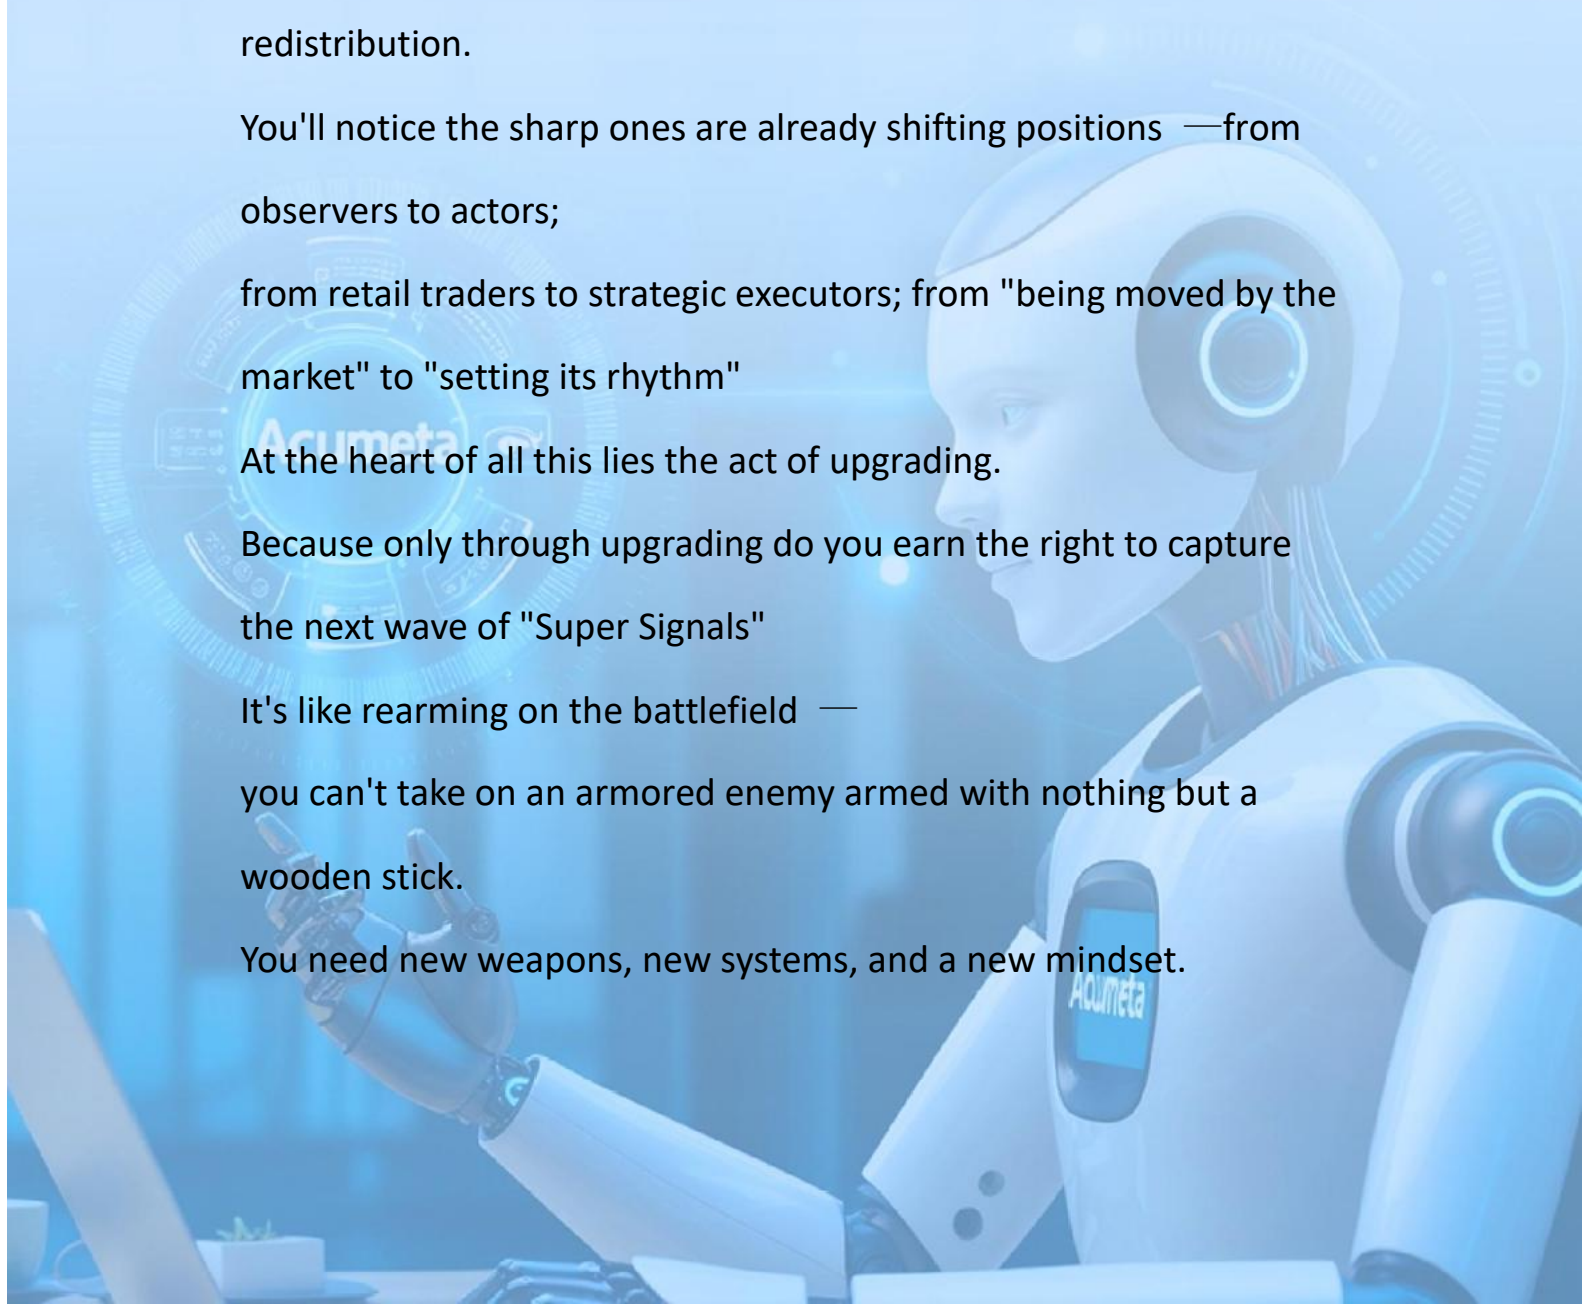

At the heart of all this lies the act of upgrading.

Because only through upgrading do you earn the right to capture the next wave of "Super Signals"

It's like rearming on the battlefield — you can't take on an armored enemy armed with nothing but a wooden stick.

You need new weapons, new systems, and a new mindset.

Some people ask, "I'm already making a profit, why should I upgrade?"

Because you're not ordinary. You carry a rare quality—the desire to win, and the soul of a hero.

You can't be satisfied with the gains right in front of you, nor content with the fleeting thrill of small victories.

What you seek is to leave your mark, to carve out your own legend in the great game of capital that defines this era.

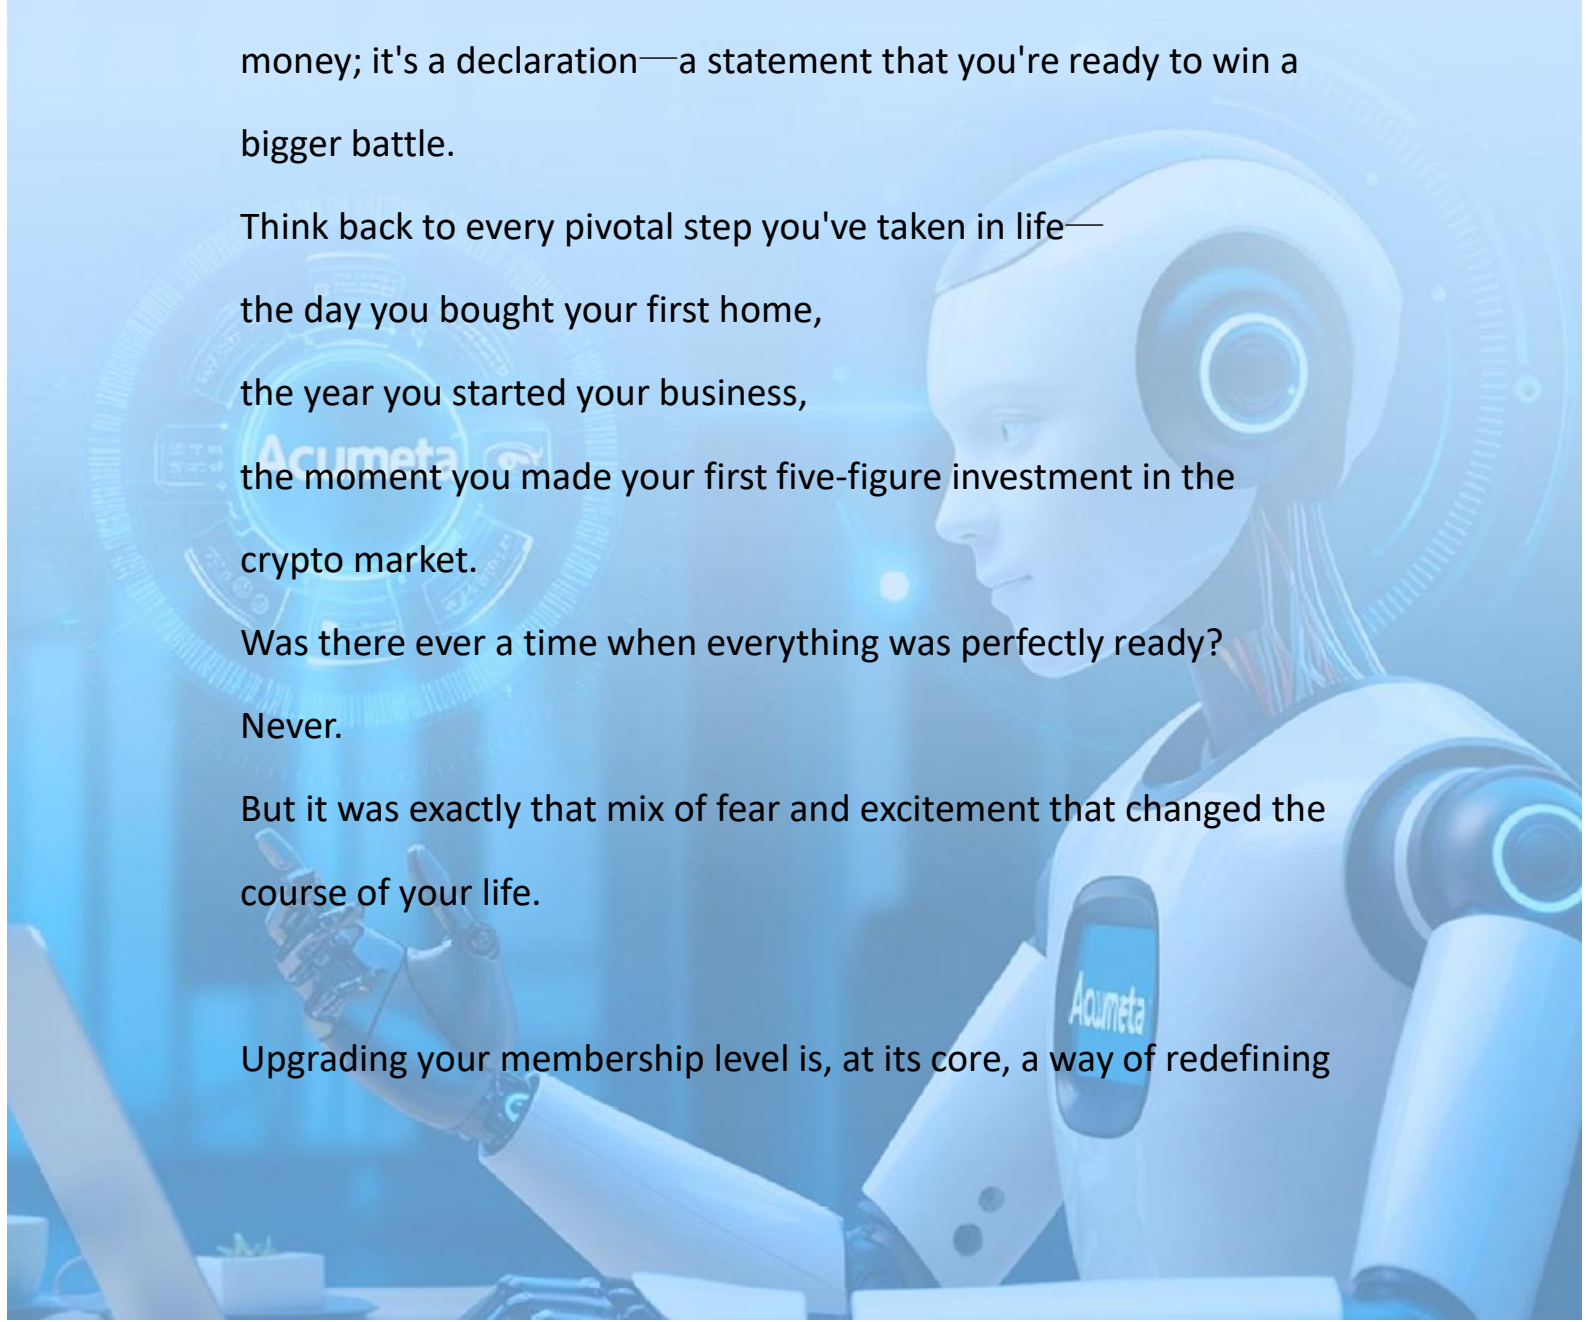

And that brings us to the core truth: upgrading isn't about spending money; it's a declaration—a statement that you're ready to win a bigger battle.

Think back to every pivotal step you've taken in life—the day you bought your first home, the year you started your business, the moment you made your first five-figure investment in the crypto market.

Was there ever a time when everything was perfectly ready? Never.

But it was exactly that mix of fear and excitement that changed the course of your life.

Upgrading your membership level is, at its core, a way of redefining

It's not just a change in numbers, it's an expansion of your mindset and ambition.

When you choose to top up and upgrade, what you're really saying to yourself is:

"I don't just want to make some money, I want the power to win the future."

And behind that choice lies a deeper force — the spirit of a hero.

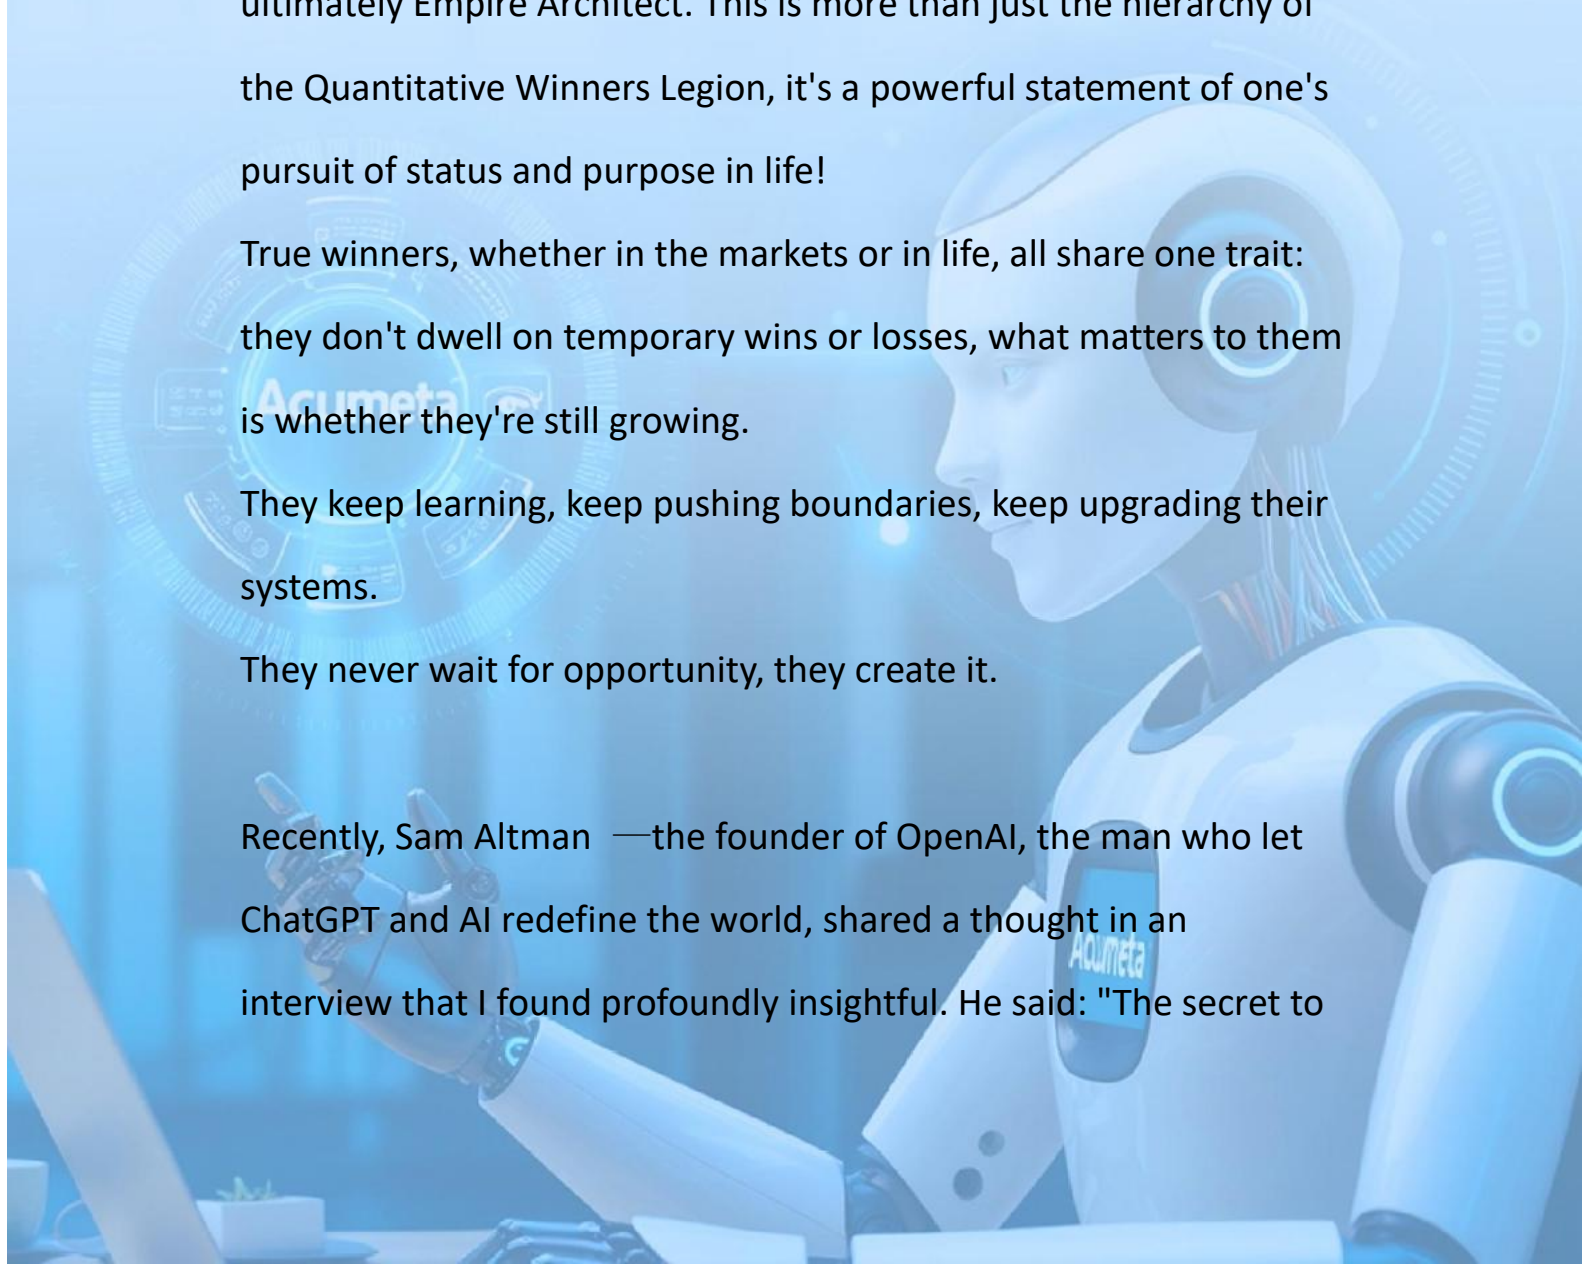

From Explorer to Quantitative Pioneer, to Strategy Master, and ultimately Empire Architect. This is more than just the hierarchy of the Quantitative Winners Legion, it's a powerful statement of one's pursuit of status and purpose in life!

True winners, whether in the markets or in life, all share one trait: they don't dwell on temporary wins or losses, what matters to them is whether they're still growing.

They keep learning, keep pushing boundaries, keep upgrading their systems.

They never wait for opportunity, they create it.

Recently, Sam Altman —the founder of OpenAI, the man who let ChatGPT and AI redefine the world, shared a thought in an interview that I found profoundly insightful. He said: "The secret to success is really just making the simplest decisions, filtering out the noise, and taking consistent action."

Have you noticed? The more seasoned an investor becomes, the less they're swayed by surface-level noise.

Whether the market is soaring or crashing, they don't let emotions dictate their moves.

They ask only one question: "Is the core logic still sound? If it is, keep going."

That is Altman's formula for success — simple, focused, and relentlessly executed.

In quantitative investing, in currency surfing, and in every new coin subscription opportunity, we are, in fact, making the same kind of decision.

Sometimes, what you're deciding on isn't just a project, it's the posture with which you live your life.

For example, you see BTC pulling back, you see the new coin ASYN heating up, you see Acumeta's system signals flashing —what's your first reaction?

Is it hesitation? Waiting? Or immediate action?

That's the difference. True winners aren't trapped in overthinking, they know that complex analysis is often just procrastination in disguise.

They understand that action is the only real form of validation.

As Altman said: "You only need a vision, and then you keep correcting your mistakes through action."

See, that's the true mindset of success.

It's not about predicting the future, it's about embracing correction;
it's not about chasing perfection, it's about letting action create perfection.

And just like Altman said —

the most expensive cost in the world is hesitation.

Those who truly succeed aren't always the smartest, they're the ones who start early, keep moving, and never stop refining their path.

Let's bring the focus back to investing.

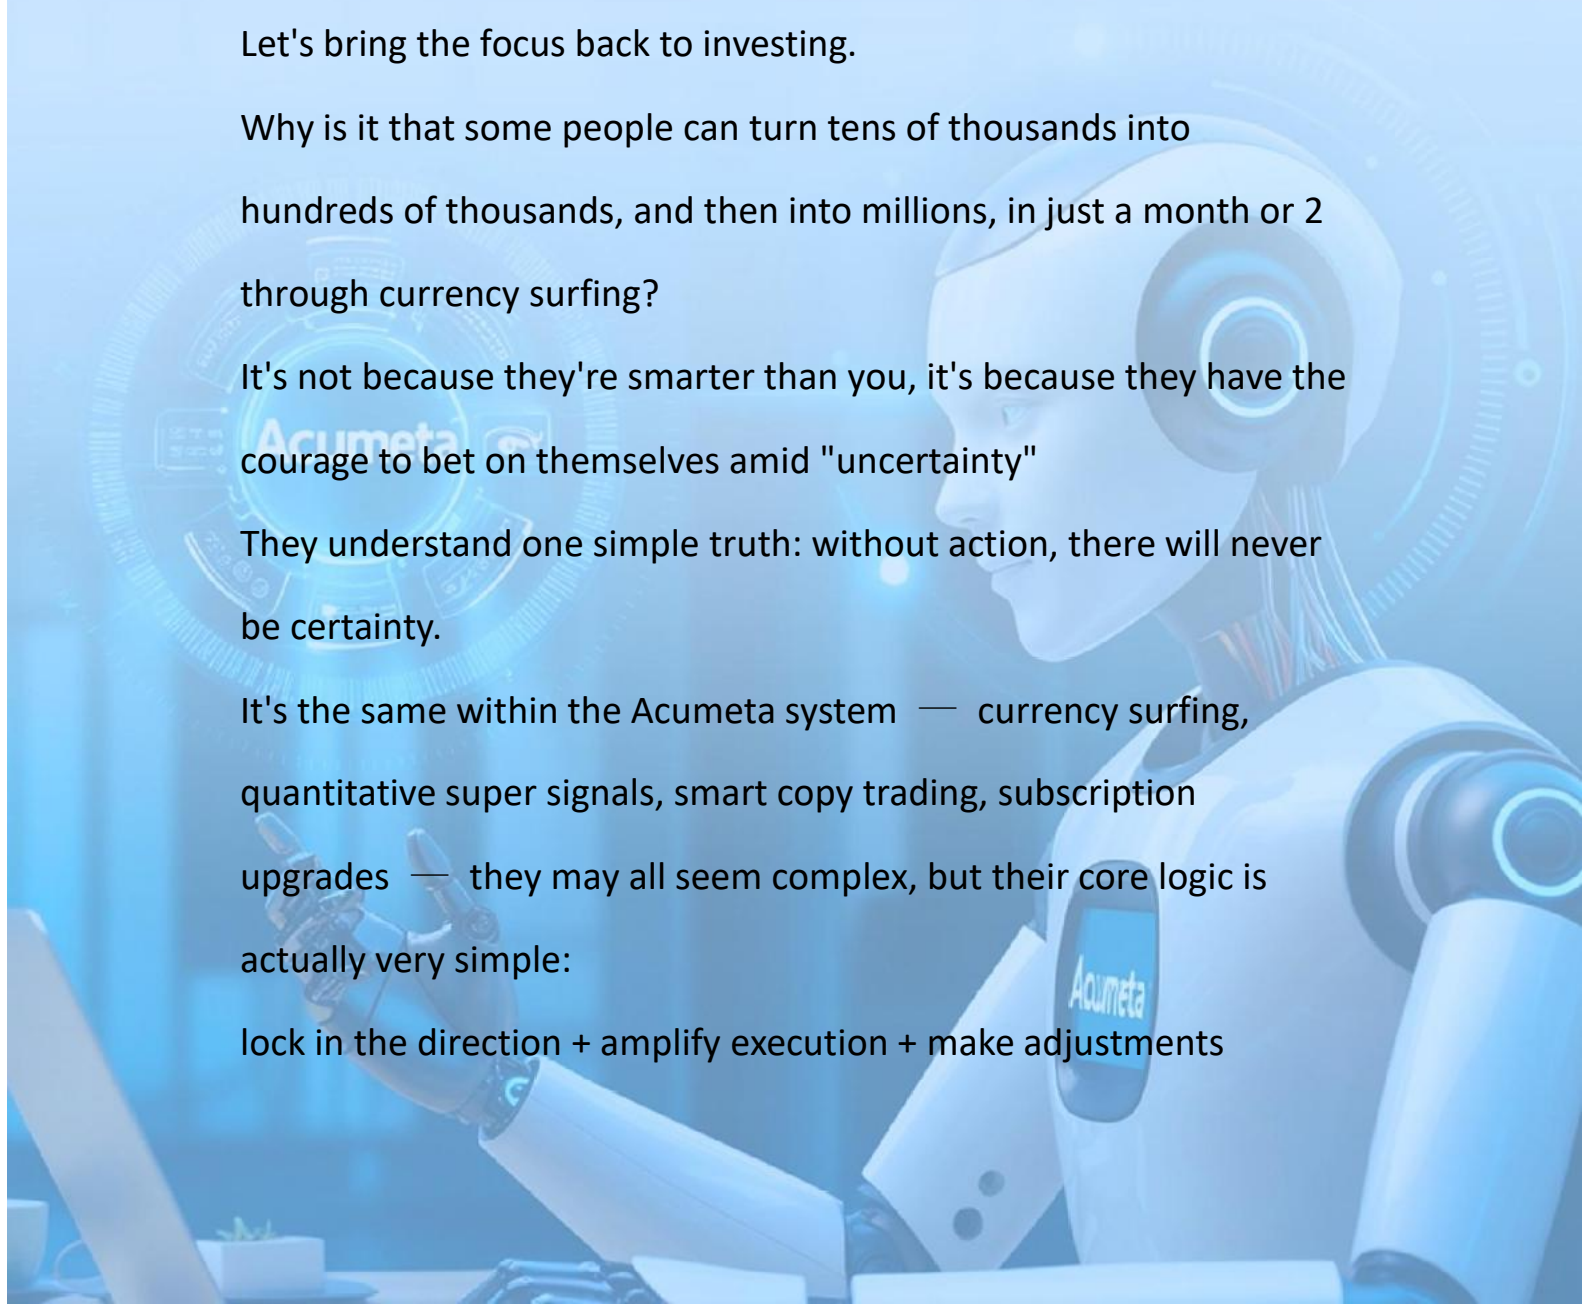

Why is it that some people can turn tens of thousands into hundreds of thousands, and then into millions, in just a month or 2 through currency surfing?

It's not because they're smarter than you, it's because they have the courage to bet on themselves amid "uncertainty"

They understand one simple truth: without action, there will never be certainty.

It's the same within the Acumeta system — currency surfing, quantitative super signals, smart copy trading, subscription upgrades — they may all seem complex, but their core logic is actually very simple:

lock in the direction + amplify execution + make adjustments

And these 3 points perfectly align with Altman's formula for success.

So you see, the mindset of top AI innovators and that of top investors follow the same logic: simplicity, focus, and consistent action.

Have you noticed that every true moment of growth in life comes from a deliberate new beginning?

From the day you decided to go abroad, the day you switched to your first high-paying job, or the day you made your first digital asset investment... those moments when you felt a bit afraid yet still chose to move forward, those were the turning points that truly reshaped your life.

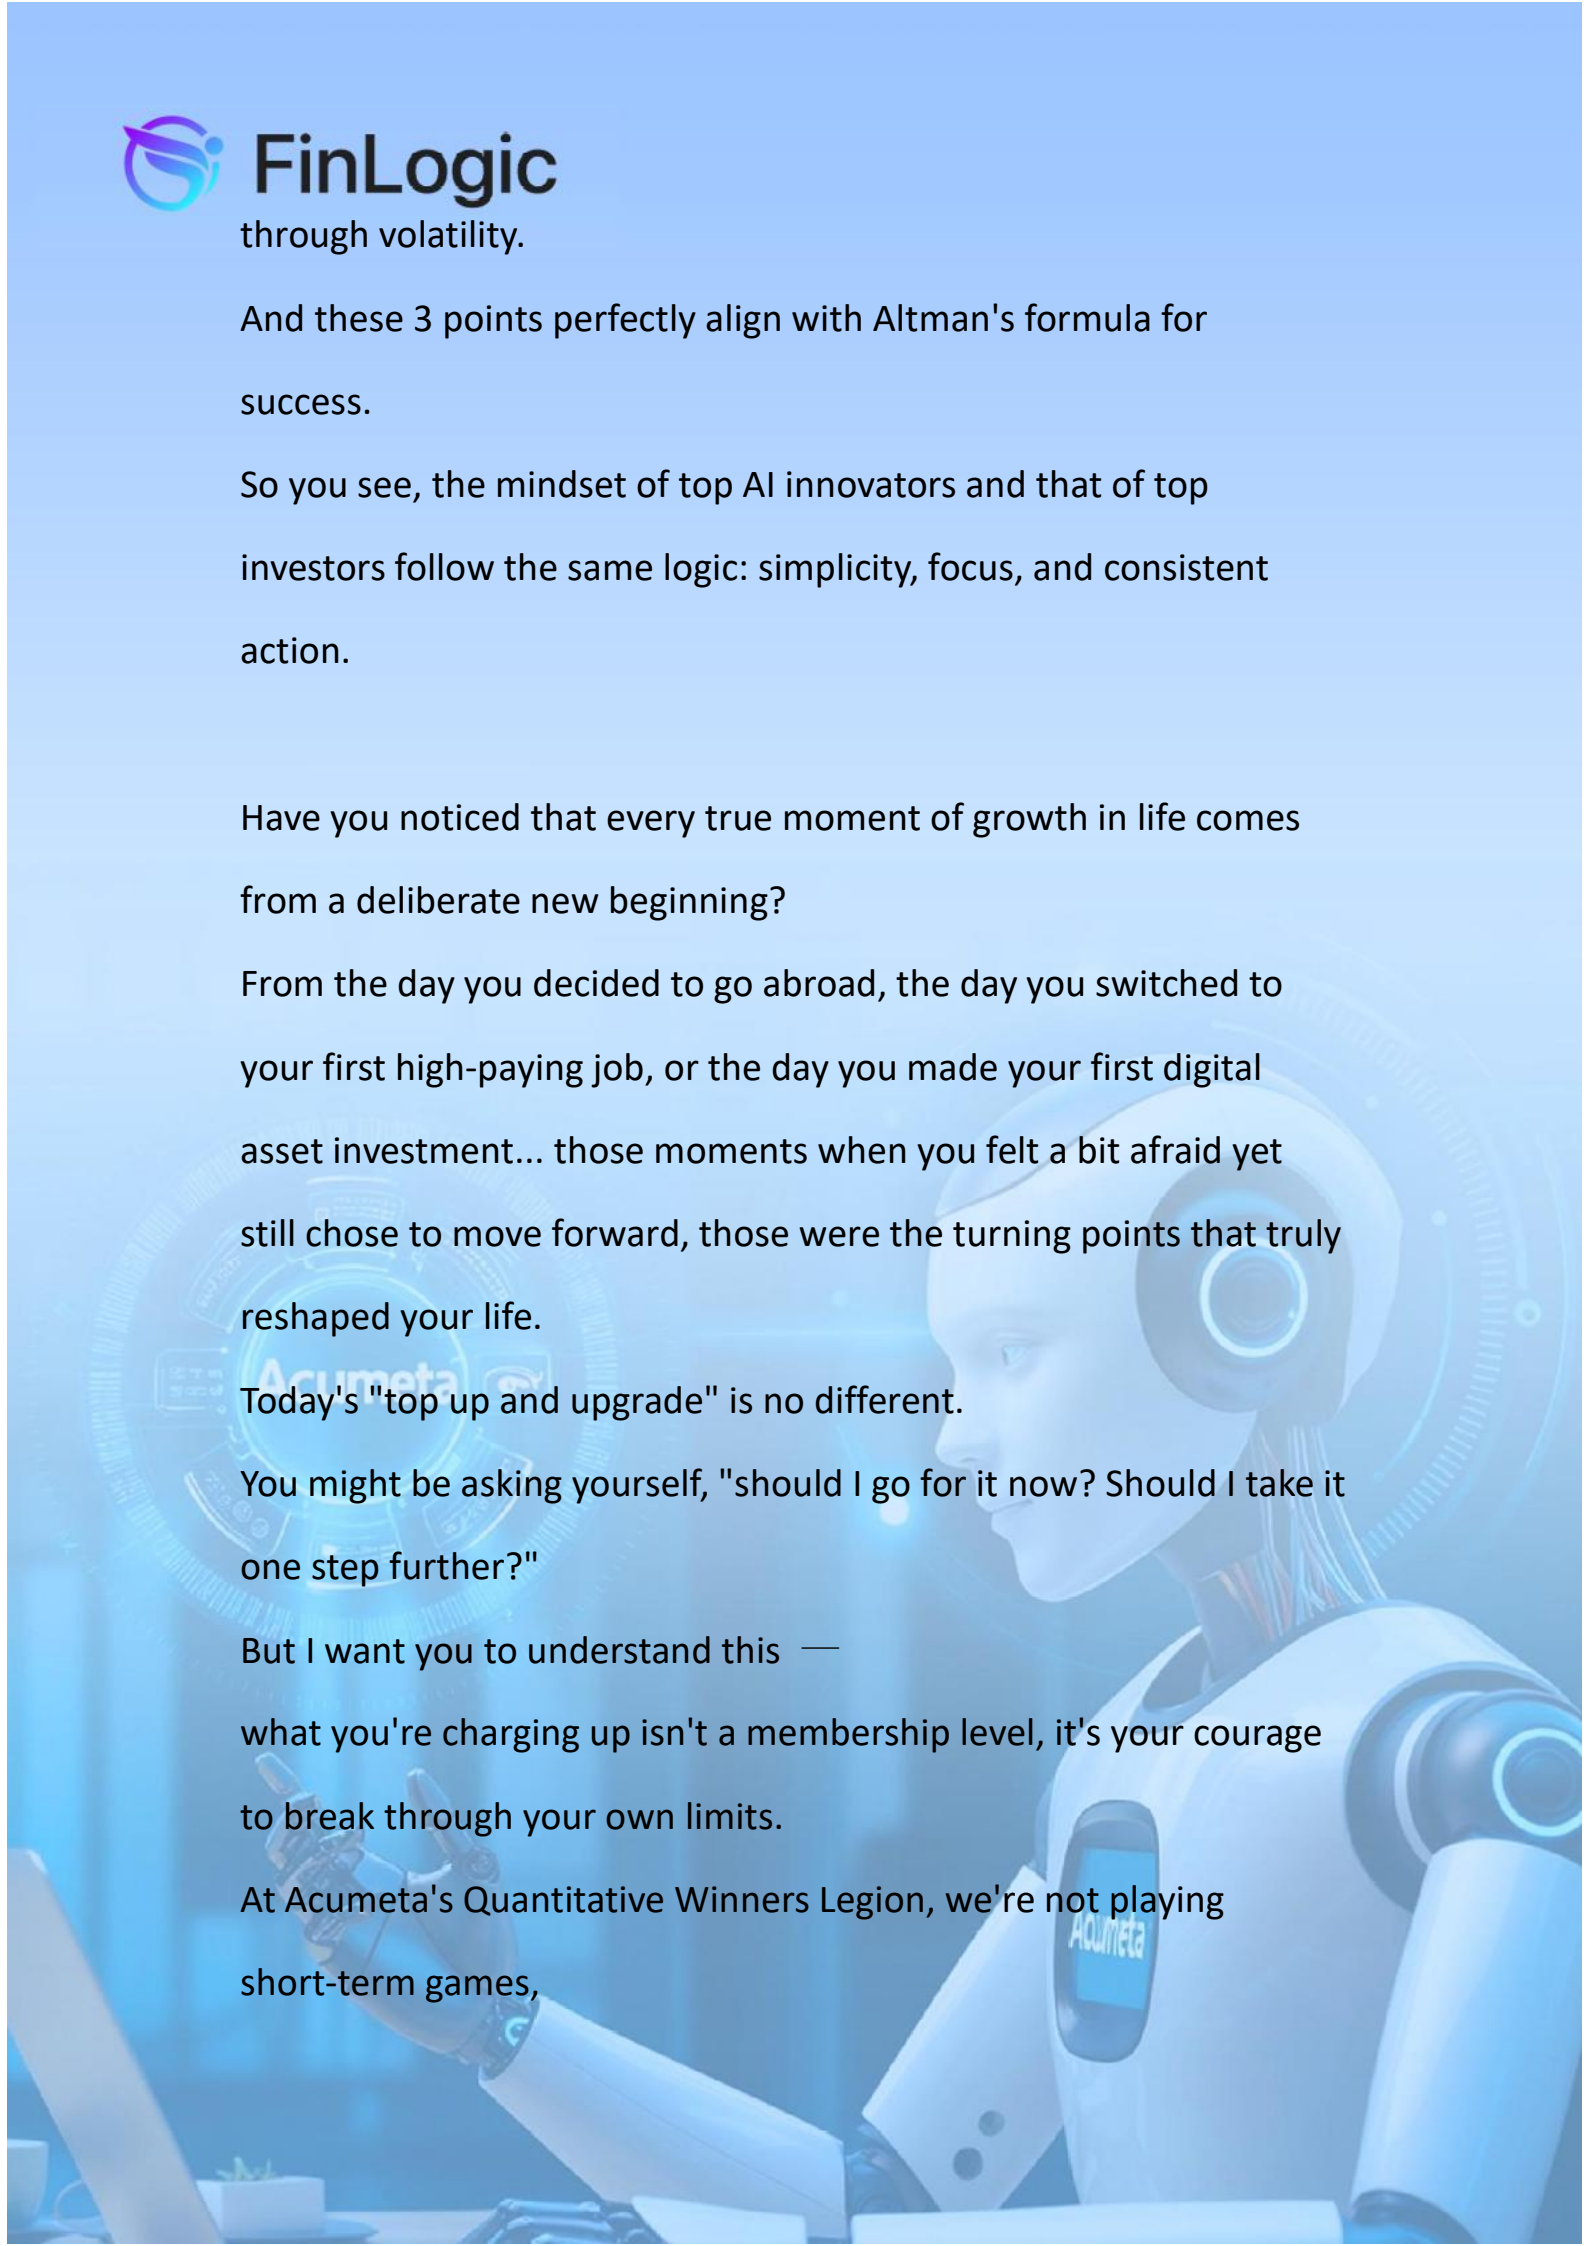

Today's "top up and upgrade" is no different.

You might be asking yourself, "should I go for it now? Should I take it one step further?"

But I want you to understand this — what you're charging up isn't a membership level, it's your courage to break through your own limits.

At Acumeta's Quantitative Winners Legion, we're not playing short-term games, we're building a community of true victors.

We believe that only those who dare to upgrade themselves can stand at the center of the stage in the next cycle of wealth creation.

So when you choose to top up and upgrade, do it with a hero's spirit, because this isn't just a technical advancement, it's a declaration of mindset:

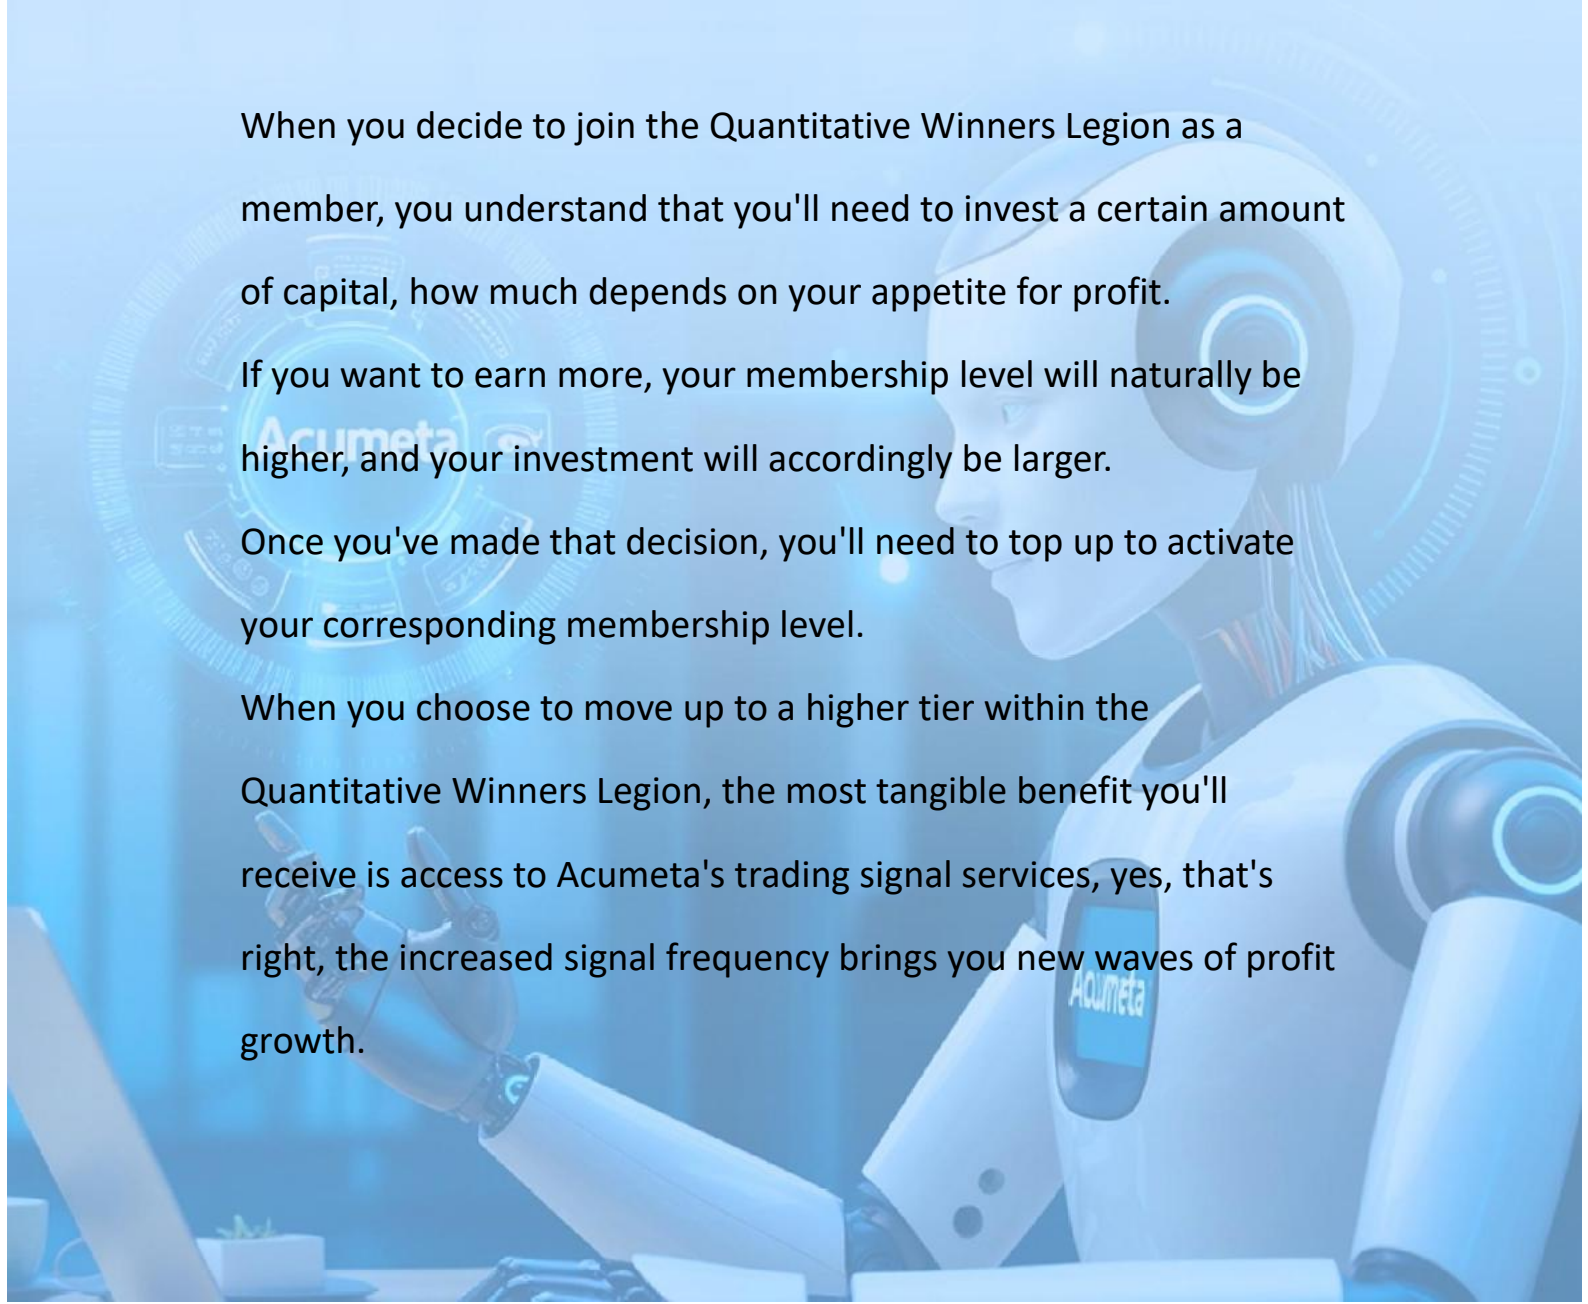

"I'm not satisfied being a spectator, I'm here to be the star of the show."

When you decide to join the Quantitative Winners Legion as a member, you understand that you'll need to invest a certain amount of capital, how much depends on your appetite for profit.

If you want to earn more, your membership level will naturally be higher, and your investment will accordingly be larger.

Once you've made that decision, you'll need to top up to activate your corresponding membership level.

When you choose to move up to a higher tier within the Quantitative Winners Legion, the most tangible benefit you'll receive is access to Acumeta's trading signal services, yes, that's right, the increased signal frequency brings you new waves of profit growth.

Think about it, who stands to gain more — a member who trades 3 times/day, or one who trades 3 times/week?

The answer is obvious. It's the higher-frequency signals from Acumeta that hold the key to multiplying your wealth.

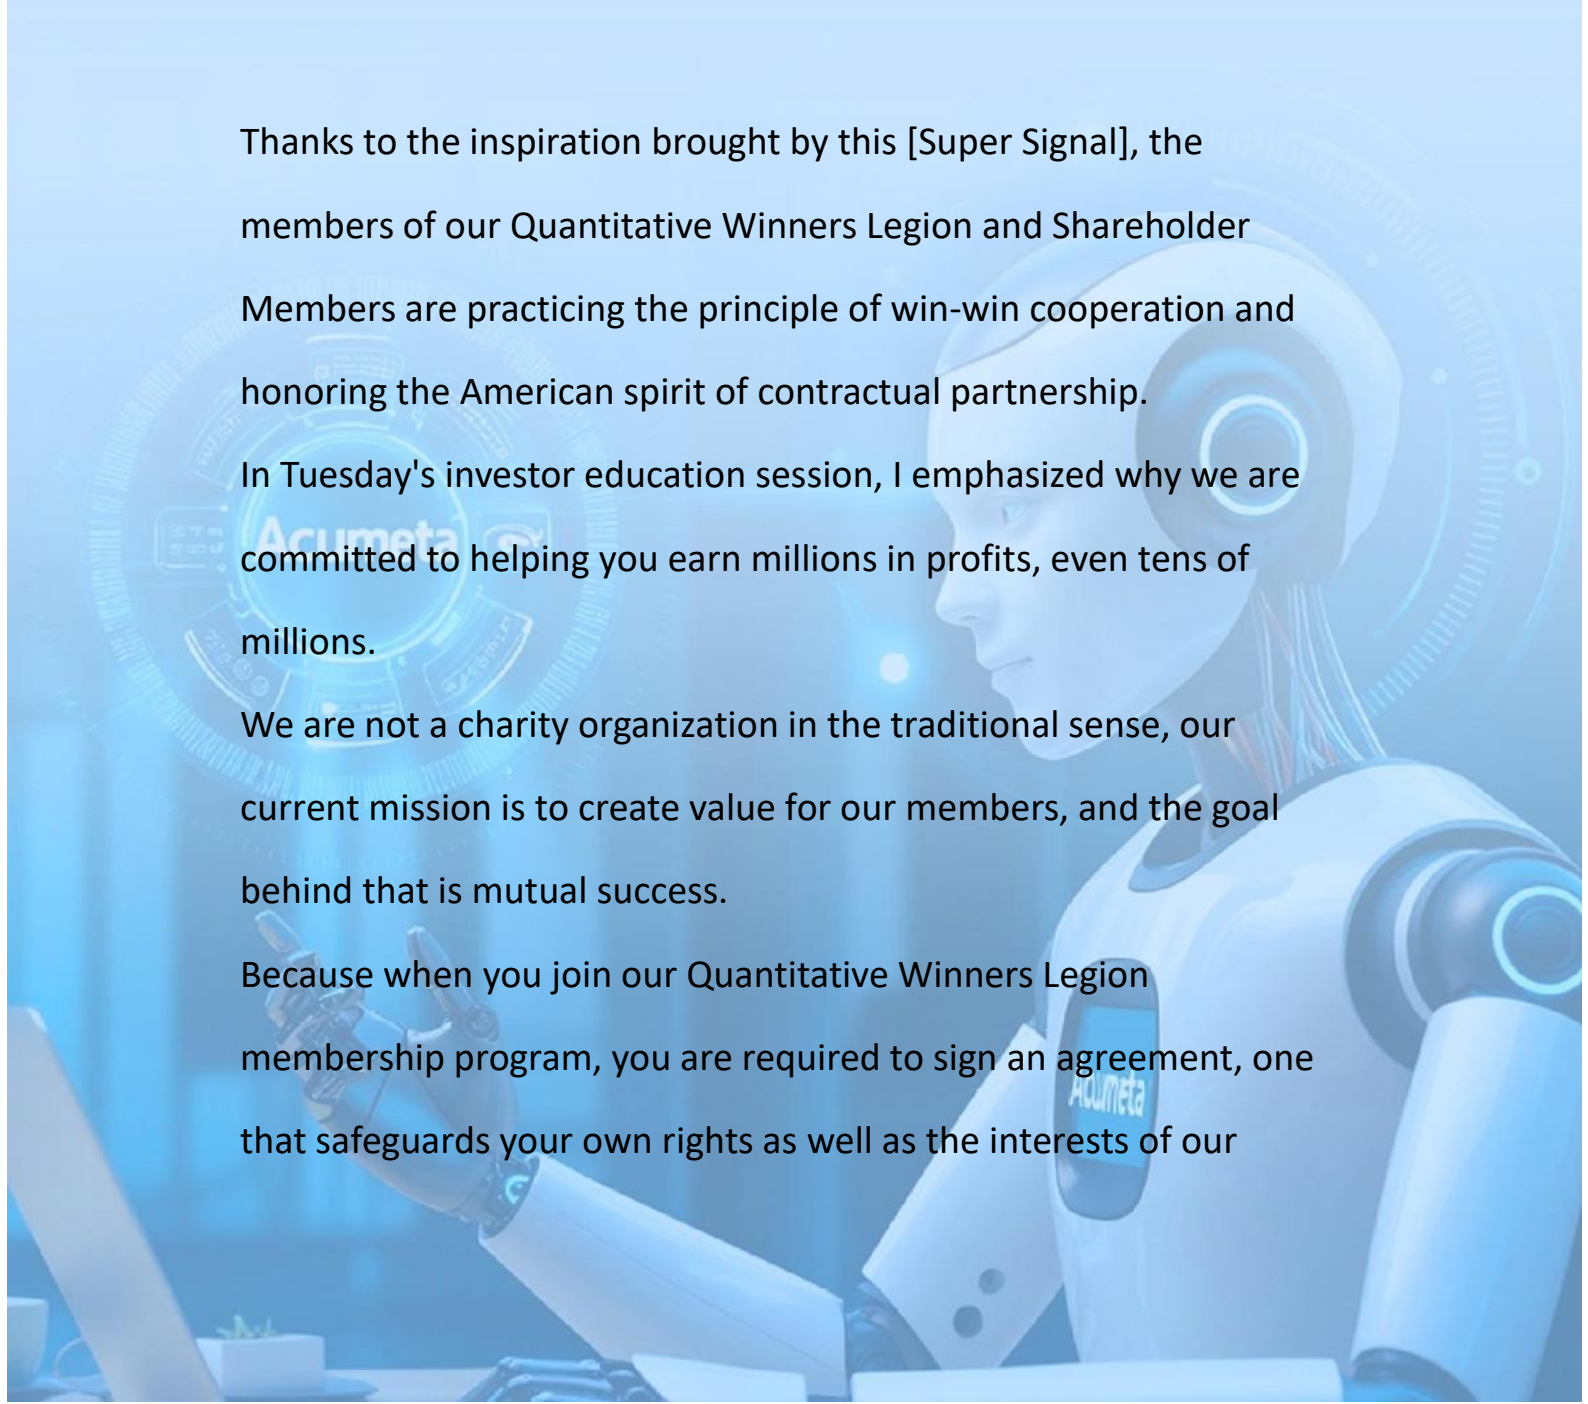

Not to mention, once you successfully upgrade, you'll gain access to the [Super Signal, offering profit potential between 300% and 500%] Pals, take a moment to reflect, how far have your earnings grown so far?

Thanks to the inspiration brought by this [Super Signal], the members of our Quantitative Winners Legion and Shareholder Members are practicing the principle of win-win cooperation and honoring the American spirit of contractual partnership.

In Tuesday's investor education session, I emphasized why we are committed to helping you earn millions in profits, even tens of millions.

We are not a charity organization in the traditional sense, our current mission is to create value for our members, and the goal behind that is mutual success.

Because when you join our Quantitative Winners Legion membership program, you are required to sign an agreement, one that safeguards your own rights as well as the interests of our

FinLogic

Quantitative Think Tank Center.

Through this structure, we aim to help you achieve your profit targets in trading, while you, in turn, agree to share a portion of your profits —fueling the continued growth of our Quantitative Think Tank enterprise.

This is one of the key ways we ensure sustainable development.

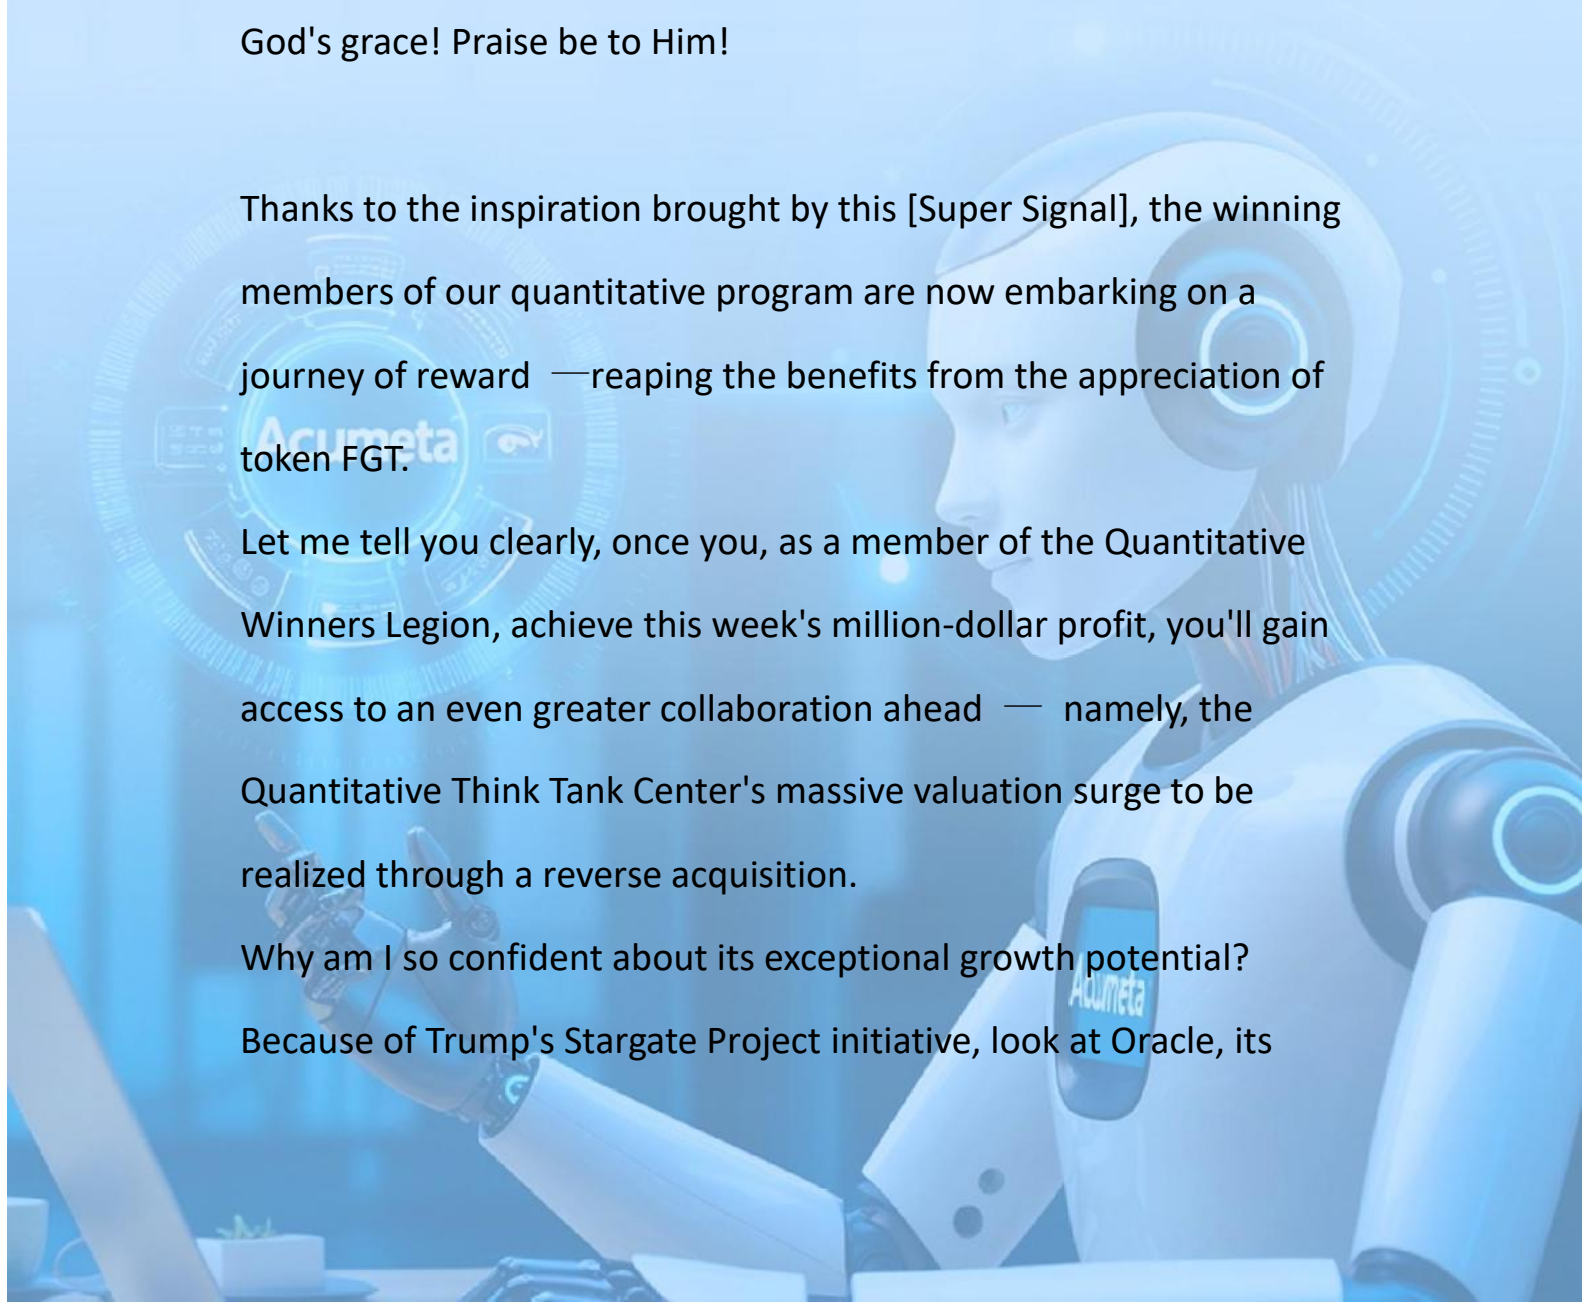

And the reason we do this is simple, we are committed to upholding America's spirit of contractual integrity. Guided by that very principle, we now embrace this week's super profit —truly, this is God's grace! Praise be to Him!

Thanks to the inspiration brought by this [Super Signal], the winning members of our quantitative program are now embarking on a journey of reward —reaping the benefits from the appreciation of token FGT.

Let me tell you clearly, once you, as a member of the Quantitative Winners Legion, achieve this week's million-dollar profit, you'll gain access to an even greater collaboration ahead — namely, the Quantitative Think Tank Center's massive valuation surge to be realized through a reverse acquisition.

Why am I so confident about its exceptional growth potential?

Because of Trump's Stargate Project initiative, look at Oracle, its valuation skyrocketed, multiplying its founder's wealth several times over.

Under the Trump administration, policies supporting blockchain + AI technologies will receive renewed endorsement and developmental momentum. From policy to capital, from financing to operations, everything points to a smooth new era of expansion.

That's why Acumeta is poised to rise like a new star over North America. Every member of the Winners Legion is becoming its ambassador, and your profits and your success are the proof. You will cast your valuable vote of endorsement for Acumeta through your results.

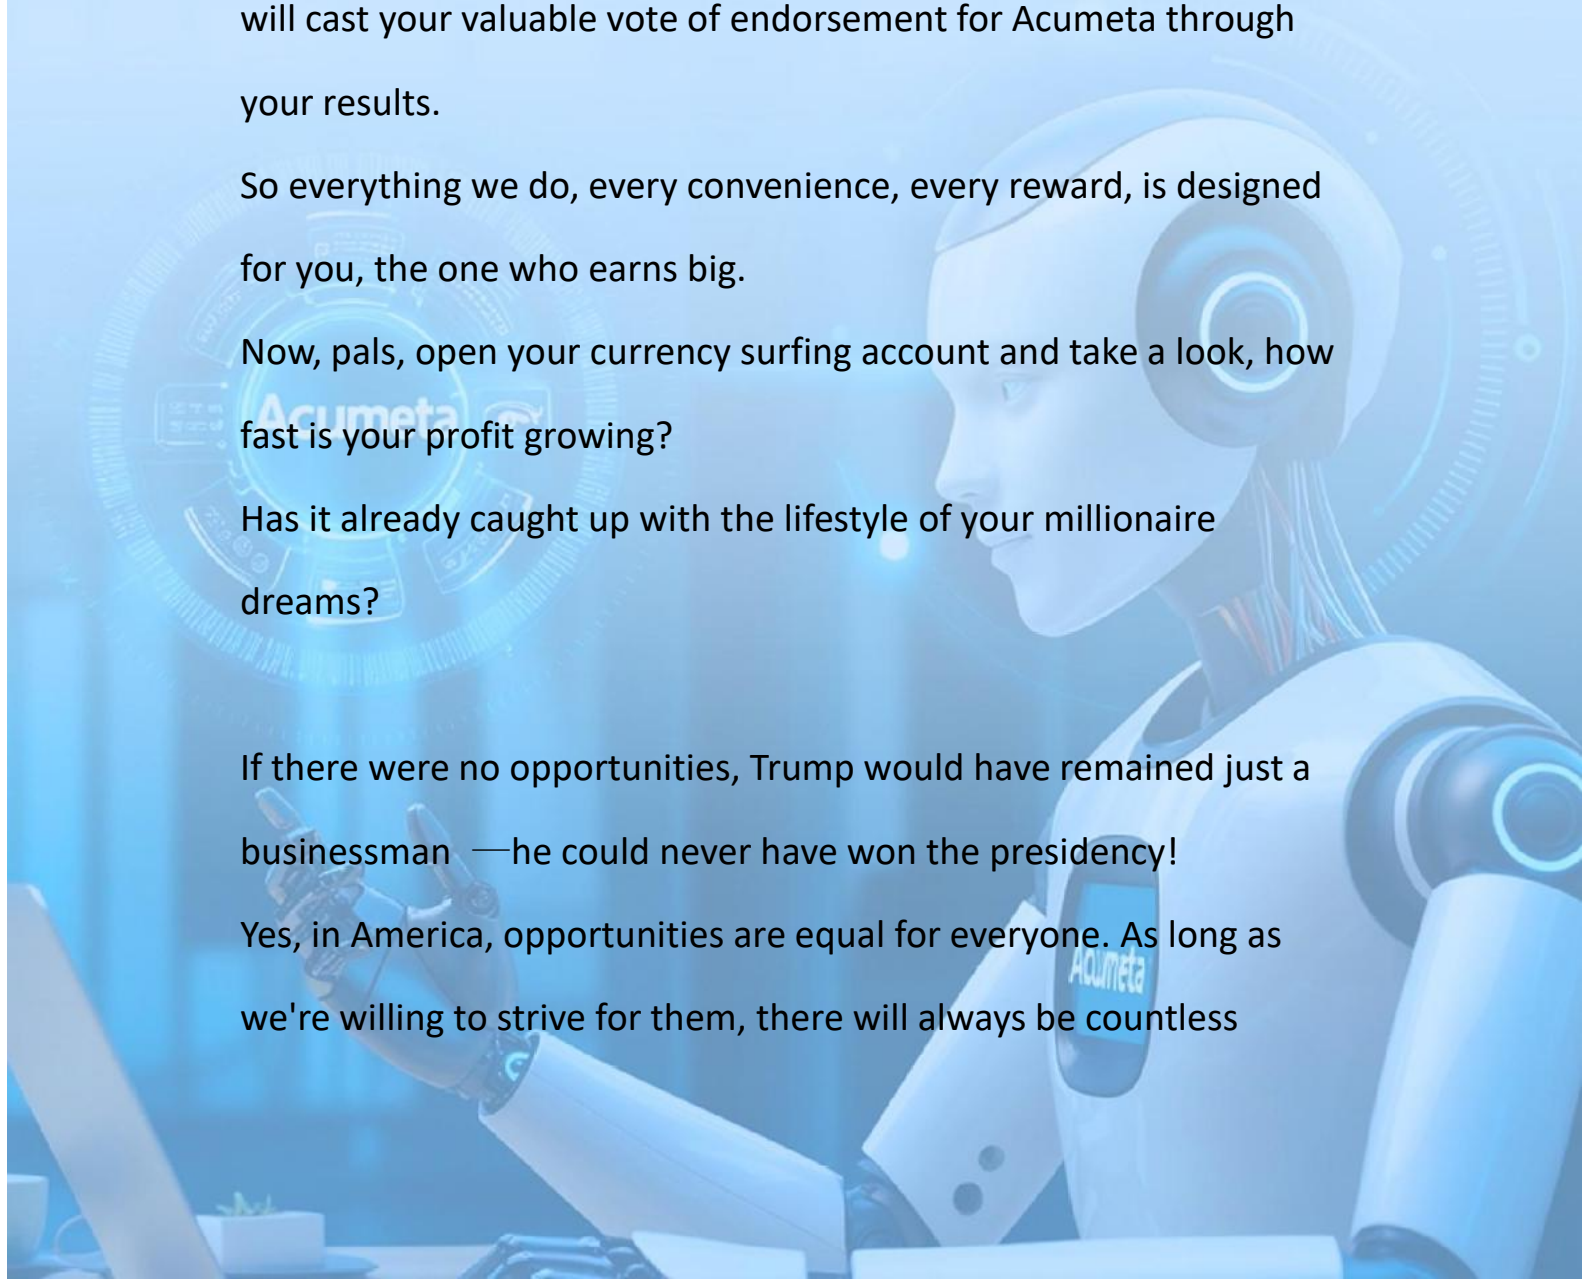

So everything we do, every convenience, every reward, is designed for you, the one who earns big.

Now, pals, open your currency surfing account and take a look, how fast is your profit growing?

Has it already caught up with the lifestyle of your millionaire dreams?

If there were no opportunities, Trump would have remained just a businessman —he could never have won the presidency!

Yes, in America, opportunities are equal for everyone. As long as we're willing to strive for them, there will always be countless moments in life worth fighting for.

And now, in this ever-shifting currency market, you are standing atop a perfect profit wave, seize your million-dollar opportunity!

As the late-October rate cut day approaches, it's not just about lower interest rates, it's the perfect moment for currency surfing!

That's why every future member of the Quantitative Winners Legion has the chance to experience an unprecedented profit surge within the next 48 h.

All you need to do is act decisively at this turning point in your destiny, don't let a single golden profit window slip away!

Join today, and you'll be walking hand in hand with opportunity.

Future Winners Legion and shareholder-level members will have the chance to witness multi-million-level profit growth during this extremely rare market surge.

Don't miss this 48 h profit peak, missing it means giving up your own path to financial freedom!

See you this afternoon!

Dear Prophets of the Quantitative Winners Legion:

On Thursday afternoon, the stock market once again plunged sharply! Yet for us, this only reaffirms the wisdom of our earlier conviction —when I led you to sell off stocks and lock in profits was

We are practitioners of "systematic forecasting"! When we saw the gathering clouds on the macro horizon, we did not hesitate to clear out those "bloated" positions!

We pocketed our gains, while the greedy ordinary investors could only watch as their net worth cascaded downward like an avalanche.

That, is the power of execution!

To make the decision to "sell" when the market was still cheering takes extraordinary courage and conviction! The renewed market downturn is not a "warning" to us, it is a "coronation"

It proves that our Acumeta quantitative system has seen through the "fragile essence" beneath the surface prosperity of the U.S. stock market!

Liquidating positions isn't running away, it's steering your ship into the safest harbor before the storm arrives!

FinLogic

And that "harbor" right now is cash and safe-haven assets.

Our decision to "sell" was, in fact, securing our "life buoy" while the seas still looked calm.

Thursday's plunge proved just how invaluable that "life buoy" truly is!

We are not passively rescuing the market, we are strategically positioning ahead of it.

That is the spirit of the Quantitative Winners Legion —not to follow blindly, but to position ahead of time, using foresight to triumph over emotion.

As the federal government once again faces the threat of a "shutdown storm", investor risk aversion is rapidly rising.

What does that mean?

It means capital is flowing back into safe assets. And U.S. Treasuries have become the new safe haven.

A massive inflow of funds into Treasuries is driving bond prices higher and yields lower.

At the same time, the U.S. dollar index, fueled by safe-haven demand, has rebounded sharply, returning to the 100 lvl.

Many are asking —why does buying U.S. Treasuries push the dollar higher?

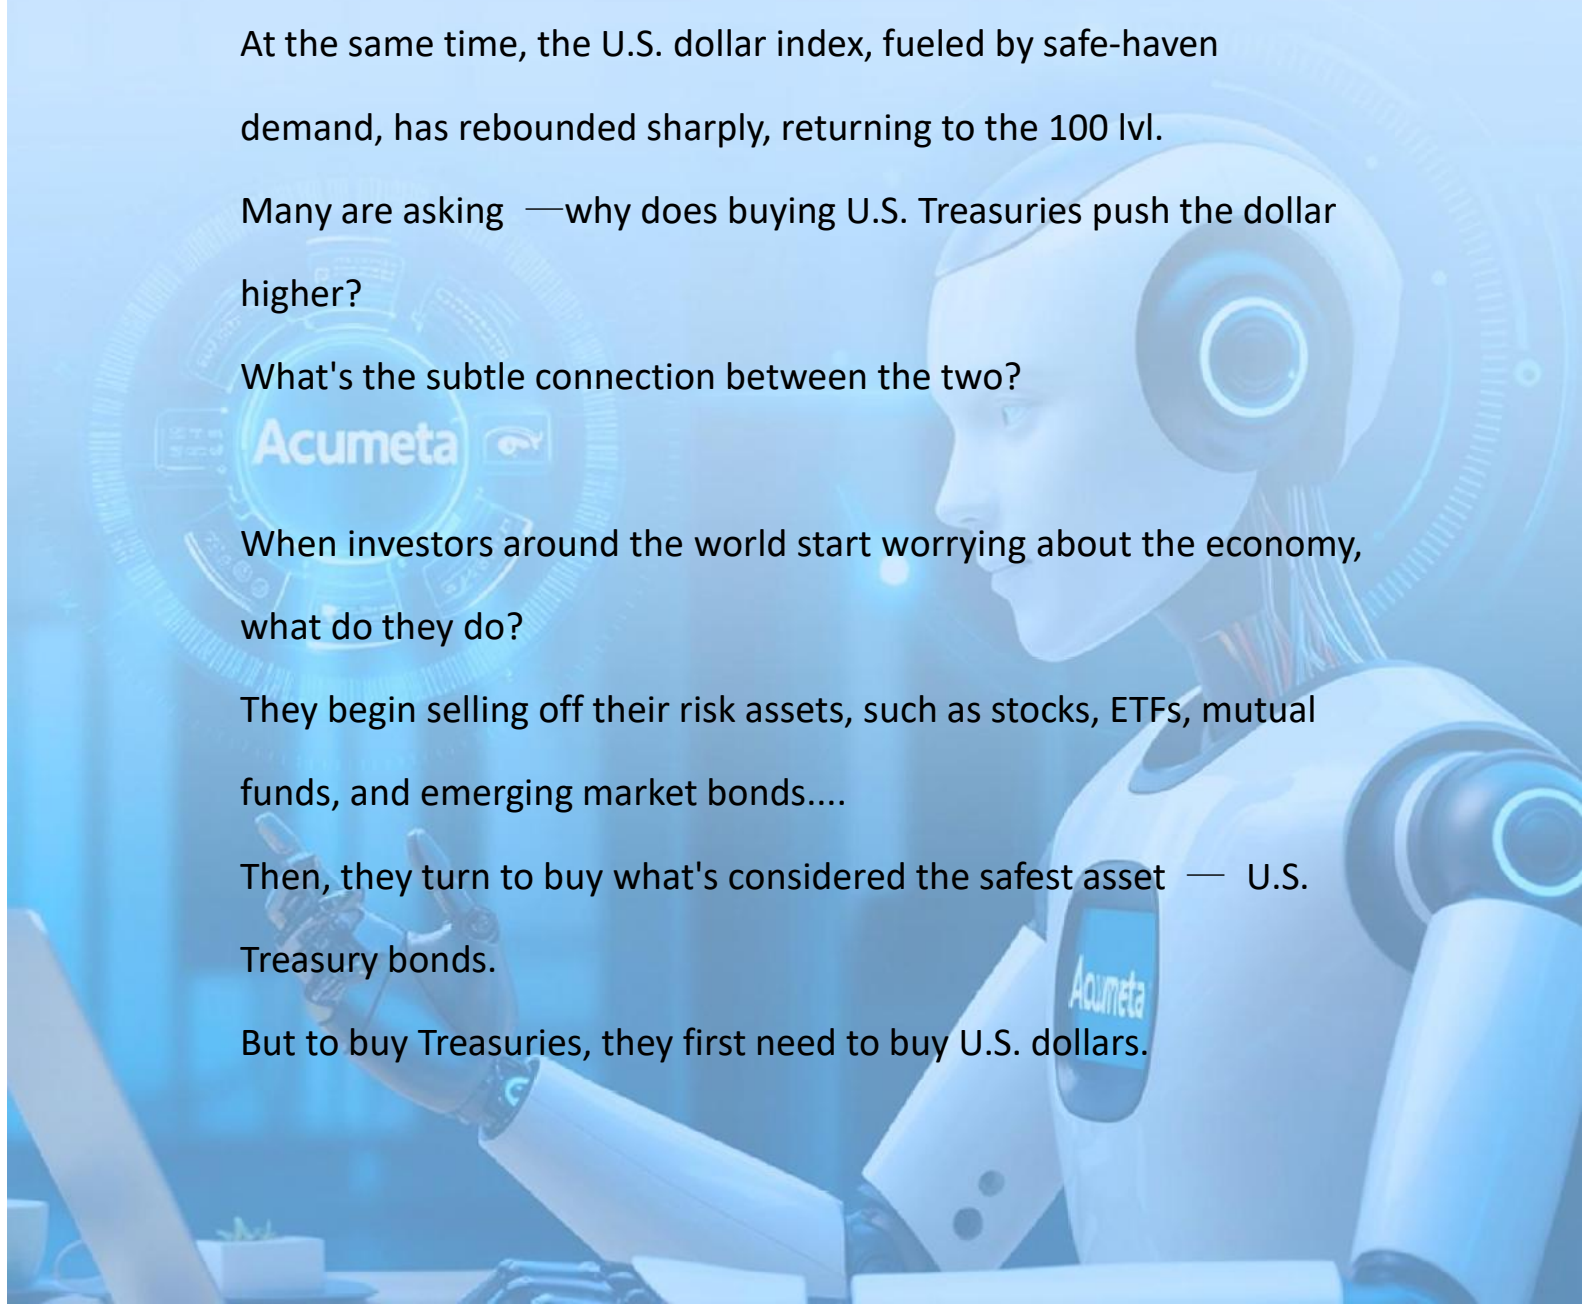

What's the subtle connection between the two?

When investors around the world start worrying about the economy, what do they do?

They begin selling off their risk assets, such as stocks, ETFs, mutual funds, and emerging market bonds....

Then, they turn to buy what's considered the safest asset — U.S. Treasury bonds.

But to buy Treasuries, they first need to buy U.S. dollars.

As a result, investors across the globe exchange their local currencies for dollars, creating real demand for the greenback. When demand rises, the dollar naturally appreciates, and the U.S. Dollar Index rebounds accordingly. And when the dollar strengthens, all dollar-denominated risk assets, like BTC, ETH, and gold, come under short-term pressure. This explains why both the crypto market and gold have recently faced resistance in their short-term rebounds.

Let's look at it from another angle.

U.S. Treasuries are the ballast of the global investment system; the U.S. dollar is the center of global capital flows; and crypto are the symbol of future financial freedom. When the dollar strengthens —you must know how to diversify your positions, preserve your profits, and wait for the next wave of liquidity release.

When the dollar weakens, you must have the courage to expand and increase your positions and ride with the trend;

When risk aversion fades— you should be ready to return early to growth assets and welcome the return of profits.

That is the rhythm of the market, and the logic of the winners.

At the same time, the only short-term trades that can balance the dollar's rebound and Treasuries' popularity are in stablecoins within the crypto market.

Holding stablecoins right now represents the best balancing force, because stablecoins = U.S. Treasuries.

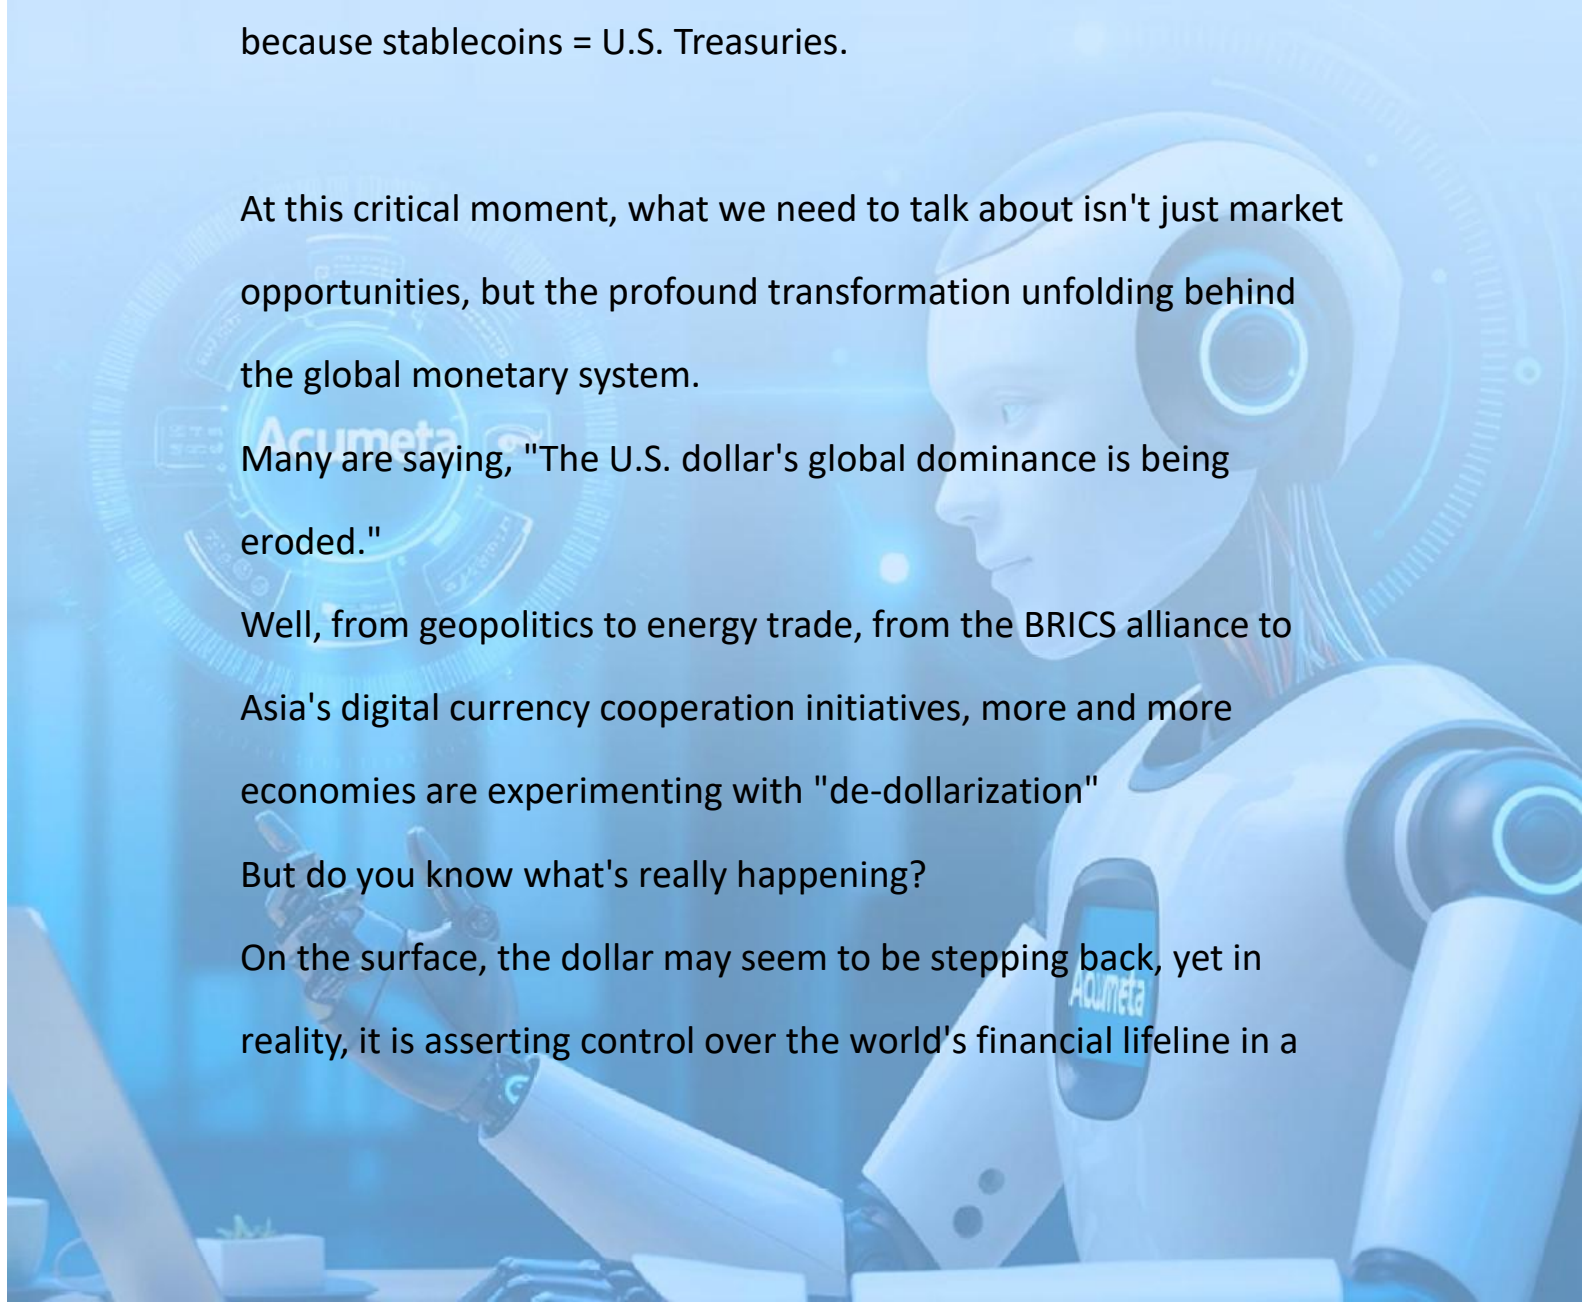

At this critical moment, what we need to talk about isn't just market opportunities, but the profound transformation unfolding behind the global monetary system.

Many are saying, "The U.S. dollar's global dominance is being eroded."

Well, from geopolitics to energy trade, from the BRICS alliance to Asia's digital currency cooperation initiatives, more and more economies are experimenting with "de-dollarization"

But do you know what's really happening?

On the surface, the dollar may seem to be stepping back, yet in reality, it is asserting control over the world's financial lifeline in a smarter, more discreet, and far more resilient way — through crypto stablecoins, especially USDC.

In the past, the dollar's power came from its control over the global settlement system; today, its power lies in its ability to "digitally colonize" the world.

Every USDC token and every stablecoin transaction we see in the blockchain world is, in fact, backed by U.S. Treasury bonds. You may think you're holding a digital currency, but in reality, you're holding a new form of U.S. debt.

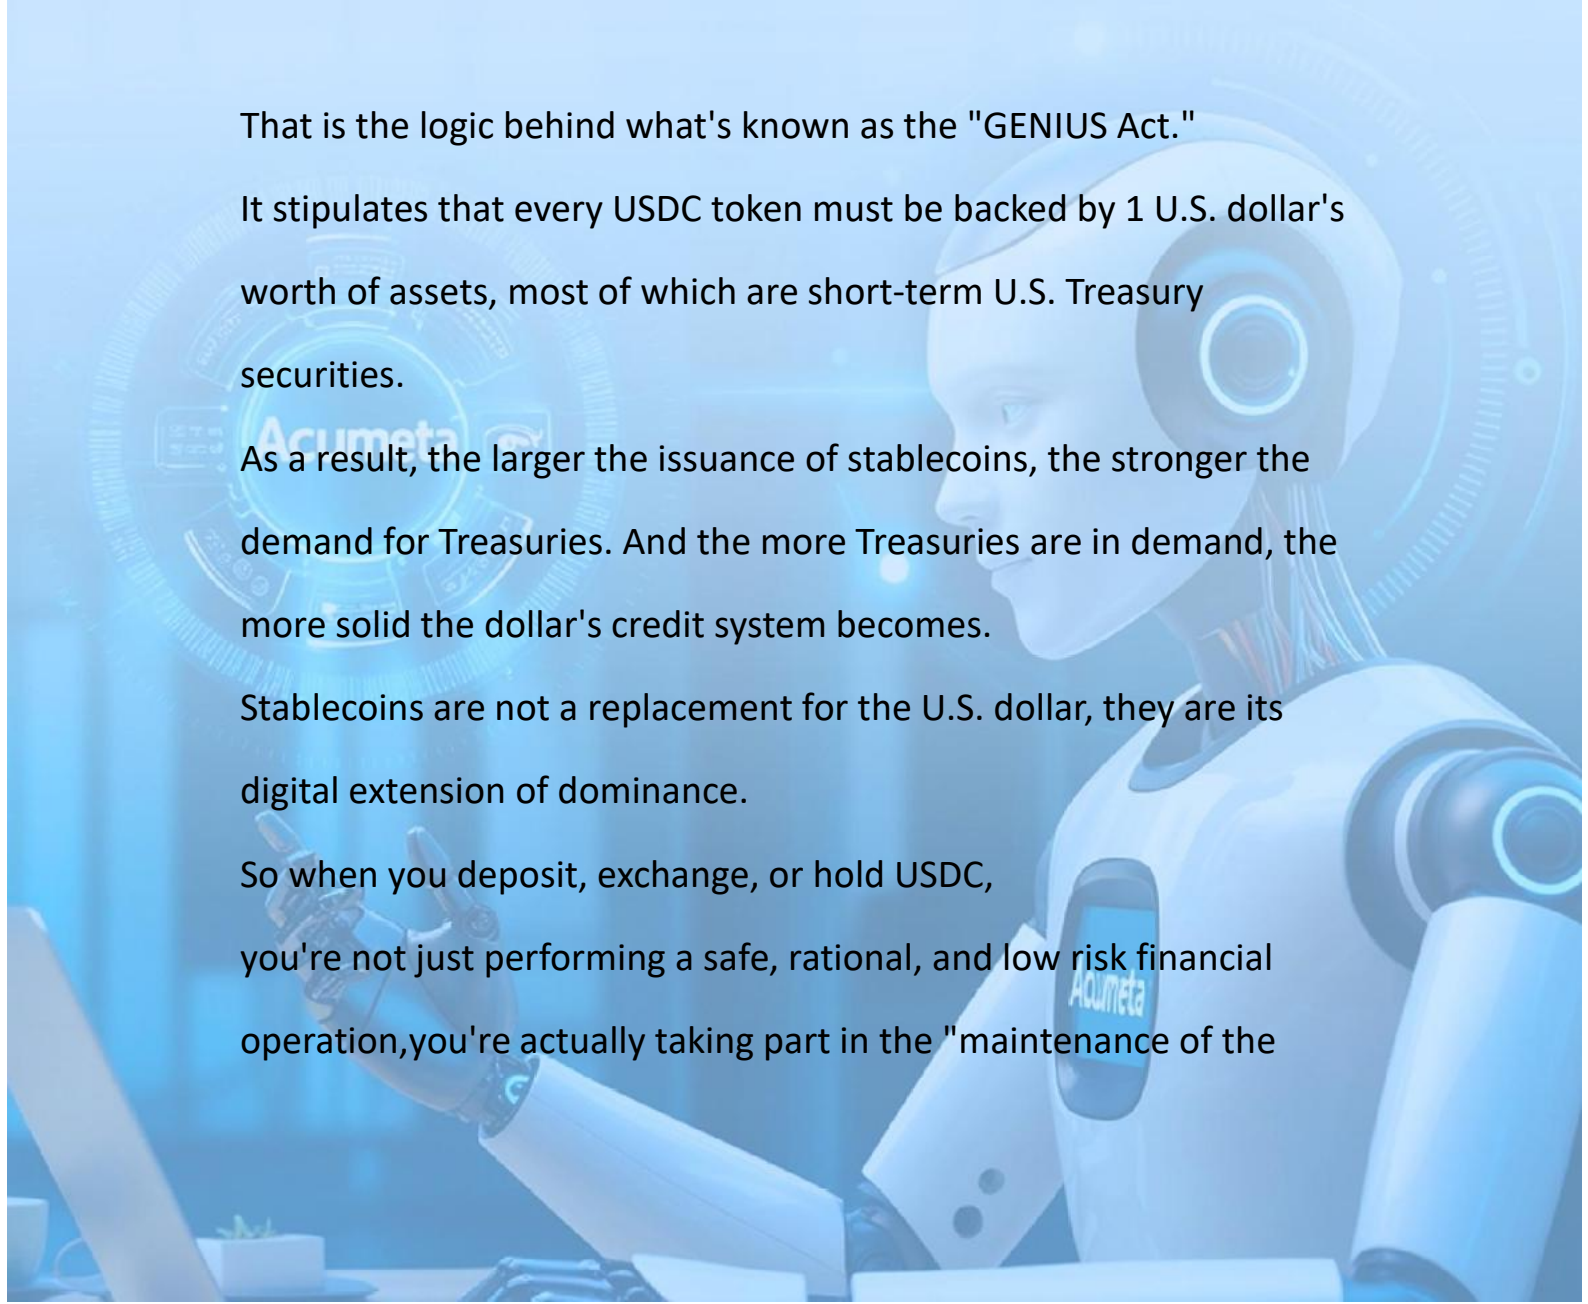

That is the logic behind what's known as the "GENIUS Act."

It stipulates that every USDC token must be backed by 1 U.S. dollar's worth of assets, most of which are short-term U.S. Treasury securities.

As a result, the larger the issuance of stablecoins, the stronger the demand for Treasuries. And the more Treasuries are in demand, the more solid the dollar's credit system becomes.

Stablecoins are not a replacement for the U.S. dollar, they are its digital extension of dominance.

So when you deposit, exchange, or hold USDC, you're not just performing a safe, rational, and low risk financial operation, you're actually taking part in the "maintenance of the digital U.S. dollar empire"

Because the true core of money isn't the printing press, it's the mechanism of trust.

And today, that global trust in the dollar is being redefined by this new "crypto version" of the dollar — the stablecoin.

In the past, the power of the U.S. dollar resided in Washington and the Federal Reserve.

Today, it lives within countless blockchain wallets, flowing through every cross-border settlement and every on-chain transaction.

It has broken free from the traditional banking system, transforming into a programmable, borderless, and and disintermediated system of financial trust.

This is the dollar's true "smart evolution." It hasn't exited the stage, it has merely changed into a "digital disguise" and continues to circulate across the world.

Have you noticed?

Over the past 2 years, whether in Dubai, Singapore, Hong Kong, or Los Angeles, when corporations, funds, or investors need to settle quickly, they no longer rely on bank wire transfers, they use USDC directly.

What this shift represents is not just an upgrade in efficiency, but a transfer of power.

The dominance of the U.S. dollar has migrated from the traditional banking system to the blockchain world.

This is the "digital dollar restoration plan"

If you truly understand this layer of logic, you'll realize that exchanging for stablecoins isn't just an act of asset allocation, it's a strategic move for financial defense.

When you exchange for USDC, you're not "playing with crypto." You're joining the safest, most liquid, and most resilient anchor asset in the global financial system.

Whether they are local North American P2P verified merchants or international trusted merchants, all of them are strictly managed and certified by ETHERMAC crypto exchange in accordance with MSB regulatory rules. Every merchant must deposit a security margin with the exchange to ensure that whenever a user conducts a USDC exchange with a P2P verified merchant, the process is safe, convenient, and guaranteed to settle.

If a P2P verified merchant encounters any credibility issue, the exchange will directly release the equivalent value in USDC from the merchant's security deposit as compensation, crediting it into the user's currency-surfing account. This is the trust mechanism built on regulation.

You can therefore participate in exchanges with P2P verified merchants with full confidence.

The moment you convert your traditional U.S. dollar savings into USDC stablecoins, you're not merely switching financial products — you're making a statement of your era.

It's a shift in direction and perspective.

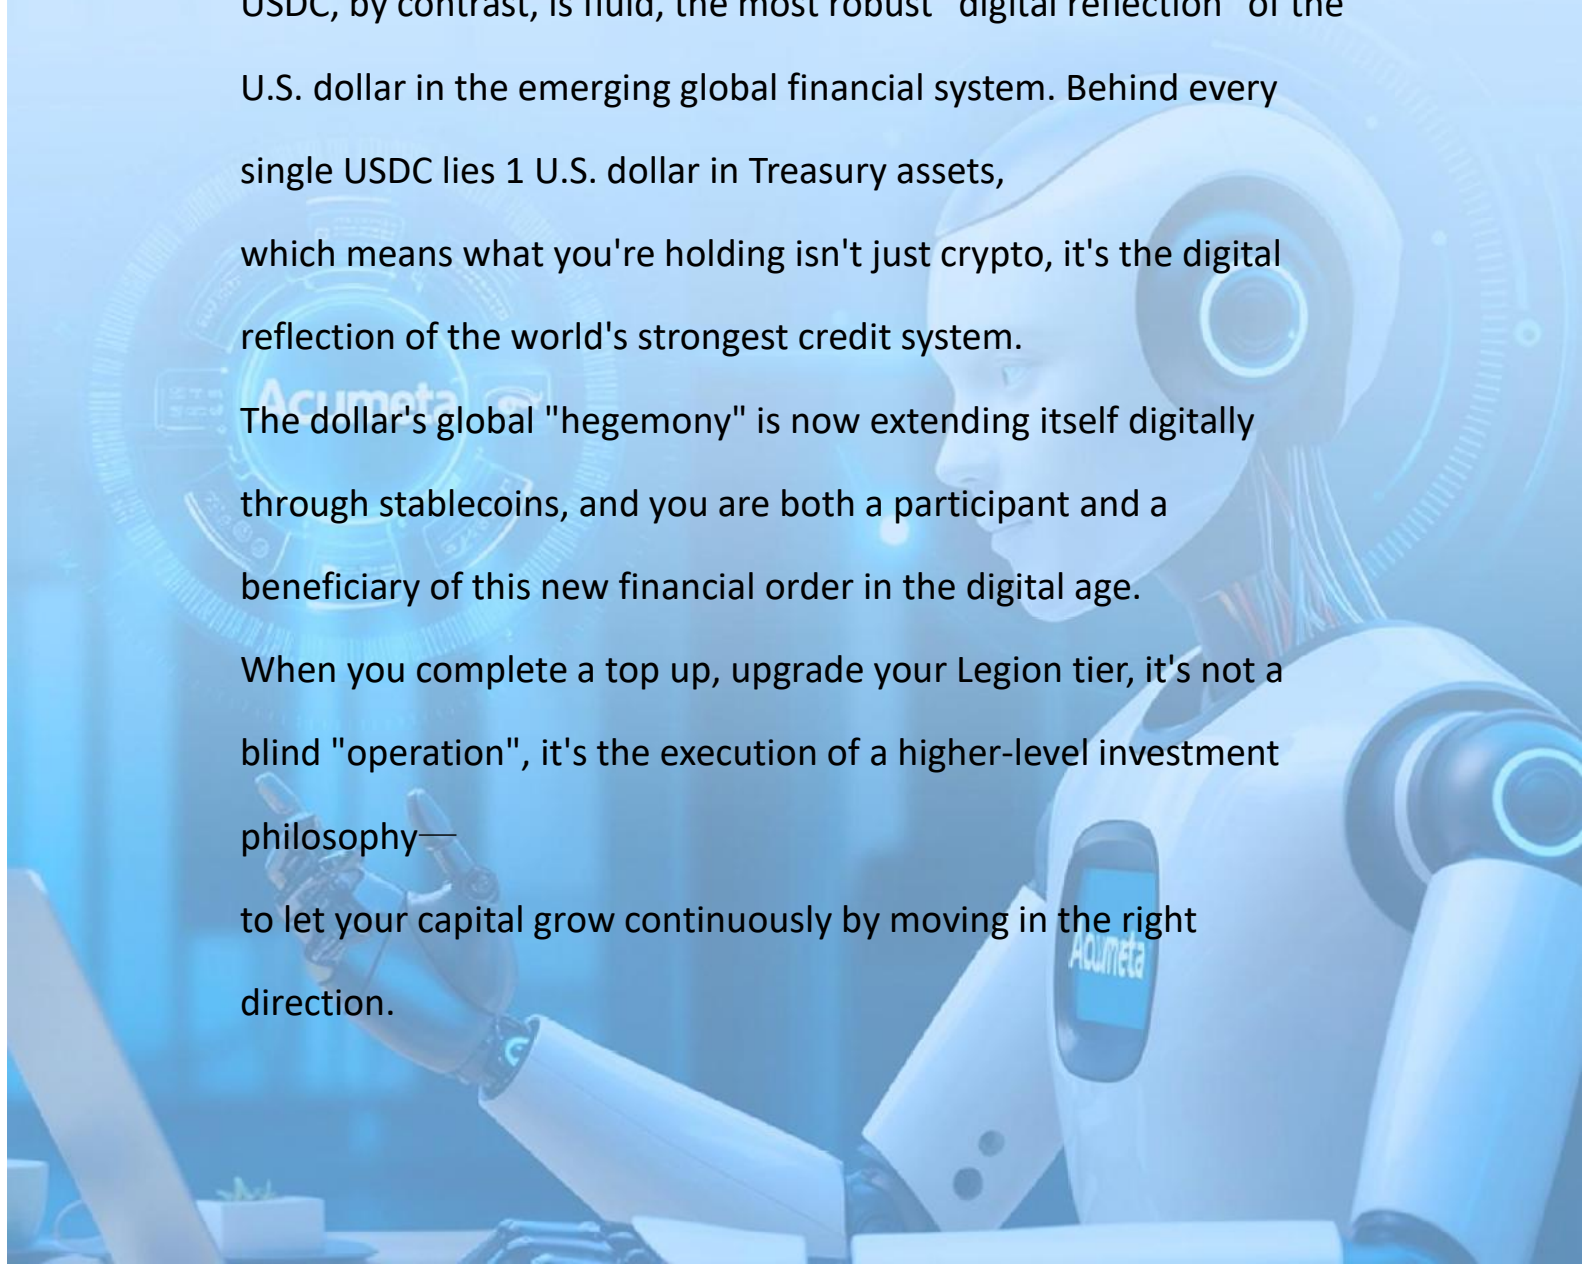

Traditional dollars are static, just cold numbers on a bank ledger.

USDC, by contrast, is fluid, the most robust "digital reflection" of the U.S. dollar in the emerging global financial system. Behind every single USDC lies 1 U.S. dollar in Treasury assets, which means what you're holding isn't just crypto, it's the digital reflection of the world's strongest credit system.

The dollar's global "hegemony" is now extending itself digitally through stablecoins, and you are both a participant and a beneficiary of this new financial order in the digital age.

When you complete a top up, upgrade your Legion tier, it's not a blind "operation", it's the execution of a higher-level investment philosophy—to let your capital grow continuously by moving in the right direction.

Many people keep asking, "Should we wait for the market to recover before entering?"

But true winners understand — capital isn't meant to wait for opportunities, it's meant to create them.

When you convert your funds into USDC, you're essentially placing yourself into a pool with the highest global liquidity and the lowest volatility risk.

It allows you to enter or exit the market at any time, switching seamlessly between the stability of spot trading and the explosive potential of contracts.

That is the true wisdom of a quantitative winner —it's not about predicting rises or falls, it's about ensuring your capital always “holds the initiative”

A brief decline in crypto contract prices is a golden moment for the wise to construct their profit structure.

By shorting through currency surfing to lock in profits, you turn fear into the reason others lose, and the momentum that drives your own gains.

For example, ETH's price has dropped from $4750 to $4350 over the past 3 days —a $400 swing.

So how much profit could you capture in that brief bearish trend?

With 100x leverage, you'd need less than $50 to open an order for 1 ETH, and that could earn you $400 in profit; that's the simplest profit formula in currency surfing.

Now, if your diversified position plan allocates 5% of your capital, then with $500k, you'd be trading $25k, equivalent to 500 ETH in total, and your profit would then be $$400 \times 500 = $200k$ USDC.

You heard that right, this is how market volatility gives you an edge.

And with an advantageous position strategy, the returns become even more pronounced!

Now imagine if your capital were $1 million, $2 million, or $5 million, wouldn't your 5% position plan yield even greater results?

Do you see now how safe and powerful capital growth can be achieved through the right structure??

I know each of you is chasing a goal —not just profit, but that deeper sense of control over your destiny and the respect that comes with winning.

Upgrading your tier isn't just a numerical step up, it's a symbol of a "winner's resolve"

And today, your "simple decision" is about waking up idle capital from its dormant account, allowing it to enter a sustainable quantitative system, and become part of this global revolution in capital flow.

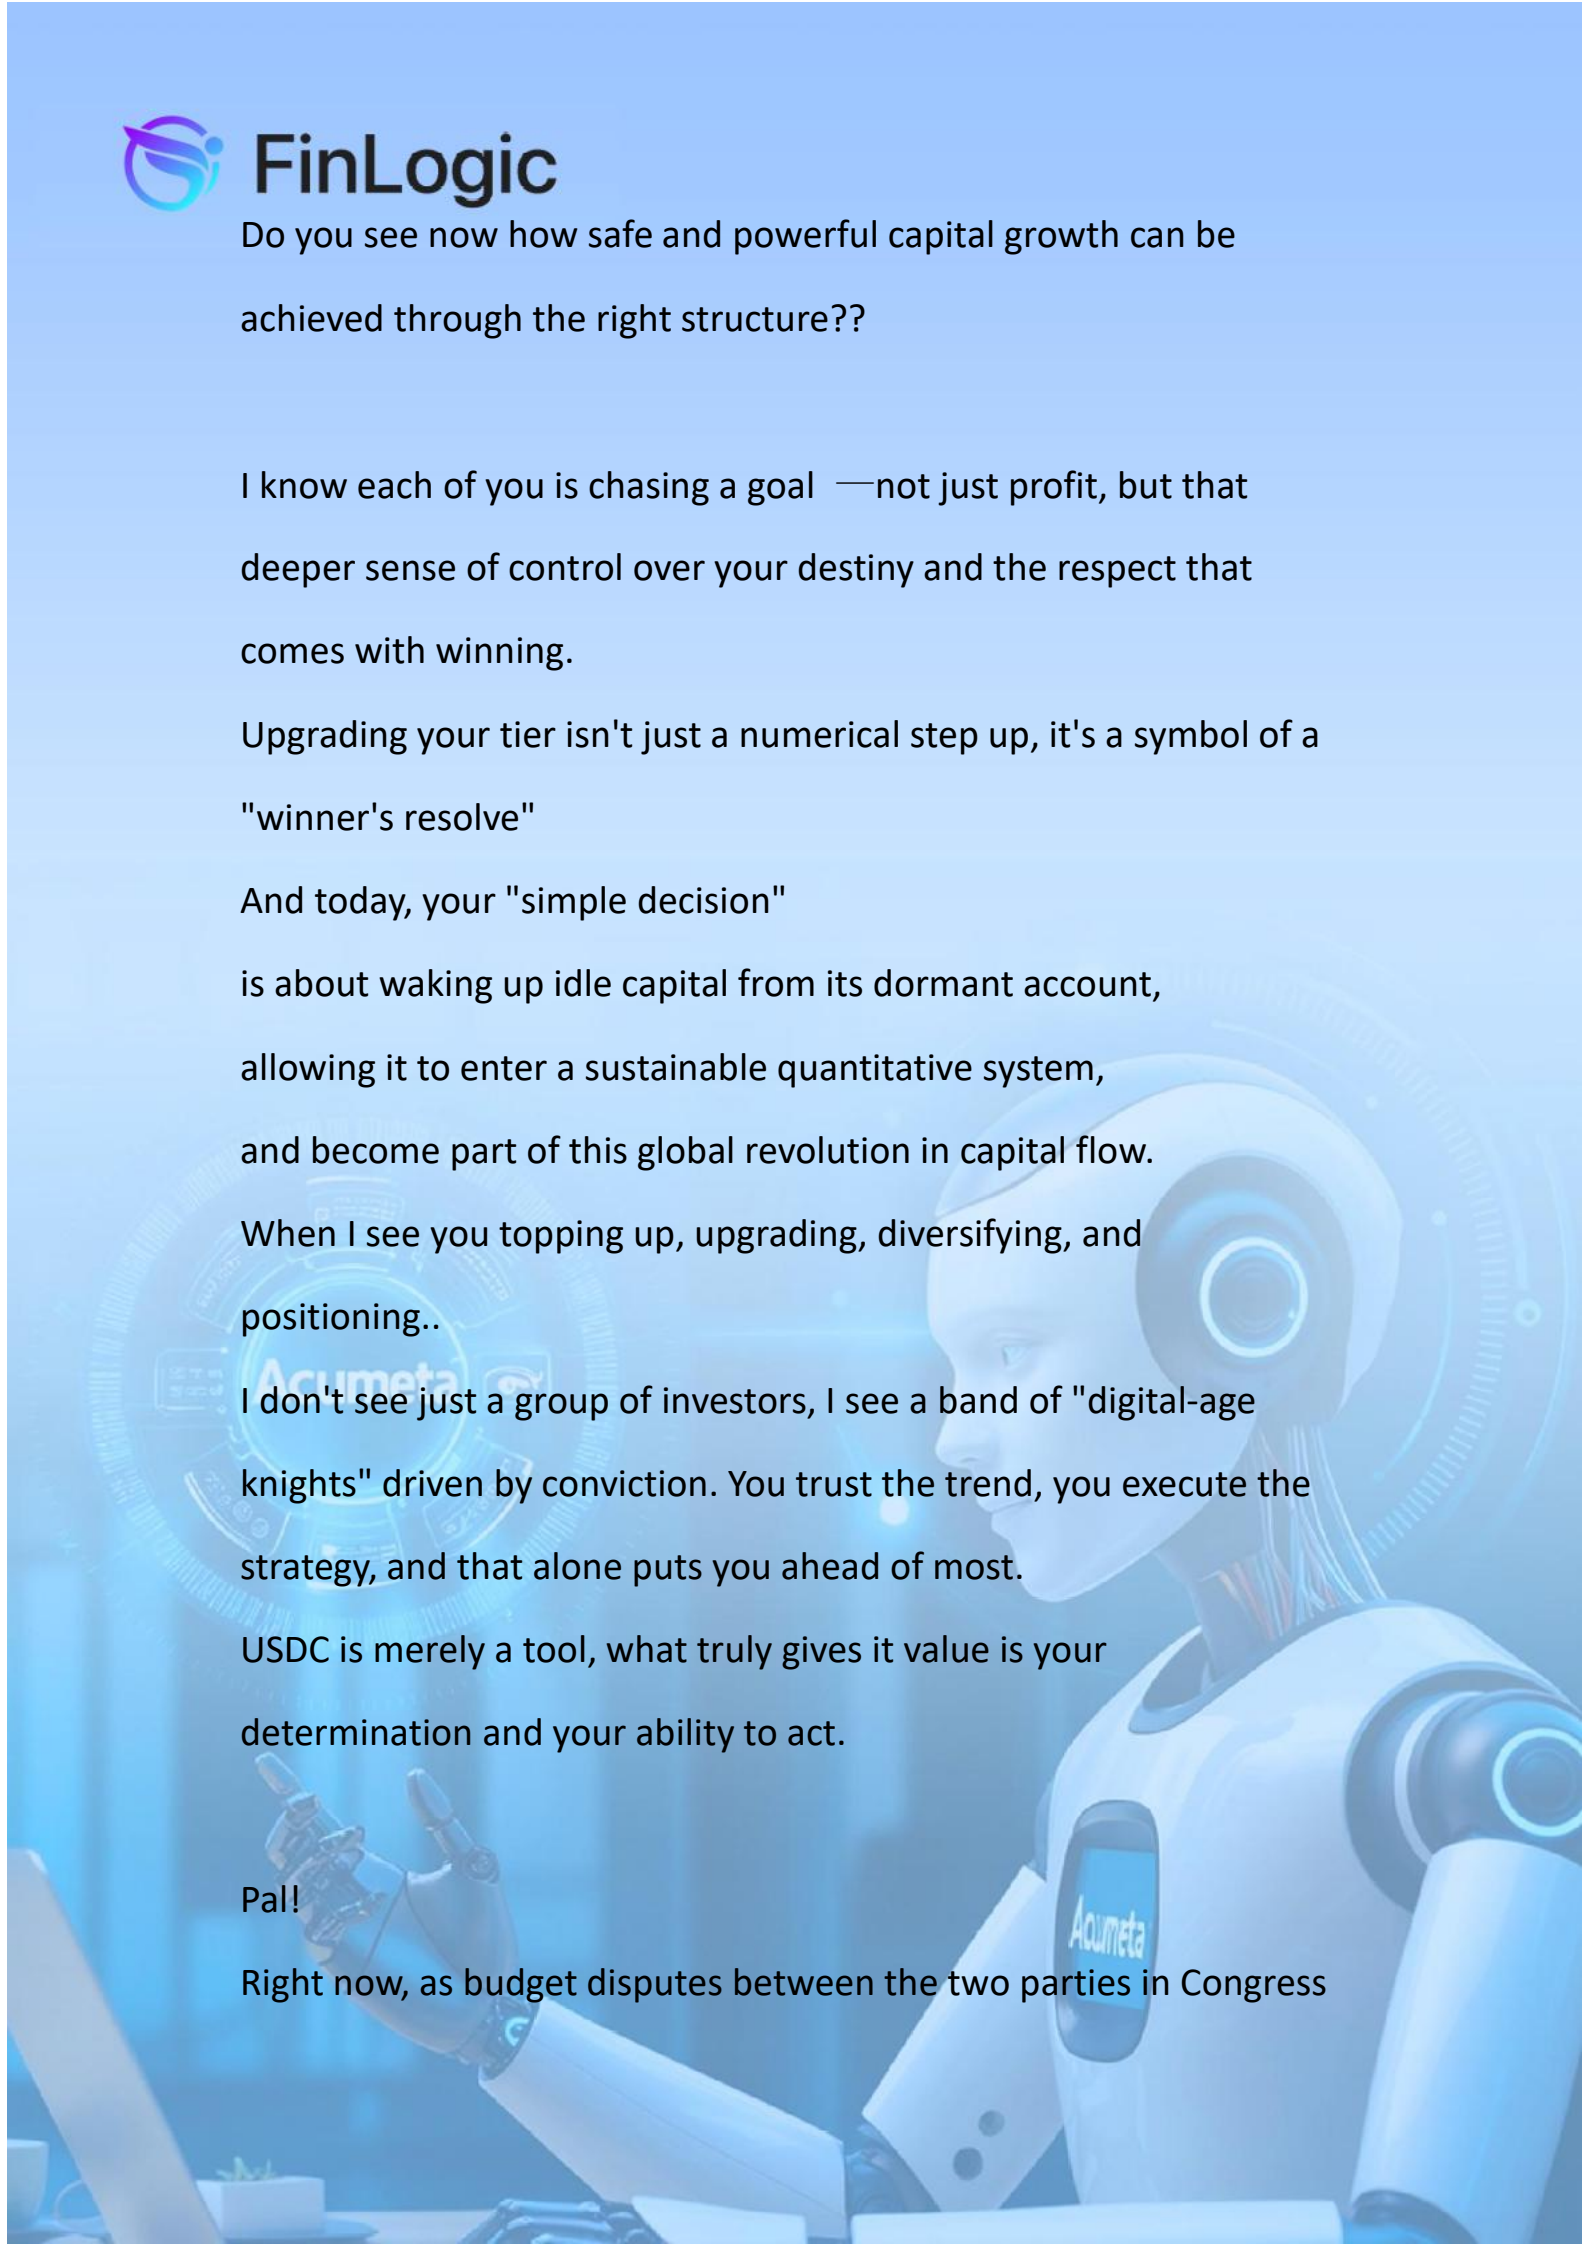

When I see you topping up, upgrading, diversifying, and positioning..

I don't see just a group of investors, I see a band of "digital-age knights" driven by conviction. You trust the trend, you execute the strategy, and that alone puts you ahead of most.

USDC is merely a tool, what truly gives it value is your determination and your ability to act.

Pal!

Right now, as budget disputes between the two parties in Congress grow sharper and no agreement can be reached, the shutdown of federal government services is having a massive impact!

History has proven time and again that such crises bring disastrous consequences to the stock market! And in the world of traditional finance, this is a "nuclear-level" risk!

Institutions are dumping assets at any cost, terrified of a potential "hard landing" for the U.S. economy.

But here's the thing, this kind of political risk doesn't scare us. On the contrary, it gives us the clearest signal possible!

Panic is prepared for the mediocre!

We, on the other hand, focus only on the "iron laws" that drive capital flow.

The only real risk for BTC lies in monetary policy tightening or easing! That's our "Bible"!

And in this environment, a rate cut by the Fed is not a possibility, it's an inevitability! This is the foundational insight behind Q4's Crypto Ode to Joy!

The inevitability of rate cuts has shifted from "possible" to "certain"!

BTC's only risk is being removed by the Fed itself.

That's why no matter what kind of volatility we see today, nothing can shake this trend!

FinLogic

Our Acumeta Quantitative System has been deployed precisely based on this "certainty"!

Looking back over the past two decades, the United States has faced 4 instances of partial government shutdowns —

2013, during the Obama administration's "debt ceiling crisis", the S&P 500 briefly dropped nearly 5%, but the Fed soon ramped up its easing measures;

2018, under President Trump: the longest shutdown in history lasted 35 days, and what happened next? The market plunged, prompting the Fed to pivot dovish and begin a new round of monetary easing;

And now, in 2025, we're witnessing the same pattern repeating itself:

political division, fiscal strain, and employment pressure.... all signaling that the countdown to rate cuts has already begun.

BTC is not the victim, it is the savior.

Born out of the 2008 financial crisis, it was created to resist inflation and systemic risk.

Every time the Fed cuts rates, the surging tide of liquidity is always first to flood into the crypto market.

As the autumn night falls, I hope you'll quickly reach out to my assistant to claim your [Currency Surfing Signal] corresponding to your tier within the Winners Legion. And if your signal balance is running low —upgrade it.

May your evening bring another small yet meaningful victory, one that adds to your growing triumphs!

Just as Musk gained political leverage by funding Trump's victory in last year's election;

just as Oracle's founder briefly became the world's richest man thanks to the computing power demands of the Stargate Project; and just as Sam Altman, the new-age titan of the AI era, is using revolutionary AI products to usher in a new chapter of human civilization—all of these are manifestations of the Matthew Effect.

FinLogic

The Matthew Effect originates from a verse in the «Gospel of Matthew»

"For whoever has will be given more, and they will have an abundance; whoever does not have, even what they have will be taken from them."

Simply put, it describes a phenomenon where the strong grow stronger and the weak grow weaker.

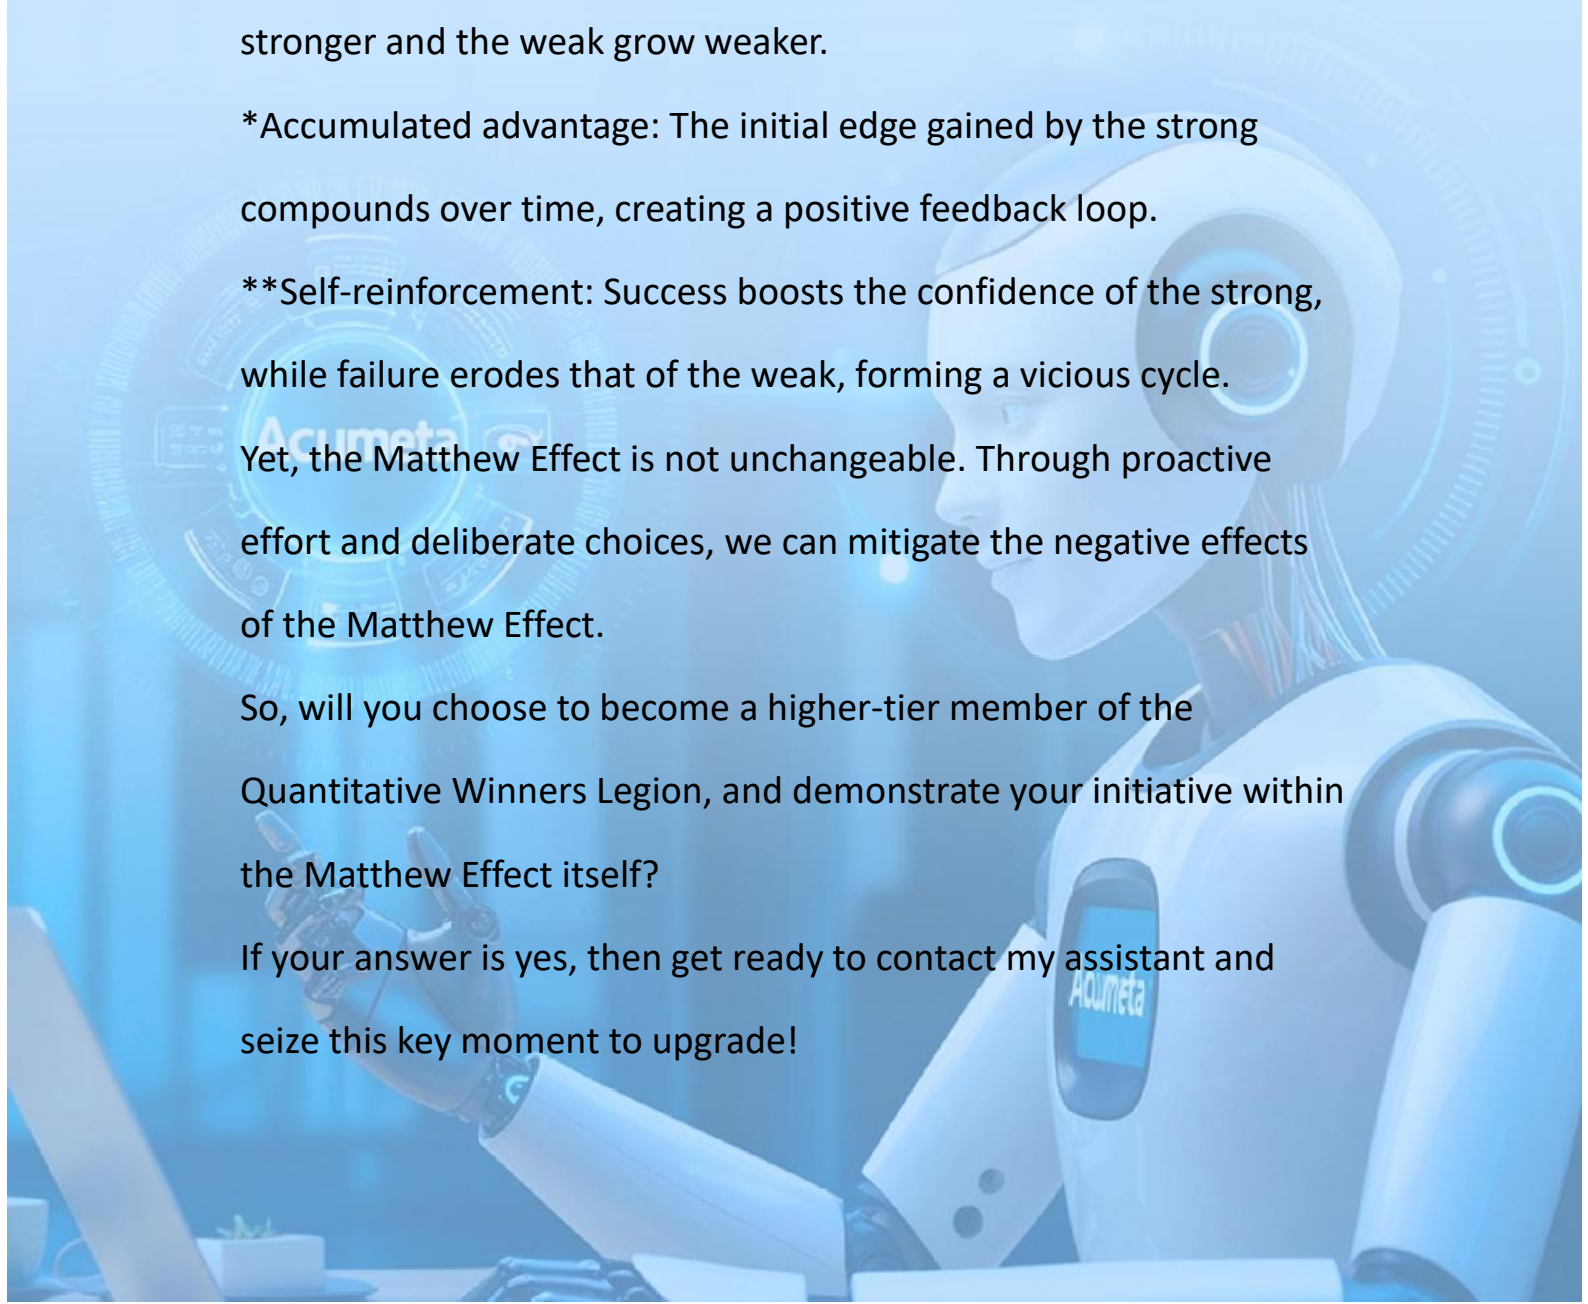

*Accumulated advantage: The initial edge gained by the strong compounds over time, creating a positive feedback loop.

Self-reinforcement: Success boosts the confidence of the strong, while failure erodes that of the weak, forming a vicious cycle.

Yet, the Matthew Effect is not unchangeable. Through proactive effort and deliberate choices, we can mitigate the negative effects of the Matthew Effect.

So, will you choose to become a higher-tier member of the Quantitative Winners Legion, and demonstrate your initiative within the Matthew Effect itself?

If your answer is yes, then get ready to contact my assistant and seize this key moment to upgrade!

With the bright momentum of Friday ahead, I'll see you on my next program. Good luck, pal!
